James Manson: Dominic College 1979 - 1983

James Manson had a highly successful career in the Australia Football League (AFL) from 1985 – 1995. He played 120 senior games with the Collingwood Football Club (1985-1992), during which time he kicked 106 goals and was in the team which won the AFL Premiership in 1990, ending thirty-two years of losses for the Club. In the same year, he won the Lefroy Medal as best player in Tasmania's historic victory over Victoria in the State of Origin match played at North Hobart Football Oval. On leaving Collingwood, he went on to play a further 47 matches for the Fitzroy Football Club (1993-1995), where he kicked 20 goals. His career highlights include several notable achievements from his younger days: Best and Fairest in the Tasmanian U/15 Shell Cup Team; membership of the U/16 State Schoolboys' Team; Best and Fairest Medal in the Teal Cup. He became a successful businessman in Victoria on his retirement.
