NATIONAL ART TREASURE

THE SHELLAL MOSAIC, by A. D. TRENDALL (Australian War Memorial, Canberra).

For the benefit of its 7,000,000 owners, few of whom are aware of its existence, Professor A. D. Trendall tells the story of the finding and preservation of the Shellal mosaic, which is now open to public inspection at the Australian War Memorial at Canberra. This archæological art treasure was discovered by Australian soldiers while trench digging in the desert at Shellal during the second battle of Gaza in April, 1917.

The mosaic once formed the floor of a Christian church erected in 622. In its original state it covered a space of 28ft. 6in x 18ft. Unfortunately, the Moslem warrior who destroyed the church destroyed part of the magnificent design. Time and trench diggers also added their share to the destruction. What was left of it was carefully lifted and removed by Chaplain Maitland Woods, under the authority of General Chauvel. Despite the Australian share in its preservation, the relic was nearly lost to the Commonwealth by the decision of the War Trophies Committee in London. Strong representations made by the Australian Government secured its surrender to Australia.

The story is accompanied by numerous finely executed pictures of the Mosaic in black and white and in colour. The mosaic has now a world-wide repute as an outstanding example of 6th century art.—E.C.

Dear Sir,

Some time ago we received at this Library, through your office, a copy of "The Shellal Mosaic" by Professor A.D.Trendall, and, on page 9, footnote 1, I note that various opinions have been expressed as to the identity of the actual discoverer of the Mosaic.

Some time prior to our receipt of the book, my next door neighbour had mentioned to me that he, with several others, was present at the discovery of the Shellal Mosaic, when this part was captured from the Turks. Since receiving the publication I have discussed the matter more fully with him, and he informs me that, to the best of his knowledge, he (Lance-Corp. H.R.Y.McGuigan, D.C.M.), Private J.R.Nimmo, Private Joseph Maitland Steele, Private James Small, M.M., and Private Monte William Giles, all of the 5th Light Horse, were together when the discovery was made. Mr. McGuigan states that he used half the water in his water-bottle to clean a portion of the floor, and, from some small snapshots which he has now donated to the Library, one can clearly see the tiger and the Greek inscription. On the back of one of the photos is written: "A Greek temple floor all done in mosaic work dating from 300 years B.C. unearthed by our squadron at Shellal (Palestine) on the Wadi Guzza."

Mr. McGuigan advises that Private J.R.Nimmo, who was a young medical student prior to enlistment, roughly translated the inscription, which Mr. McGuigan then

The Director,

Australian War Memorial,

CANBERRA.

AUSTRALIAN WAR MEMORIAL AWM2022.7.548

then wrote in his diary. He states that Private Nimmo later gained his medical degree, and he understands that he is now a Medical Officer in the present Forces. Mr. McGuigan has an idea that Dr. Nimmo was at Canberra until quite recently, and he is of the opinion that if you could communicate with Dr. Nimmo he would possibly throw further light on the subject.

Should you require further information, Mr. McGuigan's address is Mars Street, Wilston, Brisbane, Queensland.

My main purpose in writing is to endeavour to establish definitely who were the actual discoverers of the Shellal Mosaic.

Yours faithfully,

J. H. Hornibrook.

Honorary Secretary.

JOHN OXLEY MEMORIAL LIBRARY

A Library of Australian Literature and History

WILLIAM STREET,
BRISBANE

AUSTRALIAN WAR MEMORIAL AWM2022.7.548

The John Oxley Memorial Library, established as a memorial to the memory of Lieutenant John Oxley, R.N., who discovered the Brisbane River in 1823, has for its object the formation and maintenance in perpetuity of a library of Australian literature and history, particularly of Queensland.

The proposal was adopted at a public meeting in 1924, after the centenary of the discovery of the Brisbane River had been celebrated. A small surplus of money that had been raised by public subscription remained after the payment of all expenses, and the meeting decided that it should be vested in Trustees, and applied to the purpose mentioned. That was done, and in 1933 the Trustees were able to open the library to the public.

Since that time the John Oxley Memorial Library has accumulated many valuable publications, letters, diaries, and other records which, if there had been no such public institution, would probably have been lost; and it is already an extremely worthy monument to Lieutenant John Oxley's memory, and will be of increasing historical value to all students who are interested in the literature and history of Queensland, and of Australia to a lesser extent.

Most of the material in the Library has been donated by residents of Queensland, who see in it the beginnings of a great national library, such as the Mitchell Library, in Sydney, has become. The Committee believe, however, that many valuable documents and records remain to be collected, and they are hopeful that from time to time these will be transferred to the John Oxley Memorial Library for the benefit of the people of the State.

At present the Library contains, roughly, ~~14,000~~ 20,000 books, pamphlets, diaries, letters, and other records, many of them priceless because they are irreplaceable. The value of a library of this kind cannot, of course, be estimated in terms of money. No attempt has been made to do so, nor is likely ever to be done, for the records have an inherent and intrinsic value which could not be gauged in monetary value. The great merit of the Library lies in the fact that it will be the national home for historical and literary records of the development of Queensland, and as such it is of great value to students and must become increasingly so.

Many of the records are history in themselves; and although dry and uninteresting to the casual reader, perhaps, they have already been of considerable value to Australian writers. One Australian writer, Mr. Frank Clune, of Sydney, in his book, "Free and Easy Land," pays it this tribute:—

> "In the Oxley Library I got more kick out of the dingy old volumes of Flinders, Oxley, and other pioneers, than all the Neon lights and the city's million-pound City Hall. The Oxley Library, like the Mitchell Library in Sydney, has gathered ancient volumes and diaries to its bosom."

AUSTRALIAN WAR MEMORIAL AWM2022.7.548

The John Oxley Memorial Library is located on the upper floor of the Free Public Library in William Street, Brisbane; and through the co-operation and generosity of the State Government, a lady with a wide knowledge of the subject is in attendance six days a week.

J.B. Chandler

The Trustees are the Rt. Hon. the Lord Mayor of Brisbane (Alderman ~~A. J. Jones~~) and the Under Secretary to the Chief Secretary's Department (Mr. ~~G. W. Watson, M.V.O.~~). The Committee consists of representatives of the Queensland University, the Royal Queensland Art Society, the Queensland Historical Society, and other cultural bodies, together with a number of individual members who take a keen interest in Queensland History and Literature.

Dear Sir:

We have received the copy of THE SHELLAL MOSAIC by Professor A. D. Trendall which you sent to the National Geographic Society.

We appreciate the courtesy that prompted the forwarding of this booklet to us, but we regret that we cannot meet your request for a review, inasmuch as the National Geographic Magazine has no book-review department.

Unless you wish us to return this pamphlet, we shall be glad to make it available to the members of the Staff who are interested in this subject.

THE DR. J. C. BRADSHAW MUSIC COLLECTION

Those of our readers who are interested in music will welcome this very substantial addition to our music section. Dr. J. C. Bradshaw, late organist at the Christchurch Cathedral, and Professor of Music at Canterbury University College, has presented to the Library over 600 books from his music library.

Of these books, 207 are in the Reference Department and approximately 400 will be placed in the Circulating Department.

There are many books on Church music in all its aspects—the history and playing of the organ, choirs and the training of them, and the music of psalms and hymns; the history, composition, and appreciation of music, and dictionaries of the subject; theory, harmony, and counterpoint; lives of musicians and their works; and the teaching of singing and the piano. There are vocal and orchestral scores, and music for the piano, organ, and stringed instruments. The scores include oratorios (sacred and secular), cantatas, and operatic works. Besides the ordinary sized scores, there are many miniature scores. Also among the collection are books on military and brass bands, and orchestral and band conducting.

On account of limited space, the music section will be moved from its present position to the shelves beneath the magazine rack near the northern window.

FOR MUSIC LOVERS

A new novel which should have an appeal to music lovers is "Spring Symphony," by Eleanor Painter. It is the romantic story of Clara and Robert Schumann; their loves, careers, and the musical circles in which they moved. The book is at the library.

LIBRARY SUBSCRIPTIONS

Subscriptions: 10/- per annum, 5/- per half-year, 3/- per quarter. Visitors: 1/6 per month. Old-age Pensioners: 5/- per annum, 2/6 per half-year. Intermediates, 16-18: 2/6 per annum.

LIBRARIES IN THE U.S.A. NAVY

According to the American publication, "The Library Journal," a ship has a library installed as part of the equipment. These libraries vary in size from 2,000 books for the largest ship to 150 books for a submarine. Standard books sent to all ships include the Bible, a dictionary, and engineering text books. The fiction includes westerns, thrillers, old-timers, and the latest best sellers. Non-fiction includes popular travel volumes, books on naval life, and works of general information. All the officers and men have a chance to keep up with their particular branch of the service, to further their advancement, and to enjoy the books for pure recreation. All training establishments ashore are fully equipped with excellent libraries of ten to thirty thousand volumes, administered by a trained librarian with civil service status. At all major stations assistants are also provided. Libraries are provided for all Naval Hospitals as an aid in restoring the sick to normal life more rapidly.

BOOKS ADDED TO THE LIBRARY AUGUST

FICTION

You may reserve fiction volumes after they have been in the library for three months. This list may be reserved in NOVEMBER, 1942. The fee for reservation is 4d. (the book is counted as an extra, so that the fee for reservation is really 1d.).

PHILOSOPHY

Batty, Francis De Witt—Human Nature; the Moorhouse Lectures delivered in St. Paul's Cathedral, Melbourne, 1939.
Bishop Batty analyses man's nature and purpose in the light of ancient and modern experience.
Mee, Arthur—Immortal Dawn.
This book is the author's optimistic view of the war, not a narrative of the events. He reflects on the general trend of the war during the year 1941.
Walker, Kenneth—Diagnosis of Man.
The author holds that the nature of man must be examined from the several standpoints of psychology, philosophy, and religion, as well as from that of science.

RELIGION

The Shorter Bible; being the Authorised Version of the Bible arranged and edited for the general reader.
The editor is Arthur Burrell.
Wilson, R. McNair—The Witness of Science; being letters to my sons about the Christian faith.
Dr. Wilson shows how the witness of science corresponds in every way with the witness of Christ.

SOCIOLOGY

Anshen, Ruth Nanda (ed.)—Freedom; its meaning.
In this book, nineteen modern thinkers discuss all the aspects of Freedom.
Birdsall, Paul—Versailles Twenty Years After.
An analysis and interpretation of the diplomatic factors which shaped the general character of the Treaty of Versailles.
Gretton, G. H.—Victory Begins at Home; a programme of minimum war aims.
Dr. Gretton aims at establishing in Britain a standard of economic security as a basis for improvement in spiritual, cultural, and moral spheres.
Ludwig, Emil—The Davos Murder, tr. by Eden and Cedar Paul.
Written in defence of David Frankfurter, a Jewish medical student, who at Davos in 1936 shot a German Nazi agent; this book is a justification of the ideals and motives behind Frankfurter's act.

