154	156	158	160	162	164	166	168	170	172	174	176	178	180	178	176	174	172	170	168	166	164	162	160	158	156	154	152	150	148
	In this stylized map of the Pacific, the 180- degree meridian and the equator are seen as red lines that intersect each other. When the sun passes overhead and sinks over the horizon on the sixth day of the week, ALL nations east of the 180-degree meridian											s e e L n	Mi	dway	Islan	d							H	laı	νa welcome in the same Sabbath. It makes no sense for one nation to pull itself out and observe a different Sabbath to its neighbours.											d										K	iriti	mat	i Is
									Tara	wa														•
					Naur	U .										Ka	anton	ls. (Kiriba	eti)
	Solom	on Is	lands							Tuva	lu
															Wal	lis	San	noa .	. Am	Samo	oa
o							Vanu	latu					Fiji				3 330	Nic	ue	Par	intop	ra ra						. 1	Tahiti
Ustra					N	lew (Caledo	nia								Tor	ga			Kal	roton	Ra
													NZ																