

KNOW THE NEXT STEP

WORKSHOP DAY FOR LEADERS AND ASPIRANTS

Friday 21st May 2021 - 9:00am - 2:30pm

Contemporary Learning Hub - Meridan State College

The Contemporary Learning Hub is proud to be hosting the Know the Next Step Workshop Day. This high quality professional development experience will support participants to develop a deep understanding of how learner agency can be developed through the implementation of effective feedback processes in our schools. Participants will also explore how current and emerging digital and assistive technologies are being used to create inclusive learning tasks and environments.

Workshop participants will have the opportunity to:

- Participate in the Feedback for Learning Morning Masterclass with Dr Cam Brooks. This Masterclass will provide an insight into the current research around feedback for learning and will share strategies for delivering effective student feedback, and implementing feedback processes at the school and classroom level.
- Develop an understanding of how digital and assistive technologies are being used across P-12 learning contexts to transform content and create inclusive learning experiences. Participants will reflect on what the Australian Curriculum is really asking of students and will develop an understanding of easily accessible technologies that can be used to support learners.
- Engage in an interactive Q&A session with leading growth mindsets and learner agency author and speaker James Anderson. James will unpack strategies you can implement to support students to level up from directed to agile learners. James will be beaming in with us and participants will have access to a pre-recorded session on Learner Agency and the recording of this session for access back in their own school context.
- Connect, network and collaborate with leaders and aspiring leaders from across the region and state.