NATURAL SCIENCE

Lockley, R. M.—Shearwaters.
The author, who settled on a remote Welsh island to study birds, concentrated on the study of the Manx shearwater, a sea bird about whose habits little was known.

USEFUL ARTS

Ali, Alban—The Scarlet Angel; the story of a seven-thousand mile journey chiefly in a single-seater light aeroplane.

The author, flying from Assam to London on leave, stopped at Delhi and took part in the Viceroy's Cup Air Race.

Bourne, Geoffrey—Nutrition and the War.

Discusses the problems of war-time nutrition, and gives a selection of alternative foods.

Hewer, D. G.—Practical Herb Growing.

Deals with the cultivation, harvesting, and drying of herbs from a practical viewpoint. Also describes the individual herbs with their uses.

FINE ARTS

Gaunt, William—The Pre-Raphaelite Tragedy.

The story of the pre-Raphaelite artists and writers—William Holman Hunt, John Millais, William Morris, Dante Gabriel Rossetti, and others.

Good, Meyrick—Good Days; being fifty racing years in silk and saddle, stable and stand.

The author is well known in the racing world, and is an authority on the British thoroughbred.

Smythe, Frank S.—Mountaineering Holiday.

Mr Smythe describes his adventures in the Swiss Alps.

LITERATURE

Waley, Arthur (tr.)—One Hundred and Seventy Chinese Poems.

This is the first time the greater number of these poems has been translated into English.

HISTORY AND TRAVEL

Byas, Hugh. The Japanese Enemy; his power and his vulnerability.

A study of the mind and social consciousness of the Japanese, and an appraisal of the country's degree of fighting strength.

Cowie, Donald—The Campaign of Wavell; the inner story of the Empire in action. Second part: Sept., 1940—Sept., 1941.

This second volume of Mr Cowie's Empire war history is the first documented record of General Sir Archibald Wavell's Middle Eastern, African, and Balkan campaigns.

Dalton, Clive—Men of Malaya.

The story of British Malaya and the men who made it—Francis Light, Stamford Raffles, James Brooke, Andrew Clarke, Hugh Low, and Frank Swettenham.

Duranty, Walter—The Kremlin and the People.

The story of Stalin and his Russians as it has developed since the murder of Kirov in Leningrad in December, 1934, which was the crucial turning point in Soviet history.

Forman, R. S. (ed.)—Great Christians.

A study of forty well-known Christian men and women of the period immediately before our own.

Gleed, Wing-Commander Ian—Arise to Conquer.

The story of an R.A.F. fighter squadron which fought in France and in the Battle of Britain.

Louise, Olive—Peasant Life in Jugoslavia.

The author travelled for six years among the smaller towns and hamlets of Jugoslavia, and became really acquainted with the peasant folk.

Luke, Sir Harry—More Moves on an Eastern Chequerboard.

Present day conditions in the Near East, more especially Palestine, Trans-Caucasia, and Tripoli; together with their history, antiquities, and customs of the people.

McKie, R. C. H.—This was Singapore.

The author worked in Singapore as a newspaperman from the end of 1937 until September, 1939. He wrote this book before Japan entered the war.

Oliveira, A. Ramos—A People's History of Germany; tr. by Eileen E. Brooke.

Purves-Stewart, Sir James—Over Military Age; a war-time commentary on the first two years.

The author, a well-known physician, has travelled widely in foreign countries in peace and in war. He analyses world events, 1940-1, and discusses contemporary political figures.

Strong, Anna Louise—Our Russian Front.

A comprehensive account of the steps which led to the Nazi-Russian war, including a clear picture of the Russian people themselves.

BIOGRAPHY

Burton, Jean—Sir Richard Burton's Wife.

The story of Isabel, Lady Burton, who, with her adventurous husband, explored the farthest corners of the earth. With her unconventional ideas, she was a colourful and exciting figure in Victorian England.

Dickens, Monica—One Pair of Feet.

A companion volume to "One Pair of Hands," in which Miss Dickens records her life as a nurse during the early part of the war.

Gower, Sir George Leveson—Years of Endeavour, 1886-1907.

Further reminiscences of Sir George Leveson Gower, describing his political and social life, and travel in Europe, Asia, and America.

Kiernan, R. H.—Churchill.

Mr Kiernan's biography of Winston Churchill will appeal to the younger generation as well as to the ordinary reader.

Lewis, Wyndham—Blasting and Bombardiering.

Painter, novelist, satirist, soldier, and controversialist, the author has known everyone of importance in the artistic and literary worlds since 1914. This is his autobiography.

Metcalf, Thomas Washington—Memorials of the Military Life.

The author, who has several successful books to his credit, is an Englishman who served in an Irish regiment. He was a professional soldier of pre-Great War days.

Rice, Cale Young—Bridging the Years.

As well as being the autobiography of one of America's foremost poets, this book is a stimulating commentary on twentieth century literature.

The author, a dramatic critic and playwright, gives us his reminiscences of the English stage and the leading actors and actresses of his day.

Wild, Roland—MacNab, the Last Laird.

The life story of the unpleasant and tyrranical Archibald Macnab, 13th laird of the Clan Macnab, who fled from Scotland to demand authority over his fellow exiles in Canada.

Woon, Basil—Roosevelt; world statesman.

This biography presents America's President in the light of world statesman rather than American politician.

BOOK AUCTION FOR WAR FUNDS

According to the American "Library Journal" the Victory Book Auction, in aid of funds for the armed forces, was held in June last. (This auction was similar to the Churchill auction which it is proposed to hold in some centres in New Zealand.) Letters, manuscripts, books, cartoons, and etchings were contributed. Bidding in general was very low, especially on cartoons, though a Walt Disney cartoon went for 18 dollars. Hitler's "Mein Kampf" had to be included with four other volumes to bring 5 dollars. The total receipts amounted to about 600 dollars only. Charles Evans' "American Bibliography," valued at 200 dollars, sold for 75 dollars only, the largest amount for any lot.

A WASTE PAPER CONTEST

A National Waste Paper Contest was commenced in Britain on May 1st and ended on July 31st. Local authorities participated in the scheme and £2,500 in prize money was to be distributed to the authorities collecting the most paper. The first prize was £1,000, 2nd prize £500, and so on down to the 7th prize of £50.

1941 BOOKS PUBLISHED

According to the English Catalogue of Books for 1941 the number of books recorded as having been published in the United Kingdom during the year 1941 is 5,092, a decrease of 5,640 as compared with the total for 1940.

The British publishing trade received its most severe blow, especially on its wholesale and distributive side, when the city of London was bombed at the end of December, 1940. Bombs, however, are not the only trouble from which the book trade is suffering. The supply of paper available has been restricted to an extent that easily may be responsible for the greater part of the year's loss of books. New novels issued last year reached a total of 722, and there were in addition 611 new editions, making a grand total of 1,333. The 1940 fiction total was 3,524.

BOOKS AND FILMS

Warner's recently completed a film of Margaret Kennedy's best selling novel "The Constant Nymph."

James Hilton's latest novel "'Random Harvest" is in production at the M.G.M. film studios.

The Paramount Company has completed a film of "Hatter's Castle," A. J. Cronin's great novel.

The 20th Century Fox Company has produced a film based on Nevil Shute's splendid novel "Pied Piper."

E. P. Oppenheim's novel "The Great Impersonation" has been filmed by the Universal Company.

Through the generosity of the Rockefeller Foundation, the Library of Congress at Washington will now file for preservation the most important films produced by the American film industry. The films will be stored in fire-proof vaults.

BOOK NOTES

According to the "Times Literary Supplement" the Croat Propaganda Board has forbidden booksellers to sell the books of Zola, Capek, Gorki, Sinclair Lewis, Upton Sinclair, Remarque, and Romain Rolland.

The Library of Congress, U.S.A., has been granted permission to microfilm nearly 3,000 rare Chinese volumes sent to the U.S.A. for safe keeping during the war. Many of these treasures date from the eleventh century, and are the property of the National Library, Peking.

Rachel Field's last novel "And Now Tomorrow" is to be published shortly by the firm of Collins. Miss Field's novel "All This and Heaven Too" was a best seller. She died recently from pneumonia.

An enterprising London publisher has brought out a booklet "Hair Styles for Women in Uniform." It contains 32 pages, and is well illustrated, the cost being one shilling.

Mr J. L. Hodson, whose voice is often heard over the B.B.C., is the author of two very good books on Britain in War-time, "Through the Dark Night" and "Towards the Morning," both volumes presenting some of the best journalism occasioned by the war. A third volume, "Before Daybreak," has also been added recently. All are at the library.

PIED PIPER

Nevil Shute's new novel "Pied Piper" reached the library recently, and has already made many friends. It is a very fine story of an old English gentleman who managed to get a party of children out of Nazi-occupied France during the Dunkirk period. It is a story of courage and endurance, beautifully told, and tremendously exciting. Several copies are at the library and are sure to be in demand.

SIGHT "SAVING"

Along with other exploded ideas goes the notion that you must stop to rest your eyes while reading, sewing or doing other close work.

The new conception, according to the Harvard Medical School, is that eyes are not saved by resting them. It is only disease which destroys vision, but vision cannot be worn out.

Dear Mr. Bazley,

Reference is made to your letter of September 10, 1942 regarding the transmission to the Congressional Library and the Commandant at West Point of copies of Volume VI of the Official History of Australia in the War of 1914-1918, AND OF A COPY OF A BOOK ON THE Shellal Mosaic to the Congressional Library.

In compliance with your request, the books referred to above have been sent to the Department of State in Washington, along with your letters addressed to the Librarian of the Congressional Library and the Commandant at West Point. Books and letters will be forwarded to the addressees, who, I am certain, will much appreciate your thoughtfulness in sending this valuable material.

Very truly yours,

Dear Sir Donald,

I was very pleased to learn that you found the book on the Shellal Mosaic so interesting and hope that General Wilson too will be taken with it.

Colonel Treloar is handling the Service Christmas books and is making good progress with them despite the fact that he has encountered serious difficulties on the literary side and in connection with supplies of paper. In the case of the R.A.A.F. book I understand that the response by individual contributors was, up to three weeks ago, rather disappointing both in quantity and quality, but the position has, I think, improved since then. A number of articles on the historical side of the R.A.A.F. will, of course, be prepared by the Public Relations staff at the Air Ministry. By the time the next Board meeting is held I should be in a position to give members a good idea of what has been accomplished.

