YOUR TEAM AT ATLAS AWNINGS

...here to help anyway we can

Atlas Awnings has been designing home improvements, building living systems and leisure areas since 1979. Our extensive product range and considerable buying power enable us to meet the lifestyle needs of all our customers even if they are limited by budget. From our most simple, affordable awnings to our most sophisticated state of the art home additions, all our products are manufactured to the highest standards using only the best materials and building practices.

DESIGN CONSULTANTS

A quick call to our office is all that's required to arrange for one of our creative design consultants to visit you at home for an obligation free consultation. Our consultants are not sales people, they are experienced builders and trades persons with the knowledge to answer any question you may have and to design a product to exactly suit your needs.

PROJECT ADMINISTRATORS

Once you have approved the design and price for your project, our administration team will take care of all the pre-construction tasks and if council approvals are required they will help you through that also. From drafting plans to managing council submissions and organising the site surveys, our aim is to ensure the process is as easy and relaxing for you as possible.

BUILDING SUPERVISOR AND EXPERIENCED BUILDERS

This is the exciting stage when you start to see your new living system come to life. One of our building supervisors will be nominated to be your personal contact to keep you informed of progress every step of the way. Our friendly team of builders are highly experienced and dedicated to service excellence so you can be assured of their total commitment to delivering your building project on time and to the highest possible standards.
