"WOUNDED"

Re Lt.L.Waterhouse, 43rd Battn. He died on 22nd inst., not 23-7-18 as I wrote yesterday. He died of wounds and pneumonia. He was badly wounded in the back, but it seems to have been pneumonia which was the actual cause of his death. He was delirious, with only some moments of consciousness for the last two days. The Sister in charge of the ward has written full particulars to his wife. He was buried at Brookwood Cemetery. The doctors were rather puzzled about some aspects of his case, and so a post mortem was held, but no other cause for his death was found.