The next meeting of the Board, which I hope will take place in about a fortnight's time, will be an important one, the main discussion centreing around the question of the extension of the scope of the War Memorial and of the collection and preservation of the war records of Government departments. I hope you will be able to attend and should be glad if you would kindly let me know whether you will be free the week after next. I am aware that you do not like being away from Sydney on a Tuesday or a Friday and will therefore do my best to arrange for the meeting to be held on some other day during the week.

Many thanks for the bound copy of the Shellal Mosaic book which I received today. It is quite an attractive little volume and I think the War Memorial should feel some satisfaction in having arranged for it to be produced.

I was, of course, most interested to receive Vol. VI which came to hand a day or two ago. Up to the present I have only had time to glance at it but I hope to have an early opportunity of reading it, especially - on your recommendation - the final chapter.

Thanks for including me on the distribution lists.

Dear Sir,

I am today sending to you a copy of a book, written by Professor A. D. Trendall, on the Shellal Mosaic and other classical antiquities in the Australian War Memorial. It is hoped by the War Memorial Board that you will be able to see your way to reviewing it in the columns of your journal. The price of the book is 2s.6d.

It would also be appreciated if you would kindly forward a copy of the review to this office as early as possible.

Yours faithfully,

A. W. Bazley

Dear Sir,

The 26 parcels containing the Shellal Mosaic booklet arrived in Canberra at the end of last week. All carried well except one package which had been broken at one end. The books, however, were in first-class condition.

When the contents of the packages were checked over in our store it was found that only 3882 copies (and not 3884 as mentioned in your letter of July 10th) had been received - 25 parcels of 150 (3750) and one containing 132. At the beginning of this month you sent me one copy by post and I expect you sent one also to Professor Trendall. Perhaps this accounts for the discrepancy between the figure given in your letter of July 10th and the number of copies actually received here last week.

Yours faithfully,

A. W. Bazley,
Acting Director.

P.S. We shall need a supply of envelopesof good quality, almost at once, for the purpose of sending out the booklet through the post. I wonder if you could supply us with 500 and if so, let me know the cost. Across the top of the envelope would have to be printed the letters "O.H.M.S." and in the left-hand bottom corner "If not delivered within 7 days, return to Australian War Memorial, Canberra, A.C.T."

Dear Professor Trendall,

Many thanks for your letter of July 7th. I will have a copy of the booklet sent to Dr. A. H. McDonald and to the New Zealand Herald and Otago Daily Times, as well as to the papers I mentioned in my letter of the 3rd.

I am having 24 copies of the book specially bound for presentation, and have already written to the Medical Publishing Company in connection with this work.

Your suggestion that the Memorial might find sale for coloured postcards of the peacock or the tigress is one that I will bear in mind, and as soon as the present press of work subsides I will go into the question.

Dear Mr Bazley,

Thank you for your letter of 3rd July – I am glad you find the booklet satisfactory. Before I left Sydney I made arrangements with Mr Noldt to send out my personal copies so I need not trouble you, though I am most grateful for your kind offer.

As to reviews – I would suggest that Dr. A. H. McDonald of Sydney University (reader in Ancient History) might write one for one or other of the Australian journals – he is probably our best local authority on the subject. The Hellenic & Antiquaries Journals of London will also probably review it – copies are already being sent to the respective societies. The New Zealand Herald (Auckland) and the Otago Daily Times (Dunedin) would probably also be pleased to do it, as both run fairly large literary supplements on Saturday. I am also sending copies to various American journals which might be interested, so I think the field should be fairly well covered.

2/6d does not seem to me excessive in view of the large number of plates and illustrations, though like you I had hoped it might be possible to manage it more cheaply. Under existing circumstances however, I think it very creditable to have got the booklet published at all. I trust you will be able to make some arrangement for sales through booksellers, especially in New Zealand, but am more than content to leave the matter in your hands.

Do you think the Memorial would find any sale for coloured postcards of the peacock or tigress? These could be made quite cheaply at the present time, I imagine, and might prove popular. Also, Mr. Heyes spoke to me of having a few presentation copies specially bound, but I take you will make such arrangements as you think desirable in this connection with the publishers.

With best wishes,

Yours sincerely,

A. D. Trendall

The production costs of the Shellal Mosaic Book were:-

Napier Waller's coloured drawings	£78. 15. 0
Setting up and printing and cost of blocks -	£240. 0. 0
	£318. 15. 0
To this should be added the cost of 150 free copies for Prof. Trendall and 24 other complimentaries and possibly review copies. - approx.	18. 0. 0
Freight and cartage - approx.	12. 0. 0
	£348. 15. 0

The book will therefore cost about 1/9 a copy to produce.

The retail price will therefore be 2/6d.

Dear Professor Trendall,

I have received from the Manager of the Medical Publishing Company a copy of the Shellal Mosaic booklet. I expect you have seen it ere this and must be quite satisfied with it.

As soon as the copies are bound I will have the whole edition sent to Canberra, probably in two or three consignments, as they come from the binding room.

So far as the 100 copies for yourself are concerned, if you would care to let me have a list of the names and addresses of the persons to whom you intend sending them, I will be only too glad to have them wrapped and posted from this office for you. The balance can then be sent to you in Melbourne.

I have received from you the list of institutions to which you recommend that copies of the booklet might be presented These will be despatched from the first consignment that comes from the printer. I have added three institutions to the list - the Mitchell Library, Sydney; the Turnbull Library, New Zealand; and the Scottish National Memorial at Edinborough - thus bringing the presentations copies up to 51. When the war is over we will, of course, send a few more complimentary copies to institutions in the countries which are at present under German control.

After going into the question of production costs I find that the book will cost us nearly 2/- to bring out. It will, therefore, be necessary for us to charge 2/6 a copy. I had always hoped that there would be no necessity to go beyond 1/- a copy but I am afraid we have no alternative but to add the 6d. to the price. So far as sales to booksellers are concerned, we could only market it through them at a loss. The usual trade discount is 33⅓% on the retail price and this would mean that we would be obliged to let the booksellers have it at 1/8 a copy. I am, however, going into the question with Angus & Robertsons and will see if it is at all possible for them to accept a smaller discount on the Shellal Mosaic booklet.

Note to Melbourne

see also reply re reverse

In an earlier letter you mentioned that after studying the photograph of the Shellal bay you came to the conclusion that the small mosaic on the left-hand wall (Figure 6) had been erected upside down, since the triangles should point downwards. I am afraid that you are right but it is not going to be an easy job to take the mosaic down and re-erect it correctly. As a matter of fact the mistake was discovered by Mr. Cyril Samuels of our staff some months ago, and I always had an idea that he pointed it out both to Mr. Heyes and yourself, but in this belief I was apparently mistaken.

I think we should send out a copy of the book to a few newspapers and journals which are likely to give it a notice. For example, I think the Illustrated London News, the Times and the Times Literary Supplement are three journals that will review it overseas, while the "Sydney Morning Herald" and several of the more important dailies and weeklies in Australia would almost certainly review it in their magazine section. Could you furnish me with the names of any other journals which you feel sure would notice it in their columns. I realise that the list will be quite a short one but I think it is worth while sending out a few review copies.

Dear Sir,

I have to thank you for your letter of June 29th and for the copy of the Shellal Mosaic booklet that you forwarded under separate cover. I would like to congratulate you on the printing, particularly of the colour plates which have reproduced excellently.

I should be glad if you would have the entire edition, with the exception of 24 copies to which reference is made in the following paragraph, carefully packed and despatched to this office by goods train as soon as possible. In fact, it might not be a bad plan to send them down in two or three consignments as they come from the binding room. If when the cases have been packed you would telephone Youngs Pty. Ltd., 25 Druitt Street, Sydney, our forwarding agents, they will pick them up and rail them to us. At the same time will you please let us have advice of the number in respective consignments so that they can be checked on arrival here.

With regard to the 24 copies referred to above, we desire to have these in a special binding. Would you kindly let me know what the charge would be for binding them in full cloth and embossing in gold the details at present appearing on the paper cover. If possible, I should like the cloth binding to be a deep or navy blue. Perhaps you could let me see a sample or two.

I should be glad if you would arrange to keep the type standing for the time being and to take every care for the preservation of the blocks and colour plates. In fact, so far as the type is concerned, it might be worth while purchasing this from you at the current market price for metal, and I should be glad if you would let me know what the cost would be.

Dear Mr Bayley,

I enclose herewith a list of museums and other institutions to which copies of the "Shellal Mosaic" might be presented. There are many others in Europe of course, but obviously nothing can be done about them under present conditions. I am sending copies to a number of individuals personally.

Mr Noldt tells me that the copies should be ready this week and I have asked him to write to you about distribution, etc.

I think the finished product (which I have not yet seen) will be satisfactory at least from the publication point of view and again offer my thanks to you all for your many kindnesses to me during my association with the Memorial.

Yours sincerely,
A. D. Trendall

Dear Sir:

Thank you for your letter dated June 6, 1942, enclosing Order Number 3894 for 4000 copies of the Shellal Mosaic Booklet.

As requested, we have trimmed off the block for the frontispiece, the one inch section showing part of a plan model of the Armentieres-Ypres Battlefield.

We expect the booklet to be off the press within the next few days, and we should be pleased if you would kindly forward delivery instructions. We should be pleased also if you would kindly let us know whether you require any of the booklets specially bound. Mr. Heyes has suggested that a dozen or so be bound for presentation copies.

Yours faithfully,

A/MANAGER.

P.S. We shall forward you one of the copies as soon as they are completed.

Dear Mr Bayley,

Our letters evidently crossed each other in the post. I was very glad to have yours and have now gone ahead with the final corrections, including your suggestion of cutting off the lower portion of the Frontispiece. I had not meant this to be included. The plates, now that they are printed on art paper, look very well to me, especially the two in colour which seem to do justice to Mr. Waller's lovely paintings, and when the whole booklet is finished on the proper paper and the text figures come out as well as the plates, it should look very attractive. At what price do you propose to sell it - 1/6d or 2/= ? Allowance will, I suppose, have to be made for discounts to booksellers etc.

One small point has just occurred to me, arising from the study of the photograph of the Shellal bay. The mosaic on the left-hand wall (Fig. 6) would appear to be upside down - the triangles should point downwards, as it seems to be the top corner of the mosaic.

Mr. H. A. Graves of the British Consular Service, a friend of mine, is visiting Canberra for a few days from Monday and I hope you will grant him all facilities for examining the mosaic, in which he has expressed keen interest. He will probably communicate with you in due course.

