22. CONSERVATION OF RUBBER: SYNTHETIC TYRES.

Synthetic tyres are far more susceptible to failure through abuse than tyres constructed from natural rubber, Therefore the utmost care will be excercised to avoid the following:-

Overloading.
Underinflation.(For tyre pressures see Mechanisation Instruction 324.)
Hard braking and fierce acceleration.
High speeds.
Bumps, stones, stumps, etc., and other causes of severe impact.

Drivers will:-

Check tyres for incorrect wheel alignment (scuffing on outer or inner edge of tread.)
Rotate tyres regularly as per A.A.B. 20. B.
Remove stones and other sharpand hard objects from tyres and between duals during maintenance.)
Foreign objects will be removed from between duals by running the inner tyre on a wood block and loosening outer wheel holding nuts, NOT by forcing objects out with a lever, as this practice irreparably damages tyre sidewalls.

23 IDENTIFICATION OF SYNTHETIC TYRES.

Synthetic tyres are identified by markings on the sidewalls of each tyre.

The markings comprise :-

A roughly circular, coloured, vulcanised dot not less than one inch in diameter with a letter and a figure of not less than three quarters of an inch in height impressed in the coloured circle.
The colour may be RED with the letter "S" and a figure from 1 to 6 impressed in the circle.
The colour may be YELLOW with the letter "M" and either of the figures 3 or 5 impressed.
The colour may be LIGHT BLUE with the letter "I" and the figure 3 impressed.
Rayon xxx cord tyres may be identified by the letter "R" placed adjacent to the synthetic rubber marking.

All ranks will make themselves conversant with the above methods of identification of synthetic tyres.

AUSTRALIAN WAR MEMORIAL AWM2022.5.224

24. MECHANICAL VEHICLES. (Use of gears as brakes).

The practice of approaching at high speed and then changing down to a lower gear while still at a comparatively high speed in order to obtain the necessary decelleration when slowing down for any purpose e.g. stopping; entering geteways; negotiating corners, etc, is still prevalent.
This practice, which is forbidden, produces excessive engine speeds, causes unnecessary strain on the transmission system and is a contributing factor to rapid tyre wear.

25. CENSORSHIP.

Rank and unit must not be shown on the outside of parcels or letters. No, Name, and initials only, willbe shown.

26. CARRIAGE OF PERSONNEL IN VEHICLES.

Personnel travelling in Army Vehicles will at all times be seated wholely WITHIN THE BODY of the vehicle. Disciplinary action will be taken against offenders. Drivers will ensure that personnel carried are advised of this order and will not move the vehicle until personnel are seated.

MONTHLY AUDITS.

Audits of Platoon Canteen Account and of Regimental Trust Fund Account are attached as Appendicies "A" and "B" .
