BABY, IT WAS QUITE A DAY!

Barrie Unsworth with his wife Pauline and granddaughter Alice Jaroszewicz enjoyed the fun of the Sun City to Surf. The Sun City to Surf is a premier event for the whole family. The Unsworth family was there and so were the Byrne twins, who slept through the excitement of the finish. Premier Barrie Unsworth wasn't just at the finish line of the Sun City to Surf to present the winning trophy to Brad Camp. He was there also to cheer on his wife, Pauline, running in her third City to Surf. His granddaughter, Alice Jaroszewicz, six-month-old, was wheeled along the 14-kilometer course in a pram by her father. That indicates how over the years the 'Fairfax' organization through the Sun City to Surf race have been able to capture the imagination of the community," he told the crowd on Sunday.

There is little chance that you'll ever see the Premier jogging in the City to Surf, although he admits that his wife had laid out running when they were in Tokyo recently. Pauline Unsworth ran her best time in the run this year of two hours and three minutes. "She will be under the two-hour mark next year," her husband promised. And toddlers Jacky Byrne, 3, and his brother, Billy, 18 months, were pushed to the finish line by dad, Adrian. Jacky fell asleep around the 11 kilometre mark but Billy managed to stay awake only for five kilometres. "That is, they always beat me," Adrian, 35, complained. "They're pushing me next year, Adrian said. He hopes his wife will be along for the run next year with the baby which kept her at the crowd on Sunday.