I am returning to Sydney next week for a few days and will send you the list of libraries and museums from there, as it is difficult to give all the addresses correctly from memory here.

I am looking forward to seeing the finished publication later this month and hope that all will go well with it.

With best regards,

Yours sincerely,

A. D. Trendall

Dear Mr Bayley,

The enclosed letter from the Medical Publishing Co. will show you how the position is with regard to the machining off the plates. As the plates will presumably remain unaltered should a second edition be called for it would still seem possible to reduce the edition to 2500 or 3000, if you so desire, without substantial loss. I leave the matter entirely in your hands and suggest that you give the requisite instructions direct to the printers, though I hope you will make provision for the New Zealand market and for sales through booksellers in Australia. If you have any corrections for the final proof (which should have reached you by now) please let me know at once so I shall delay the return of mine till Monday next.

With best wishes,

Yours sincerely,

Under separate cover we have posted to you a complete set of the final page proofs of the Mosaic Booklet, which we trust you will find satisfactory. As requested, a set has been sent to the Acting Director, War Memorial, Canberra.

4100 copies of the two colour plates and 4000 copies of two of the black and white plates have been printed. We have stopped machining until we hear whether a smaller number is required.

Dear Sir,

I send herewith our official order No. 3894 for 4000 copies of the book on the Shellal Mosaic.

I hope you have not yet printed the frontispiece. At the foot of the block is a section 1" deep showing part of a plan model of the Armentieres-Ypres Battlefield in Flanders, and I am afraid that readers who will not understand the significance of the model, are bound to be confused. In writing to Professor Trendall on June 4th I recommended that this section should be trimmed off the block and I expect he has been in touch with you about it by now. If he has not done so, I think it would be as well to hold up for a day or two the printing of the form containing this block.

Yours faithfully,

A. W. Bazley,

P.S. I will let you have advice as to the delivery of the book during the course of the next week. Would you please let me know when you expect to have the edition ready.

Dear Professor Trendall,

Shellal Mosaic Booklet.

I had been waiting to acknowledge your letter of May 18th until I heard from you as to whether or not the Medical Publishing Company has machined the 4000 copies. But when this morning I received a set of the paged proofs of the text and plates I rang the Company, to find that they had already machined the colour plates and some of the half-tones. I therefore advised them to go ahead with the machining of the full 4000. The official covering order will be sent to the Manager as soon as I learn from him the additional cost involved in the making of the new block for the frontispiece and the charge for the art paper that will be used.

I am very taken with the book and I think it will be an excellent production. I think, however, that the section of the Flanders plan model which appears in the foreground of the frontispiece should be cut off the block, otherwise readers of the book will be ~~possibly~~ certainly confused. I hope it will be possible for you to let me have shortly the list of museums and other institutions which you recommend should receive presentation copies.

With kind regards,

Yours sincerely,

Dear Mr Bazley,

Thank you very much for your letter of the 14th and the photographs of the Shellal Bay, one of which will serve very well for the Frontispiece. I rang Mr. Heyes this afternoon and discussed with him the size of the edition. We had previously agreed upon 4000 and on his instructions I had written to the Medical Publishing Company to tell them to go ahead with the machining of the colour plates. He is still of the opinion that this number will not be unduly large, especially as provision should be made for the disposal of several hundred copies in New Zealand through the booksellers or some other agents. There should be a number of people there who would be interested in a monument which, after all, partially belongs to them. Also he thought that arrangements should be made for copies to be on general sale in Australia, as comparatively few people will be able to visit Canberra to purchase one, and many owners of the "Official History" might like to possess it as well. However I felt that this question was not one which concerned me and left the matter to Mr.

AUSTRALIAN WAR MEMORIAL AWM2022.7.548

Keyes, who assures me that he is quite prepared to accept the responsibility. I will, however, see how far the Medical Publishing Co. has gone with the machining and if they have not completed the task tell them to stop pending further instructions from you.

As to the footnotes – I had these reset in two columns, as this is the normal practice in works of this kind and I thought they looked better so, having studied specimens carried right across the page. As it might create difficulties to have them changed now, with your permission I propose to leave them as they are.

I have noted the alteration for the title page, which will be duly made.

I will send you a list of museums and institutions which should receive copies, as soon as I have time to compose one. Out of the 100 copies the Memorial has kindly allowed me I will provide for private individuals, such as museum directors, etc., who might like copies for themselves.

All being well I hope that the publication date will not be later than early June, but I think everyone will realise that under the existing circumstances some delay was more or less inevitable.

Major Treweek should be in Canberra today – I hope he has had the pleasure of seeing you again.

Yours sincerely,

A. D. Trendall.

Dear Professor Trendall,

Major Treweeke called in today and had a yarn with me about the Shellal Mosaic booklet. I told him that I had written to you last week and gave him a resume of my letter.

With regard to the number of copies of the booklet that we should order in the first edition, one consideration which appeals to me in suggesting 1500-2000 copies instead of 4000 is that if after publication of the first edition fresh material comes to light from overseas, it would come out much sooner if a smaller number were printed on this occasion.

I suppose we shall sell about 300-400 copies after the booklet has been reviewed and some 150-200 copies per year to University students and others after that. On this calculation 1500 copies would last 4 years and 2000 for 6 years. On the other hand, we may dispose of them in half that time but even so (as I mentioned above) if fresh material comes to hand it would be better for it to see the light as early as possible; and it seems to me that if we publish 4000 copies it will be many years before we are able to have an opportunity of incorporating it in a new edition.

Yours sincerely,

Australian War Memorial 7/1/23

14th May, 1942.

Dear Professor Trendall,

I am sorry that there was some delay in the taking of the fresh photograph of the Shellal Mosaic from across the Flanders model, for, like yourself, I am anxious to see the book out as soon as possible. Several photographs were taken while I was away from Canberra recently and I have now received the prints, which I forward herewith. They are not altogether satisfactory but are the best which Mr. Strangman can get. I hope you will find one of them suitable for your purpose.

So far as the book itself is concerned, I have been through the paged proof which Mr. Heyes sent to me. The only comment I have to offer concerns the footnotes which have been set in two columns. Personally I would like to see them carried across the page; where small footnotes occur these could, of course, be set two to the line if they will conveniently fit into the line. However, it is a small point and if you prefer them doubled up I would not suggest a change at this stage.

As the book is being published by the Australian War Memorial the reference at the foot of the title page should be altered from "Sydney 1942" to read -

"Australian War Memorial
Canberra
1942"

Would you please arrange for this alteration to be made by the Medical Publishing Company, or shall I write to them direct?

I note from the Medical Publishing Company's letter of April 9th that their quotation for 4000 copies is £235, the slight increase being due to the additional matter which is now to be included in the book. This figure, of course, includes the cost of the half-tone blocks. What I am concerned about at the moment is whether we should place an order for as many as 4000 copies. I know that you and Mr. Heyes agreed, when you first discussed the matter, that we should go for 4000, but I must confess that I am wondering whether 1500 or 2000 copies will not suffice for our needs. No official order for the number of copies to be printed has yet been placed by us, so there is still time to reduce the order, that is, if definite instructions have not already been given to the printer by yourself after your recent consultation with Mr. Heyes and General Chauvel.

Would you kindly let me have your advice on this point, and if it is not too late I will take up the question with the Medical Publishing Company of reducing the order and ascertaining their price for, say, 1500 or 2000 copies.

At the last meeting of the Finance Committee it was decided that, as a small return for the work that you put into compiling the book, 100 copies should be made available to you free of charge. Further, the Committee approved of your request that up to 50 complimentary copies should be sent to museums and other institutions which are likely to be interested in the mosaic. If you will supply me with a list of the museums and institutions to which the books should be forwarded I will have them posted from here directly we receive supplies from the Medical Publishing Company.

I haven't seen the half-tone or colour plates pulled on art paper yet. If you have any proofs I should be glad if you would send them up to me. Furthermore, has the printer started to machine yet?

You desired information on two points. Here it is. First, "The Shellal Bay of the Medical Gallery" is the correct title. Second, the lower inscription of the mosaic is now in St. John's Cathedral, Brisbane.

I think this is all for the moment but if there are any other points on which you require advice or assistance would you please let me know and I will let you have the information without delay.

Yours sincerely,

Shellal Mosaic.

EXTRACT FROM AGENDA AND MINUTES OF FORTY-FIRST MEETING OF FINANCE COMMITTEE HELD ON 24th APRIL, 1942.

Publication of Illustrated Booklet on Shellal Mosaic.

Because of the world-wide interest in the Shellal Mosaic arrangements were made last year by the then Acting Director for the publication of an illustrated booklet on this archaeological treasure. The compilation of the book was undertaken by A. D. Trendall, Professor of Greek in the University of Sydney, and a set of superb drawings in colour were executed for it by Mr. Napier Waller. It was decided to publish an edition of 4,000 copies, and after quotations had been received from two firms - the Medical Publishing Company and the Halstead Press, both of Sydney - the order for the printing was placed with the former, at a cost of £235 inclusive of blocks.

As Professor Trendall's work has been done gratuitously, it is recommended that 100 copies of the booklet be given to him free of charge. Further, that up to 50 complimentary copies be sent to institutions and learned societies, to be named by Professor Trendall.

Decisions Required.

(1) That covering approval be given to the Acting Director's action in placing the order for the production of the Shellal Mosaic booklet with the Medical Publishing Company, at a cost of £235.

(2) That Professor Trendall be presented with 100 copies of the booklet.

(3) That up to 50 complimentary copies be sent to institutions and learned societies.

503. Publication of Illustrated Booklet on the Shellal Mosaic.

(1) The Committee decided to give covering approval to the action of the then Acting Director (Mr. Heyes) in placing the order for the production of the Shellal Mosaic booklet with the Medical Publishing Company, Sydney, at a cost of £235.

(2) It was further decided that, as Professor Trendall's services in writing the book had been given gratuitously, he should be presented with 100 copies free of charge.

(3) The Committee also approved of the request made by Professor Trendall that up to 50 complimentary copies should be sent to archaeological institutions and other learned societies which are interested in the Mosaic.

Dear Mr Bayley,

The printers tell me they would like the photo of the Shellal Bay for the frontispiece as soon as possible so I hope you will be able to let me have it within a few days. Is the correct title 'the Shellal Bay of the Medical Gallery'?

Would you also be kind enough to check for me from the Shellal file the present whereabouts of the lower inscription. I have it down as being in St. John's Cathedral Brisbane, but I am not sure if this is right. The proofs seem to me to look quite well and I am pleased with the colour plates, so I hope the whole thing will turn out satisfactorily.

