

In Santiago there is an excellent representation of Galician catering, in its different formats: from select restaurants, charming eating establishments called 'casas de comidas', octopus restaurant and tempting seafood restaurants, to 'in' establishments, where the chefs of Galicia's new cuisine create trends. And also characteristic grillrooms, and steak houses, the result of the massive emigration of Galicians to Argentina, or typical, busy delicatessen bars, wine bars, and 'tabernas', that serve 'tapas', -small morsels, sometimes succulent, that, in most places, are served free here with your drink- portions, -typical local products normally ordered to be shared among several people- 'pinchos', (small portions for one person) and boards, -of cold meats, cheeses or pâtés.
