As a teenager, Jamie McHugh won the Tasmanian Motorcross title. He relocated to Queensland in 1980 and had success at both state and national level racing road cars. He then changed to speedway competition. In the 1995/1996 season he was Rookie of the Year in the Queensland V8 Super Sedan Series. Many successes followed, including the NSW and Queensland Championships; three consecutive wins in the International Firecracker event in Brisbane; selection in Australian teams; and victories in many individual events around Australia. In 2004 he was voted the best sedan driver in Australia by Speedway magazine. In 1982, Jamie began his own business, Miami Smash Repairs, which has become the leader in prestige vehicle repairs on the Gold Coast. Awards have included 'best large panel shop in Queensland' (and runner up nationally) and a Gold Coast Business Excellence Award. Jamie represents the repair industry in many forums and employs and trains many future tradespeople.