AWB/TS.

Mr. Heyes telephoned me to say that he and General Chauvel had been through Professor Trendall's proofs of the Shellal mosaic book and were satisfied that it was ready for publication. As the book was slightly larger than that originally quoted for the cost for 4000 copies inclusive of the blocks would be £235.

Mr. Heyes asked me to submit the matter to the Finance Committee for approval of the action he had taken with regard to the publication of this book. Furthermore, that as Professor Trendall had carried out the work of compiling the book without any charge to the War Memorial 100 copies should be given to him free of charge and that up to 50 complimentary copies should be sent to museums and other societies likely to be interested in the mosaic - the list of such institutions to be supplied by Professor Trendall.

Mr. Heyes also mentioned that Professor Trendall was not altogether satisfied with the photograph, taken by Mr. Strangman, looking across the Flanders model at the mosaic, because it was taken at an angle. He requires a photograph looking directly at the mosaic from the other side of the model, that is, it should be taken square on but the Palmyrene lady must not be left out.

Dear Baz,

Many thanks for the photographs of the Shellal Mosaic which I have passed to Professor Trendall. I do not know whether I have informed you previously, but he has the publication well in hand, and I suggested that a first order should be for about 4,000 copies. It will not be a profitable publication for the War Memorial although we will recover our costs with a slight margin of profit.

Professor Trendall hopes to be in a position to let you have the first proofs within the next few days. Of course General Chauvel has been through Professor Trendall's draft and entirely approves of it. In addition, he wrote the foreword.

Professor Trendall's work on this has been entirely honorary and he will, I think, make a request to you for a certain number of free copies to send to institutions in which he is interested. In addition, he is compiling a list of those Museums overseas which he considers should be presented with a copy. It appears to me that, being the custodian of such a famous relic, we should do everything in our power to furnish full particulars of it to other institutions and I therefore consider that a free issue to the Museums etc. nominated by Professor Trendall would be fully justified. The matter is, of course, one for decision by you.

Dear Professor Trendall,

I was delighted to receive your letter of 8th January with which you enclosed the text for the publication on the Shellal Mosaic.

I will be meeting General Chauvel in Sydney and will leave it with him to read. He has already, of course, undertaken to write a short foreword and I will see that no delay occurs in this being made available to you.

When I receive the text back from General Chauvel, I will write to you fully. I have only partly read it to date but I have been greatly impressed. It seems to be an excellent job and you are to be congratulated on making the story so full of information and interest.

I have arranged for Mr. Bazley to read the text tonight and he will in doing so check over your military titles. The other information which you require will be found attached hereto. So far as the further photographs are required, I will discuss the matter with our photographer and let you know what we can do to better meet your requirements.

I am sorry that on account of your departure to Melbourne we will not meet in Sydney next week.

It was nice of you to refer to our association which has not only been a great pleasure to me but one from which the War Memorial has greatly benefited. I know the Board of Management intends to make an opportunity of expressing to you its appreciation of the great assistance you have rendered the War Memorial.

C A N B E R R A. A.C.T.

Dear Mr. Heyes,

It seems that we were not fated to meet this week and I am therefore writing to you in some detail about the publication in order that we may speed it up as soon as possible.

(1) Type: Some time ago I sent you specimens of the different type available for monotype printing. After careful consideration I have come to the conclusion that 12 point would be the most suitable taking into consideration the size of the page and the length of the text. As regards footnotes I should prefer them to be in the smaller 8 point and divided into two vertical columns at the foot of the page for I think that this looks much neater when the footnotes consist practically entirely of cross references.

(2) Text: I enclose with this letter a copy of my draft text for the booklet. Exclusive of footnotes this covers about six thousand words which should run to thirteen or fourteen pages of text, or perhaps sixteen allowing for the insertion of text figures. This was about the length agreed upon and together with the introductory pages for preface etc., and the plates, should bring the total length of the booklet to the thirty-two pages we agreed upon.

I hope you will find the text satisfactory. I have tried to combine popular exposition with a certain measure of technical information, but my primary aim has been to produce a text that would be readable and yet reasonably authoritative. I have therefore relegated to footnotes all the minor points and all the references to my authorities so that serious students of the subject could, if they wished, without difficulty check up on any statements I have made. I think this is the most satisfactory way of doing it as it makes the text easier for the general reader and at the same time provides the scholar with a ready means of finding further information on any points about which he is not clear from the text.

AUSTRALIAN WAR MEMORIAL AWM2022.7.548

I should be deeply grateful if you would check over any military titles, references to military bodies and the like on which I am not altogether certain. Also would you please check the inventory numbers of the extra mosaics and add their dimensions where they are missing? If it would not be too much trouble I would be glad if my descriptions of the colours used in the Shellal and the other mosaics could also be checked beside the mosaics themselves. I took fairly careful notes of these colours but without the mosaic actually before one it is not always easy to be completely accurate.

If General Chauvel approves of the text I should be very happy if he would write a short foreword which might perhaps in the booklet be signed with a facsimile signature.

All these are satisfactorily provided for from the photographs you have been kind enough to prepare for me except Figure 4 and Plate II. I should be very glad if you could have taken for me detail photographs of the following medallions: First row from bottom - ram, pannier and goat; Fifth row - bird-cage, as I wish to include the above in the figure.

The enclosed photographs which I design for Plate II are not quite satisfactory yet. I think the one I have marked "Lower II" would probably do for the bottom half, but if it were possible to have this portion of the mosaic retaken at a more direct angle as in the one marked "Lower I", but including all the outer surround, it would be more satisfactory. For the upper half of the mosaic I should like a photograph taken from the bottom of the chalice as far up as the slipper in the outer border, taking particular care to include the border and surround on both sides. These two photographs in conjunction on the one plate will provide as satisfactory a reproduction of the whole mosaic as it is possible to obtain.

All the rest of the photographs are excellent and I have been more impressed with Mr. Waller's drawings than I can say. These are now in the hands of the block makers who expressed the profoundest admiration for them and assured me that they would do their utmost to produce a reproduction as good as the originals, difficult though that task would be on account of the delicate nature of the colours.

I am leaving for Melbourne tomorrow on a war job, but I have made all arrangements with the Medical Publishing Company to carry on, and as I shall be returning to Sydney from time to time I can easily keep a watchful eye upon the progress of the proofs. I should be very grateful if you would send to me to "Nangunia", 478 St. Kilda Rd., Melbourne S.C.2, the new photographs and the corrected copy of the text in order that I may make the necessary arrangements before despatching them for print.

If you approve of the text without any substantial alterations then you can let the Medical Publishing Company know direct that they may go ahead as I have deposited a copy of the text and the photographs of the illustrations with them.

I return also to you the copy of Crowfoot and of Avi-Yonah which you were kind enough to lend me while I was preparing the text, and General Wilson's photographs.

Let me again express my thanks to you for your great kindnesses to me while I have been in Canberra and for entrusting this publication to me. I have enjoyed working on the mosaic immensely and can only hope that my text will meet your requirements.

With best wishes,

Yours sincerely,

A.D. Trendall

Could you also please let me know approximately the number of tesserae in 1 sq. decimetre (100 sq. cm.) of the mosaic ?

Shellal Mosaic

On page 1, a correction: ... erection of a transmitting station, should be altered to read .... establishment of a visual signalling station.

On pages 2, 3, 15, 21, 23, and 25 reference numbers to Fig. are to be arranged for and dropped in by the printer.

A.W.M. accession numbers, 10394, 10395 and 10396 have been checked. As has 10391.

Military names and ranks have been checked.

The dimensions of the fragmentary pieces are as under :

AWM 10394	(Constantine Cross)	21" x 15"
AWM 10395		31" diameter
AWM 10396	(Triangles)	39" x 22"
AWM 10391	(Gravestone)	22" x 14"

(These sizes refer to the tesserai dimensions only.)

Column base 22"x 22" x 6½"high

Recruiting sign 39" x 31"

Palmyrene Lady 22" x 20"

Average tesserai in 1 sq decimeter of mosaic.

100 on the Shellal

81 on the fragments.

P. 28. Australian (?) Hospital in Egypt. should read:

No. 14 Australian General Hospital.

In Bibliography Italicise names of newspapers and in the text the names of ships e.g. Wiltshire line 3 should read "orange-yellow and grey tesserai.

Line 4 , word "disc" should be substituted for word "circle".

Second paragraph, line 4, substitute "buff and white" for "red and grey" and in line 5 of paragraph 2 after words "suitably shaded" add " the one in red and the other in grey" , same line delete words "light falling upon them" and substitute the word "form".

AUSTRALIAN WAR MEMORIAL AWM2022.7.548

Page 13. The text in 3rd line from bottom refers to the colour of leaves as "generally black". Note, only half of each leaf is "black" and this suggests the underside, while the top side varies from "pale grey and green" to "reds and browns".

Page 16. Last line, first paragraph should read "with red for the fruit and green for spray of foliage with which the fruit is topped".

Para 2, 4th line delete the words "in a soft shade of green" and add "in white, and the interior marked by soft shades of green".

Kindly refer to our institution throughout the text as the "Australian War Memorial" and not as "The Australian War Memorial Museum" as the Memorial has superseded the Museum.

Dear Sir,

I am returning to you per registered post the photographs and negatives of the Shellal Mosaic which you so kindly made available to assist Professor Trendall in compiling and illustrating the publication which the War Memorial is to publish.

The information and records which you supplied have been of the greatest assistance to us as will be apparent to you within the next month or so when a copy of the publication is forwarded to you.

Once again many thanks for your helpful assistance.

Dear Professor Trendall,

Many thanks for your letter of the 16th December relative to the publication which you are preparing on the Shellal Mosaic.

Doubtless by now you have received Mr. Waller's colour drawings and I feel sure that you will be pleased with them. With regard to the disposal of the drawings once the blocks have been made, it has occurred to me that, notwithstanding that they are Commonwealth Government property, we could, I think, arrange to make them available to the Sydney University for exhibition in your museum. This suggestion, of course, may not appeal to you, and other considerations, such as lack of space, may preclude your acceptance of the offer. If, however, you do want the drawings we will make them available on loan and of course will be in no hurry to ask for their return. It would more or less amount to their being handed over to you on permanent loan.

The other photographs which you require for the book should be ready by the end of the present week.

I will certainly make an opportunity of meeting you when I am in Sydney early in January and will let you know a little later on just what days I shall be there.

Dear Mr. Heyes,

I am delighted to hear that the coloured drawings are on their way and look forward to them very eagerly.

