The Queensland Medical Orchestra and Choir is comprised of the medical community, our allied health, nursing and clerical colleagues, family and friends. Our organisation not only provides a creative outlet for health professionals, but unearths some amazing musical talents hidden behind busy medical careers. It also creates opportunities for our group to raise funds and awareness for local charities. We perform three concerts a year. All performers, administrative and support staff are volunteers, so that all proceeds from each concert are donated to selected charities. An afternoon at our concert promises fantastic music, and great community. To find out more, visit us at:
