WALKS.

Among the characteristics of the people whom you meet
There's nothing that strikes you more, perhaps, than how they use their feet:
There's hardly two alike, you'll find, if you watch from here to Cork,
The little peculiarities in the way the people walk.

There's the slow walk, the tip-toe walk,
I'll see you in half a mo walk,
The slick walk, the quick walk,
I'm feeling up to dick walk,
Select walk, erect walk,
You try it and feel the effect walk,
The proud walk, the bowed walk,
The shove your way through the crowd walk,
The old walk, the bold walk,
The "Squeeze me and keep out the cold" walk,
The fun walk, big gun walk,
The "dot and carry one" walk,
The fat walk, top-hat walk,
The "Mind you don't slip on the mat" walk,
The lawn walk, Cremorne walk,
"D'you know a good cure for a corn" walk,
The hobbley walk, Tom Cobleigh walk,
I'm all on the wibbly wobbly walk,
The cake walk, back ache walk,
I've got to a pub by mistake walk,
The droll walk, top-hole walk,
"I'm airing my muff and stole" walk,
The sea walk, on the spree walk,
"I suffer from housemaid's knee" walk,
The river walk, the shiver walk,
The exercise good for the liver walk,
The bright walk, the light walk,
The carry the baby at night walk,
The strut walk, New Cut walk,
Bertie, the blooming K'Nut walk,
The fit walk, tom-tit walk,
Step twice on a threepenny bit walk,
The dapper walk, the flapper walk,
The stumble and fall on your napper walk,
The band walk, the Strand walk,
The "Gussie let go of my hand" walk,
The bluff walk, the rough walk,
The "Doesn't this hill make you puff" walk,
The slack walk, the tin-tack walk,
"My blouse is undone at the back" walk,
The night walk, the tight walk,
The "Doesn't Miss Jones look a fright" walk,
The prime walk, pantomime walk,
The "Now then, gentlemen, Time" walk,
The shy walk, the dry walk,
The giving the chaps the glad eye walk,
The proper walk, tip-topper walk,
The "Look out Bill here comes a copper" walk,
The jolly walk, the lolly walk,
The Scotch with a splash of polly walk,
The shady walk, the tradey walk,
"I'm going to tea with a lady" walk,
The fop's walk, the slop's walk,
"I'm out for a look at the shops" walk,
The state walk, sedate walk,
The "Don't you sit up if I'm late" walk,
The Town walk, "Miss Brown" walk,
"Shall we go in the Park and sit down" walk,
The pace walk, the grace walk,
"I'm showing a bit of my lace" walk,
The Park walk, the clerk walk,
"I'm afraid to go home in the dark" walk,
The Monday walk, Mrs Grundy walk,
"What time do they open on Sunday?" walk,
The tender walk, East Ender walk,
I fancy I've broke my suspender walk.

There are all sorts and conditions of walks,
You notice in every street,
If you feel a bit pippy just take a run,
For cheap amusement it takes the bun,
Open your eyes and you'll get some fun
Watching the people's feet.