Just at the moment I regret to state I have had to suspend operations on the booklet because of urgent demands on my time in connection with local A.R.P. work. Also there has been an unending series of emergency board meetings of one kind and another which, coupled with examining work, has left me no time at all. I know that you will understand that the delay is not of my making.

However, I hope to have everything cleared off by the end of the week, and as work on the pamphlet is now in a very advanced state there should be no difficulty whatever in having it ready for you when you come to Sydney on 5th January.

I hope you will let me know if you have any free time then as I should much welcome an opportunity of discussing one or two points with you.

Yours in haste,

Dear Professor Trendall,

The colour drawings of the subjects selected for illustration in our publication on the Shellal Mosaic have now been completed in Canberra by Mr. Waller. The canvases have been mounted on heavy composition boards and have been carefully packed. They will be contained in one case which will be sent by passenger train tonight and consigned to you through Youngs Pty. Ltd., 25 Druitt Street, Sydney, who will arrange delivery direct to you.

The "Tigress, Chalice, Lion" and the "Peacock, Partridge" groups have been mounted on separate panels, so that you may decide on their spacing and positions on the page.

Mr. Waller has done an excellent job and I think that you will be more than satisfied with the drawings.

Dear Professor Trendall,

I was glad to learn that you were pleased with the photographs of the Shellal Mosaic and that in most instances these will be satisfactory for our purposes.

I will certainly endeavour to meet your requirements regarding a photograph of the area marked on the print which you returned to me. We will also have further photographs taken of the Palmyrene lady. These photographs will be forwarded to you together with the photograph of the area which you marked on one of our Syrian maps.

I have asked Mr. Waller for an indication of the date by which he will complete the coloured drawings and will pass this information on to you as soon as I receive it. By the way, he is coming to Canberra early next week and I have a feeling that he will have completed the drawings before he visits here.

So far as the die of the Commonwealth coat of arms is concerned, I am making enquiries and hope to be able to meet your requirements from the Halstead Press.

I was in Melbourne last week and discussed the foreword with General Chauvel. I told him, however, that before he wrote it we would supply him with the text of the publication which you are compiling. He said he would like to have this.

It looks at the moment as if I will have a meeting of our Art Committee in Sydney on the 5th January and I shall of course make contact with you then should the meeting eventuate.

Dear Mr. Heyes,

Thank you very much for your letter of December 1st and the photographs most of which are excellent and will do admirably for the purpose for which I want them.

One or two points, however, arise. I should, if it were possible, like a photograph or photographs of the area marked on the enclosed print, taken if possible at an angle that will produce a result without distortion. I particularly want to figure the bottom left-hand corner as well as the peacock above it and it is necessary for re-production that this should be taken square so that there will be no angular distortion. Also I should like a few more prints of the Palmyrene lady. The profile photographs are excellent but the frontal one might be slightly clearer on the right-hand side. Perhaps different lighting would do the trick.

The printers ask whether it would be possible for them to borrow a die of the Commonwealth arms for use on the cover of the pamphlet. I hope the specimen of type that I sent you seemed satisfactory to you.

I am afraid that rather heavy pressure of examinations has delayed the last section of my work, but perhaps this was not altogether a bad thing as there arrived from America this morning a new book upon the subject which will prove very valuable and correct some of the statements I had made. I shall hope to send you the text together with the arrangement of photographs for printing a little later on in the month.

Can you give me any idea when Mr. Waller's coloured drawings will be ready as it takes a fair measure of time to make the colour blocks?

With best wishes and many thanks,

Yours sincerely,

A. S. Tendale.

Dear Mr. Napier Waller,

I was sorry that when I was in Melbourne I did not have an opportunity of making contact with you. I arrived only on Friday morning and was obliged to return to Canberra on Monday evening. My time in Melbourne was taken up with conferences on certain exhibitions which we have to conduct, and I kept putting off telephoning you in the hope that I could then arrange a time for us to meet. Unfortunately on Monday afternoon it became apparent that I would be fully engaged up to the time of leaving and consequently I had to give up any hope of making an appointment with you. I understand from Mr. Baglin, however, that you propose visiting Canberra very shortly and although I indicated to him that it would be more convenient to me if you came next week, I now learn that General Chauvel will not be visiting here this week. It would therefore have been quite all right for you to keep to your original intention, but of course I realise that it is too late now for you to change your plans. I shall therefore look forward to seeing you some time next week.

I am glad that the photographs of the Shellal Mosaic which you required were satisfactory and that you can now proceed with your drawings. Professor Trendall, in a letter which I received the other day, was enquiring as to the progress you were making. He would like an indication of when you expect to complete the coloured drawings.

I shall be interested to learn the results of the further experiments with the gold leaf and doubtless you will advise me on this point when you arrive in Canberra.

Dear Professor Trendall,

I am forwarding to you under separate cover a collection of the photographs which I have had taken in the hope that they would meet your requirements for our publication. Unfortunately, it is very difficult to obtain satisfactory photographs of any large section of the mosaic. This you will realise is due to the need to take the photographs at an angle, with the result that a number of them are distorted.

I will be glad if you will kindly examine these prints and let me know if they meet your requirements. If better photographs are required of the larger sections it will be necessary for us to erect special scaffolding and to take photographs of small sections, subsequently joining them together. I am rather doubtful, however, if these would be entirely satisfactory.

There is one photograph to come and that is the print which you require of the coloured drawing. I hope to be able to send this to you within the next day or so.

Yours sincerely,

P.S. Since dictating this letter I have discovered that you also require a photograph of the Gaza section of one of our Syrian maps. I will attend to this and send it forward to you with the photograph of the drawing.

Dear Mr. Waller,

Many thanks for your letter of 12th November in regard to the Shellal Mosaic and the treatment of the Hall of Memory. In this communication I shall deal only with the Shellal Mosaic and will reply to you on the treatment of the Hall of Memory in a separate communication.

I am sorry there has been some delay in supplying you with the photographs which you require. You will, however, readily appreciate that I have had a pretty strenuous time during the past few weeks and even though the official opening took place nearly a fortnight ago, the work has not decreased to any extent. This has largely been due to the need to deal with several important matters which had to be submitted to Cabinet. However, I am beginning to see daylight and will arrange for a photographer to come here tomorrow and take photographs of what you require. Prints should be available during the course of this week and I shall see these are sent to you without delay.

Dear Professor Trendall,

I must apologise for this belated acknowledgment of your letters of the 6th and 17th November. I am sure, however, that you will appreciate my difficulties during the last few weeks.

The ceremony, I think, passed off most satisfactorily and visitors were very impressed with it and with our collections.

I am afraid that I have rather let you down about the photographs. My time has been taken up since the opening with several important matters involving Cabinet submissions and in generally clearing up and other important work. I am not suggesting, of course, that the Shellal Mosaic book is not important, but I have had to take the files as I came to them.

I have, however, now arranged for the photographer to come here on Monday and during the course of next week, I should be able to have the photographs you require.

Mr. Napier Waller also wants a number to assist him in his drawings and these will be fixed up at the same time.

Again many thanks for your good wishes.

Dear Mr. Heyes,

I should be very grateful if you could let me have the photographs for which I asked as soon as possible as I have now reached a stage in the preparation of the descriptive booklet beyond which I cannot go until I have the photographs before me.

All our family listened in to the broadcast last Tuesday and thought it was extremely impressive.

I also think very well of the Guide to the Museum which combines utility with dignity in a most satisfactory way.

I sincerely trust that you are either enjoying or about to enjoy something of a rest from your labours.

Yours sincerely,

A. D. Trendall

Dear Mr. Heyes,

I saw the directors of the Medical Publishing Company and had them set me up a few pages of type that seemed suitable for the text of the booklet. I enclose herewith three specimens.

(1) is 12 point, (2) is 12 point on 14 point, (3) is 10 point on 12 point. My own preference is I think for (1). This is practically exactly the type we use for the Roman and Hellenic journals in England and it fits in extremely well with text illustrations. The only suggestion for improvement that I would make is that the footnotes go into the smaller 8 point type. These will merely consist of references and notes and will not, I presume, be read by the ordinary public.

There should be no difficulty at all in providing five plates, two in colour, and about eight text illustrations for £225 or less, which should leave an ample margin on the basis we worked out last week. This will, I think, produce a most satisfactory publication.

I have fortunately been able, through the good offices of our Public Library, to secure copies of one or two of the more important works for which I had been looking and have thus been able to verify some doubtful points. All being well, I hope to send you the typescript of the text next week.

I am sorry that the fuss over the Chairs of Law here has delayed me considerably this week as I have been much involved in the preparation of various documents in connection with these appointments.

AUSTRALIAN WAR MEMORIAL AWM2022.7.548

The Halstead Press are sending me to-day the proof of the Shellal Mosaic card and I shall correct it and return it to them at once. I was able to make most of the textual corrections by telephone before the type was set and so there should not be many further alterations necessary.

I hope that the Guide Book will prove satisfactory. Miss Dettmann seems a little worried about one or two stylistic alterations that have been made but these should not present undue difficulties.

With every good wish for the opening day and again my very best thanks for your great kindness to me and to my mother.

Yours sincerely,

H.D. Trendall

ROUGH PROOF ONLY OF TYPE FACE

During the course of the various expeditions of the Board for Anthropological Research at the University of Adelaide, first hand observations have been made on the use of stone implements among the natives of the Western Desert and every opportunity has been taken of recording the first hand observations of their uses of stone by means of cinematograph films, still photographs and notes. Many of the film observations have already been published in the library of expedition film records (now numbering about seventy reels).

During the 1935 expedition to the Warburton Range in Western Australia, interesting observations were made on the Ngadadjara use of large chopping implements fashioned from roughly trimmed cores by removing a few secondary flakes from one face. An unfortunate accident caused the spoiling of the film record and renders particularly desirable a descriptive account of the use of this form of hand-chopper. They are used in the felling of trees, in the opening up of hollows in logs in the search for opossums, etc., and in the cutting of roots encountered underground. The natives fashion these large hand-axes by trimming an edge on any large flat boulder of suitable texture and dimensions.

A hand-axe whose mode of use was studied in detail was made from a tabular block of felspar porphyry. In felling a red-gum sapling the hand-axe-user held the trimmed stone in his right hand and employing as a working edge the small section of the obtuse edge shown in the lower right-hand corner of Plate E, chopped away at the wood ; he worked all round the trunk with a slightly downward cutting motion, nibbling his way through the wood. The sapling was six inches in diameter (bark included) and the aborigine cut through it sufficiently to fell it in two minutes. The segment of the trunk was afterwards brought back to Adelaide and is preserved in the Museum collection as a sample of what is possibly one of the most elementary fashions ever practised of tree felling by stone-using methods. The only other method practised by the Ngadadjara and other desert tribes is the burning through of the base of the tree with a fire placed on the windward side.

