PRESIDENT'S REPORT

Happy New Year to all FDA members!

With a membership of more than 100 people from around Australia and overseas, FDA is doing very well. Don't forget to renew your membership for 2026 so that you can continue to receive: 6 issues of "Footnotes"; discounts for live FDA Workshops and FDA resources; free FDA zoom workshops; and free advertising both in "Footnotes" and on FDA's website.

FDA's committee is already working towards another exciting program of workshops for 2026, both virtual and in-person. The teacher training program is also going through a reappraisal and there will be news about changes during the year ahead. With representatives from three states and one territory, the committee is expanding and sharing great ideas. As meetings are now held via zoom, any FDA member from around Australia can become a committee member so I encourage anyone interested to make enquiries.

The 2026 AGM will be held at 2pm on Sunday 22 February AEDT followed by the first committee meeting of the year. It would be good to have representation from all around Australia!

As I depart from the committee, I wish to thank fellow committee members for their thoughtful participation during last year's meetings and wish continued success for FDA in the coming year.

Lynette Aitchison

EDITOR'S COMMENT

Once again it seems that the New Year is beginning with dreadful tragedies due to the raging fires and floods in many Australian States. Even in my suburb a house has been severely damaged by a falling ghost gum crashing onto the roof during the winds following an extremely hot day. Our summer period continues with warnings to swimmers and drivers not taking precautions or following directions.

Somehow, we need to leave all the uncertainty going on around the world behind us and hope that folk dancers start this year with a positive outlook. Get together with all your fellow class members, catch up with all the latest news and join in the dancing with a spring in your step.

Trying to put your mind into dancing gear might be difficult at first, but if you work at it you will succeed.

Don't forget the AGM on zoom (see below), the In-person Workshop at Redfern on 28 March (page 3). Also the proposed zoom workshop with Nina Kavardjikova (page 5).

FDA PRESENTS IN-PERSON NORDIC FOLKDANCE WORKSHOP AT REDFERN WITH ROGER GIFFORD

Venue - Redfern Town Hall, 73 Pitt Street, Redfern

Date - Saturday, 28 March 2026

Dancing from 10.30am to 2.30pm

Cost - FDA Members $20, Non members $25

Morning Tea provided - BYO Lunch

Roger and Christine Gifford have run the Canberra Nordic Folkdance Group - sCanDans – since 2000 presenting many performances and workshops in Australia.

Their repertoire embraces traditional and relatively contemporary dances from Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Finland and Iceland and also a few from Estonia.

As pupils, they have attended Nordic dance workshops in Denmark, Sweden, USA and UK. Roger is also a regular caller for the Canberra Contra Club.

The workshop will focus on easily learned Nordic dances, traditional and fairly recently composed, done in circles of couples, square sets, longways couples' sets, and lines. A few more challenging couples' turning dances that feature strongly in those countries will be illustrated by Roger and Christine and potentially taught if the majority so wish

PRIVACY AND PHOTOGRAPHY AT CLASSES, EVENTS AND WORKSHOPS

FDA recently received a query about our policy for photography and videoing at classes.

FDA doesn't have policies, however, drawing on the experience and knowledge of committee members, this issue was discussed at length at our last meeting. It was confirmed during our meeting that photos from FDA workshops are only published in 'Footnotes' or placed on our website and Facebook page with permission from both the photographer and all individuals in the photograph. Currently, a record of members who have opted out of photography is maintained by FDA, although most members have consented to being photographed.

Beginning with the December 2025 Footnotes, FDA's membership form has been changed to include an opt in/out for photography. The committee also agreed that asking for photo permissions at the start of events or workshops is the most practical approach.

FDA respects the privacy of individuals. We hope this information provides some clarity but would also be happy to hear how other classes and groups approach this issue.

PHOTOS AT FDA EVENTS

FDA membership now assumes you consent to appear in photos used for FDA's website or Footnotes.

To withdraw consent, please email secretary.folkdanceaustralia@gmail.com

A BIOGRAPHY OF MARGARET WALKER OAM

Margaret Walker and Andre van de Plas developed the first Teacher Training Course, and some graduates of that course decided to form FDA, so she is a significant figure in FDA's history. I've had the great privilege of writing her life story, with the support of her son Kim Walker AM, CEO of NAISDA Dance College at Gosford.

Born in 1920, Margaret didn't begin dancing until she was 20, when she joined the "Ballet for Business Girls" class at the Borovansky Ballet in Melbourne. Her political views were left-wing; she joined the Communist Party of Australia and also the New Theatre in Melbourne, where the plays were locally written and addressed social issues in the working class. Walker became the "dance person" at New Theatre and formed a group where she trained the members in classical ballet and folk character dance. These dancers quickly became Unity Dance Group, and their practice was to go to factories around Melbourne during lunch hour to perform for the workers. In 1951 they travelled to Berlin for the World Youth Festival (a global Communist event) and as a result, ASIO was on the job ("Reds under the bed!!!").... but you'll have to read the biography to learn more.

After moving to Sydney in the 1950s, Walker started Roseville Dance Centre, a ballet studio where multiple types of dance classes were offered and eventually (in 1967), another folk character ensemble called Dance Concert, featuring a number of past and present FDA members and workshop teachers. Dance Concert gave public performances and often, there was the opportunity for audience members to also participate in a few easy dances. A dance program in state and private schools began and quickly spread across Sydney suburbs. In the 1980s, Walker became the dance consultant for Blacktown City Council. Again, she set up studio classes, formed another performing ensemble (Blacktown Dancers) and taught thousands of local school children. She also choreographed the folk dance segment (yes, there was one!!) in the Opening Ceremony of the 1982 Commonwealth Games.

Walker was involved in forming the Association of Australian Dancers (defunct), the National Aboriginal and Islander Skills Development Association (NAISDA) and the Australian Association of Dance Education (now Ausdance National). She remained active across multiple dance genres, taught in every state and territory, bridged the gap between professional and amateur dance and understood that both performance and participation are important ways for people to engage with dance. In this article, I've only scratched the surface of what she achieved in her 50+ year career in dance.

Margaret always believed that folk dance is the ideal way for novice dancers—especially young children—to be introduced to dance. She made it her business to know and work with many diasporic community dance groups. Above all, Walker believed that folk dance is an ideal way to bring people together and promote harmony.

I've been working on this project on and off for about five years, with most of the work being done in the past two years when I finished ploughing through her 85 boxes of materials in the National Library of Australia and interviewed over forty people (the oldest being 98 now!!) who knew and worked with Walker. But really, it's been more fun than work to tell the story of Margaret Walker, described by one person I interviewed as "the godmother of folk dancing in Australia". Now, I'm looking for a publisher...watch this space.
