Hemico Incorporated controls its quality and manufacturing process by using its own engineering team and machine shop, in addition to selecting and closely monitoring quality outside services.

Hemico Incorporated is located 45 minutes north of Boston by car, and is adjacent to the Manchester-Boston Regional Airport (MHT). MHT is a hub for UPS and FedEx, in addition to supporting scheduled service by several major airlines, which allows for excellent support of AOG and expedited shipments.

Hemico Incorporated offers truck and courier services to accommodate customers throughout North America.

Regional and Corporate Aircraft Parts Support

Hemico Incorporated's FAA Approved PMA parts are superior or equal to OEM quality and performance, undergoing a thorough design and FAA review process. The parts are then manufactured under an FAA approved quality system, within the oversight of our FAA Manufacturing Inspection District Office. Each PMA part is released by an in-house DMIR with a Form 8130.

Hemico Incorporated offers an affordable and high quality PMA development process in support of equipment on many regional airliners, corporate and general aviation aircraft.

Whether you need to improve the bottom line, or require a viable alternative to slow or non-existent OEM parts availability, consider Hemico Incorporated your PMA developer and supplier.

Hemico Incorporated maintains a large inventory of our quality PMA Parts to ensure you have the parts and savings you need when you need it. We have Authorized Hemico Distributors throughout North America and Europe (see www.hemicoinc.com for details).