Plate F shows the man engaged in the work. The broken block or boulder of felspar porphyry was selected from the dry bed of the creek near Warupuju Soak, and was fashioned on the spot. Care was taken in the selection of the block and the trimming of the edge to fashion an implement was done by holding it in both hands and by swinging it between the legs in such a fashion that a glancing blow was struck against a larger boulder lying in the creek bed. Heavy blows removed large flakes, lighter ones removed several finer ones. A method of rough trimming similar to this

(3) ROUGH PROOF ONLY OF TYPE FACE

Mr. Tindale stated in the discussion which followed that the finding of cylindro-conical stones in the area described by Mr. Hossfeld extends considerably the known distribution, for these had previously only been found in definite areas in or about the Darling River Basin. Two types of stone were fairly numerous. Those with incisions were usually found in the Darling Basin and in the areas south and west, and those without markings in the north and east.

Some of the stones have cupped bases and others flat; some have the cornute shape, suggesting buffalo horns. The stones are usually found on the surface, but occasionally have been found buried with human remains. They are evidently archæological in nature, and the significance of these stones has been entirely forgotten by the present generation of aborigines.

Mr. Tindale then exhibited several stone implements which had been found by Mr. Noone near Morphett Vale in the Kunkar limestone formation beneath a more recent camp site.

These implements appeared to be of the same type as those of the Tartangan beds of the Murray River, whereas the surface implements were all Murundian.

As a second exhibit Mr. N. B. Tindale discussed the distribution of edge-ground axes in Australia, pointing out that they did not extend to the south-western third of the continent, and that the reason for the absence of these implements was probably a functional one. He indicated that the principal use for the stone tomahawk was in the chipping out of nests of stingless bees (Trigona) from hollows in the trunks of trees. Another use was in the making of bark canoes. The making of the smaller implements such as spears with the aid of the axe was a secondary use.

If the distribution in Australia of the stingless Trigona bees and the limits of the distribution of bark canoes in south-eastern Australia are plotted together on a map, the limits of their combined distribution are shown to correspond almost exactly with that of the edge-ground axe.

Since neither bees nor canoes were to be had in the deserts enclosing south-western Australia, the idea of the axe never came to be adopted there and so there was a barrier to the spread of the new cultural item. In the extreme south-western part of Australia the natives did use a form of axe, but this was made after an older tradition, from two pieces of flaked stone of definite form, set in an opal ball of gum and mounted on a handle. This more ancient south-western type of axe bears witness to an earlier stage in the evolution of the axe. The use of this older axe seems to have died out in many parts of Australia, in some places because it was no longer required, and in other places because it has been superseded by the newer edge-ground types. Stone flakes have been found as archæological remains on some old sites in South Australia and appear to have belonged to flaked axes of the ancient type.

Mr. Hossfeld, Mr. Edquist, Prof. Cleland, Dr. Campbell and Mr. Stapleton participated in an interesting discussion.

Mr. T. D. Campbell introduced the subject of the origin of the wheel.

Bearing surface shall be at right angles to the axis of the threaded hole within a tolerance of 2 deg. f nuts or smaller and 1 deg. for nuts larger than 1 inch.

Minimum radius under head of bolts for sizes from $\frac{1}{4}$ inch to $\frac{1}{2}$ inch shall be 0·01 inch.

Dear Mr Heyes

Thank you for your letter of 4th Nov with enclosed cheque; and at the same time I must acknowledge a communication from Mr Bayley. The mosaic illustrations are well forward and as soon as I receive the photographs of the "Hare & Hound" and "Head of Lion Chalice & Tigress" I can complete the detailed Tessera effect - Then I will go to Canberra & check the whole set against the Shellal - The first thing at Canberra would be the mounting of the canvas on board. If Mr Pearl could be available with some "masonite" board he would be of great assistance. The sizes would be three sheets:-
44" x 40" 46 x 23" and 44 x 23"

Enclosed is a communication to Mr Oldfield. I have also spoken to Mr Stagg and he is posting some more gold to Mr Schramko. I hope you had great weather on the 11th and that everything kept in step with the clock.

Best wishes
yours sincerely

Dear Mr. Heyes,

My plans are now fixed. I shall come up on Tuesday morning's plane and leave again on Thursday afternoon. There was some difficulty at first over the plane booking for the return journey and that is why I have had to delay so long in letting you know my exact movements.

My mother is coming up with me for the trip and is looking forward to seeing something of Australia's capital city as so far she has not been out of Sydney.

I am very sorry not to be able to come to the opening ceremony on November 11th, but our examinations begin here on the 10th and it is not possible to get away during that period.

I hope to bring with me a preliminary draft of at least a considerable part of the booklet, and we can also discuss the problem of its publication together.

With every good wish and much looking forward to seeing you again on Tuesday,

Yours sincerely,

A.D. Trendall

Dear Mr Heyes

Everything now appears to be in order with the shipments of the glass from London. The documents posted to me recently have relieved me of any anxiety

Your letter of 11th Oct suggests that it will soon be time for a review of the shellal mosaic - I doubt if I can get to Canberra before the 27th Oct, as a few necessary things will hold me until that time.

To save two trips to Canberra it may be possible for me to get the drawings done for Professors Trendall's book in the one trip. This can only be possible if you could send me photographs (good details) of the selected subjects: the peacock, the guinea-fowl & flamingo. I could do an amount of preparation on the canvases before going to Canberra.

A special trip & the time required for such detailed drawings would make for rather costly illustrations. These photographs would be required within the next few days.

Yours sincerely Napier Waller

Dear Mr. Heyes,

Thank you for your letter of October 7th. We will discuss the problem of the booklet on my arrival in Canberra. I have several suggestions for cutting down the expense. One would be a slight shortening of the text to reduce it to twelve pages, and the abolition of the figures from the text, and another suggestion is that the large coloured plate might be omitted in favour of a reproduction of a first-class photograph of the whole mosaic, leaving only a couple of details for coloured reproduction. This would result in a very substantial saving. Also one might consider the possibility of selling separate reproductions of the coloured plate at sixpence or so each and making post-cards of the coloured details for sale at threepence. This would probably bring in quite a fair revenue for little additional expense, and at the same time meet a popular demand. These are points, however, which are better discussed in detail when we meet.

Meantime I am continuing the preparation of the text and hope to have a more or less complete draft with me when I come to Canberra. We can then consider its length and the advisability of shortening it or not as well as the most advantageous use of the photographic material at our disposal.

I am glad that Miss Dettmann is proving so satisfactory and look forward to seeing you all again in just over a fortnight. I will give you exact details of my arrival later in case there should be any difficulty over securing plane accommodation.

Dear Professor Trendall,

Many thanks for your letter of 3rd October with which you enclosed quotations submitted by the Halstead Press Pty. Ltd., and the Australasian Medical Publishing Co. Ltd. Although I have no very definite view on the matter, I think I prefer the dummy submitted by the Halstead Press. The whole question of the book can, however, be discussed with you when in Canberra. I note you propose to fly here on Tuesday, 28th and return on Thursday evening. This will be quite satisfactory from our point of view and I shall look forward to meeting you again.

On the subject of the price of the book I am a little worried because we shall probably have to make a fairly high payment to Napier Waller for the drawings. We will also have to distribute a fair number of free copies and although the War Memorial itself is not greatly concerned from the financial point of view, the auditors may have something to say if we produce a publication and sell it at a loss. The only alternative, if we are to overcome the difficulty, would be to increase the price or use only the art paper for the illustrations. The auditors are here at the moment with us and I shall discuss the question with them so that when you visit here we will have the whole facts before us in reaching a decision,

I must apologise for not previously acknowledging the descriptions which you forwarded for the Shellal Mosaic and the Palmyrene Lady and the Recruiting Sign. I found these most interesting and exactly what was wanted.

Yours sincerely,

P.S. Since dictating the above I received a further communication from General Wilson, copy of which is enclosed. I am holding negatives until you come to Canberra.

Dear Mr. Heyes,

I hope the descriptive notes on the monuments arrived safely and were satisfactory. I have now succeeded in obtaining the revised estimates for the booklet from the Australasian Medical Publishing Company, Ltd., and the Halstead Press Pty. Ltd.

The quotation for 4,000 copies works out at £215 from the former and £200 from the latter, for 5,000 copies £230 from each. It seems therefore as though, whichever estimate we choose, it will be difficult to sell the work at one shilling per copy and make a profit, unless an edition of five thousand is published instead of four as previously contemplated.

As to the make-up of the books, I think on the whole I prefer the style of the Halstead Press, though that of the Medical Publishing Company would probably prove quite satisfactory, and I am told that by using art paper for the outside cover and printing the coloured block direct upon it instead of pasting prints of it on is really a much more satisfactory process. I enclose with the Medical Publishing Company's sample booklet a copy of the Museum Magazine which they publish to give some idea of how such a coloured cover appears. Of course we would not use the blue-green surround that they use on the magazine. I should be very glad to have your opinion on the make-up of the two booklets and their general appearance, though I imagine there will be no need to finalise arrangements until I come to Canberra in just over three weeks' time.

If it is convenient for you I propose to fly up on Tuesday 28th and return by air on the evening of Thursday 30th. I am thinking of bringing my mother with me for the trip as she has never seen Canberra, in which case perhaps it would be best for us to stay at the Hotel Canberra if room can be found there at that time.

AUSTRALIAN WAR MEMORIAL AWM2022.7.548

I am going ahead now with the composition of the booklet on the assumption that Lovell-Shore discovered the mosaic and am adding a footnote on other opinions that have been expressed.

I am afraid I cannot manage a trip to Coolah to see Major Arnott's copy, but I can only hope that it contains nothing not already known to us.

With best wishes,

Yours sincerely,

Dear Professor Trendall,

Many thanks for your letter of 25th September from which I was glad to learn that the notes prepared by General Wilson will prove of assistance to you. It is also pleasing to learn that you expect to be in a position at an early date to supply us with the inscription for the Palmyrene Lady and the Shellal Mosaic. We require these rather quickly so that we can not only include the reference to them in the guide book but also have the description printed so that it may be displayed on the wall.

I was interested to learn the result of your interview in Melbourne with Napier Waller and will now take steps to obtain photographs which you require. I am afraid, however, that some delay may occur in supplying these to you as we have not yet been able to dispense with the scaffolding.

Probably at the end of this week work on the mosaic will be completed and we should then be able to obtain the services of an expert photographer and meet your requirements.

We shall look forward to seeing you again in Canberra on Tuesday, 28th October.

With best wishes.

Yours sincerely,

Dear Mr. Heyes,

Thank you for your letter of the 24th and the photographs from General Wilson. These will be very useful to me and I am grateful to you for securing them for me and also for the information that Corporal Lovell-Shore was responsible for its discovery. This will enable me to fill in the blanks at the beginning of my article, and I hope to let you have the descriptive text for printing in two or three days' time.

I have now got Dr. Thatcher's translation of the Palmyrene inscription, and so I will sent up the notes on the Palmyrene Lady as well, and that I think will complete the descriptive notes for the antiquities section.

One small point occurs to me: when the Turkish recruiting sign is mounted on the wall, care should be taken to ensure that it is put right side up. The part with dark letters is the bottom.

I am glad that Miss Dettmann is getting on well with the preparation of the Guide Book and trust she will have no difficulty in completing her work within the specified time.

I saw Mr. Waller in Melbourne and we had a long discussion as to the best way of publishing the mosaic in colours. We were entirely agreed that the main plate should contain the whole mosaic, and Mr. Waller is going to prepare a drawing in colour four times the size of the finished block. As to the second plate, we agreed to put two rectangular pictures upon it; the one containing the peacock at the bottom left-hand corner, and the other containing the two left-hand medallions in the fifth row up, the guinea-fowl and the flamingo, as these seem to be not only very well preserved but excellent as regards colour.

They should make an extremely fine plate.

As to detailed photographs: Mr. Waller would like large photographs of the medallions mentioned, and I should like smaller photographs together with ones of (a) the mosaic as a whole, probably taken in two parts; (b) the central part of the mosaic; (c) the following medallions in addition to those already mentioned: bird-cage, chalice, lion, basket of fruit, tiger and goat. From these I will make a suitable selection for publication.

I have had a further long consultation with the Medical Publishing Company setting out the exact requirements for the publication, and they are preparing a dummy and an estimate. I propose to get in touch with Mr. Kirwan at the earliest opportunity and submit to him the revised specifications and get a similar estimate from him. I will send all to you early next week, together with the descriptive notes for printing.

All being well, I shall hope to come up to Canberra on Tuesday October 28th for a couple of days to finalise things, and I shall look forward very much to seeing you again then.

Best regards,

Yours sincerely,

A. D. Trendall

From Napier Waller.

On Friday last I again had the pleasure of meeting Prof.. Trendall. I have seen the "dummy"of the proposed publication. It should be an attractive little work. We discussed the subjects for and the sizes of the colour plates. I have understood that photos will be taken of details of the mosaic and that I can have photos of those particular details which we have selected for illustration. The subjects for the detail block will be the "Guinea-fowl", "Flamingo" and "Peacock" and of course, a photo of the whole for the double sized plate.

Dear Mr. Heyes,

Thank you for your letter of the 20th August. I quite understand your position with regard to the quotations for the printing of the pamphlet and I will get into touch with the Halstead Press of Surry Hills at once and secure an estimate from them. I will also consult with the University as to other possible publishers and bring with me the results of my inquiries next Monday morning.

I do not think that it will be necessary to reserve the paper through the Medical Publishing Company, as I should not imagine the demand for such a high grade expensive art paper was extremely great at the present moment, and it seems to me that any reservation through that firm might lead to difficulties should we ultimately decide not to place the final order with them.

I arranged my plane journey here at the end of last week and the Sydney office told me that they would be able to book my seat from Canberra to Melbourne on the third, so I asked them to do it in the hope of saving you trouble. I am sorry if you have already been put to some trouble on that account, but I had not realised it would be possible to book that journey here as well. The seat they reserved is number 10 (on ticket number C.16168), so perhaps you could telephone the Canberra agents to inform them of this.

I shall bring the files and other documents with me next week, and if a room is available would be pleased to stay again at the Hotel Ainslie which is so conveniently situated for the Museum.

Looking forward to seeing you next Monday,

Yours sincerely,
A. D. Trendall.

P.S. Letters to the University are better addressed Sydney and not Camperdown. The latter delays their arrival about a day.

Dear Professor Trendall,

I was interested to receive your two letters of the 18th August and to learn the result of your enquiries which you have made of the Australian Medical Publishing Company in regard to our proposed publication.

While I am determined that the publication should be of high quality, it has occurred to me that in accordance with Government practice it would be advisable to obtain a quotation from another firm. In making this suggestion I do not wish to convey the impression that we are unduly worried about the amount of £250 given as the maximum sum necessary for 4,000 copies. I am anxious that the firm with whom the order is placed should be one in whom you have every confidence. Moreover, I quite appreciate that unless the publication is well produced it would be better not to do it at all. On the other hand, as a Government Department we have to watch expenditure and to take steps to ensure that we are obtaining the lowest price consistent, of course, with securing the required quality job. If, therefore, you have the time and can obtain another quotation, this would assist me, particularly in dealing with the auditors.

I do not know if you have been in touch with the Halstead Press of 9-19 Nickson Street, Surry Hills, who are actually a subsidiary company of Angus & Robertsons. Mr. Kirwan of that firm would, I feel sure, promptly submit an estimate.

With regard to the paper submitted by the Medical Publishing Company, this appears to me to be ideal for the purpose. It would, I think, pay to ask the Halstead Press or some other firm to call on you before committing ourselves to the Medical Publishing Company. You may find that other firms, particularly the Halstead Press, have fairly large stocks of paper and among it may be a sufficient quantity of the necessary quality to provide for our publication. On the other hand, if you are particularly keen on this paper you could arrange for the Medical Publishing Company to reserve the necessary quantity for us on the understanding that if the order was not eventually placed with them we would purchase the paper.

With regard to the colour drawing of the mosaic, I have examined this and find that it bears the following inscription at the bottom "F. L. Mc Farlane N.Z.E. /17".

We have tentatively booked a seat for you on the plane leaving Canberra for Melbourne on the 3rd September. Before a definite booking can be made, however, it will be necessary, as you surmised, for us to have the number of your ticket. In addition, I understand the local agent also requires to know your weight.

I hope that anything I have said above in regard to the placing of the order for the printing of the publication will not in any way discourage you. I must confess, however, that I thought the price of the Medical Publishing Company a little high, not that I was worried about the initial outlay. What did worry me, however, was the fact that to sell this publication to visitors to the museum we would have, at cost price, to charge 1/3. We do not wish to make a profit but of course the Commonwealth auditors would raise serious objections to our selling the publication at a loss. I propose to charge the cost price only and to distribute a large number of complimentary copies to other museums. My difficulty is, however, in connection with the copies sold to visitors. 1/3 may seem excessive to them and I was anxious, if possible, to keep the price down to 1/- per copy. I know that the Medical Publishing Company do good work and as that is the first consideration in this publication it may be necessary to place the order with them. I would like, however, to feel satisfied that no other firm could give the same quality work at a price which would enable us to sell the publication at 1/- per copy.

With best wishes,

Yours sincerely,

P.S. You will note that I have stated above that the signature on the bottom of the colour drawing of the mosaic is "F. L. McFarlane". Actually the printing is very small and difficult to read but the first initial appears to be an F and not a T.

Dear Mr. Heyes,

Since I wrote to you this morning, the Medical Publishing Company advises me that they have found a small stock here in Sydney of pre-war paper of an admirable quality for the plates. It is very similar to that in the volume on Antioch which I showed you here. I am enclosing a small sample and if you think it desirable for me to ask them to reserve the supply for our use, would you please let me know as soon as possible?

If we use this paper the cost will not exceed the maximum of £250 mentioned in my previous letter.

Yours sincerely,

A. D. Trendall

Dear Mr. Heyes,

Thank you for your letter and the information it contained which will be very useful.

I have gone into the question of publication with the Australasian Medical Publishing Company, whose director came over to see me the other day. For an edition of about four thousand in octavo size with one double page colour plate, one full page colour plate and four pages of half-tone plates the total cost would work out at between £200 and £250 according to the quality of paper selected for the text and plates. The samples that were shown me seemed quite satisfactory and the specimens of their colour plate work looked admirable. They assured me that given a first-class illustration to copy they would be able to make an equally good reproduction of it. However, we can discuss details of this on September lst, when I hope to be in Canberra

Meantime I should be very grateful if you would look at the colour drawing of the mosaic and tell me whether the signature at the bottom of it is that of T. MacFarlane or not. This is of some importance as I notice correspondence in the files which mentioned the neglect of the name of this New Zealander as the draftsman of the first important reproduction of the mosaic.

With best wishes and looking forward to seeing you in a fortnight's time,

Yours sincerely,
A. D. Trendall

P.S. As soon as I have booked my passage in the plane, I will let you know the number of the ticket and should be very grateful if you could arrange to book me a seat on to Melbourne for Wednesday September 3rd.

"I am interested that Professor Trendall had visited you and is so interested in the Shellal. I hope I may be able to meet him with you at some time. The idea of a published book on the mosaic, seems very good, and Professor Trendall with his wealth of archaeological knowledge, could spread around the Shellal with a lot of interesting ramifications. Withal, the Shellal mosaic is probably the most interesting and most representative period relic we have in Australia and will attract a great many learned people to Canberra. "

Memorandum

For Head Teachers.

It has been brought under notice that the Board of Management of the Australian War Memorial has available for distribution to schools a number of reproductions of the recent portrait of His Majesty, King George, painted by Mr. John Berrie, R.C.A., and to be hung in the Australian War Museum.

Head Teachers can be assured of the cordial approval of this Department if they decide to commemorate the forthcoming Jubilee of the King's reign by hanging in an honoured place in their schools an up-to-date portrait of His Majesty.

I am sure that members of School Committees and of Mothers' Clubs will co-operate whole-heartedly with school staffs in raising the necessary funds should it be decided to purchase one of these reproductions.

dated 6th June, 1941.

During Professor Trendall's visit, he recommended that in view of the value and the importance of the mosaic, a publication should be prepared of its history. He said he would be pleased to undertake this for the War Memorial but it would of course be necessary for the War Memorial to bear the cost of publication. We certainly owe it to Australia and to institutions throughout the world to provide full information on the mosaic and this can best be done by means of an illustrated publication. Professor Trendall indicated that for the publication it would be necessary for him to communicate with authorities overseas, and as a first step in this direction, I have undertaken to provide him with certain photographs. His first requirements in this connection are: 6 copies of photographs A2068, J2812, 6 photographs of Briggs' drawing which was published in the Burlington Magazine of May, 1918.
