NARRATIVE - JAN 46.

A full account of the Bde's activities will be found in Appendices 7-10(Newsletters 54-57).

Little more remains to be added. The Bde will vacate the Southport area by 5 Feb 46 and the final disbandment will be conducted under the guidance of 2/5 Aust Armd Regt.

With this disbandment the Australian Armoured Corps will now be represented only by the Aust Armd Car Sqn(Japan)B.C.O.F. We are confident that this Sqn will maintain the proud standards and traditions of the Corps - built up both by those units which fought and by those which served by waiting - until the time comes for the post-war Armoured Corps to carry on the task.

Big Tank Convoy Arrives From Queensland

Twenty-two Matilda and General Grant tanks on transporters arrived at Walgrove Camp yesterday, after a 500-mile journey from Southport, Queensland.

Other convoys of about 20 tanks each, from the 4th Armoured Brigade, will arrive to-day and to-morrow. The tanks will travel by road to Goulburn, then by rail to Bandiana, Victoria, for storage.

In spite of the great weight and length of each transporter and tractor, there were few incidents on the journey. A bridge at Singleton cracked under the 65 tons of a combined tractor and transporter carrying one of the General Grant tanks, and the rest of the tanks were unloaded, and crossed the stream under their own power.

A motor-cyclist went in advance to warn oncoming traffic that the 54ft vehicles were on the road.

The convoy averaged about 12 miles an hour for eight days.

WOMAN INJURED AT DAMAGED CULVERT

TAMWORTH, Thursday. — Shortly after a culvert had collapsed beneath the weight of an army truck and trailer loaded with a tank at Wingen, 12 miles north of Scone, to-day, a car crashed through the hole into a creek.

A passenger, Mrs. Leonora Adams, aged 68, of Belgannon, Wee Waa, was seriously injured. She is in the Scone hospital with a fractured jaw and fractured ribs.

To-night Mr. Abbott, M.P., strongly criticised the army for having allowed a convoy of General Grant tanks to be transported over the State's roads.

He said that he had been informed that hundreds of pounds worth of damage had been done to culverts and bridges.

DUTCH BUYING FOUR SHIPS

(A.A.P. Special Representative.)

BATAVIA, Jan. 10.—Negotiations are almost concluded for the Netherlands Navy to buy from the British Navy four minesweepers, all of the Bathurst class, built in Australia for Britain in 1940 and 1941.

The vessels are the Wollongong, Cairns, Cessnock, and Tamworth. New names have already been approved by Queen Wilhelmina.

BASIC WAGE COURT INQUIRIES

CANBERRA, Thursday.—The Government is prepared to amend Economic Security Regulations to prevent them from interfering with any basic-wage inquiry by any Arbitration Court, State or Federal, it was authoritatively stated to-day.

Basic wage fixation is still regarded as a Court matter, and inquiries ordered by the Government are for the purpose of assisting the Courts with statistical information.

MELBOURNE, Thursday.—Only nine Australian soldiers who are known to have been prisoners-of-war have not been accounted for by the Australian Army's P.O.W. and Record Sections.

These nine were in Germany, but all efforts to trace them have failed, and it is presumed that they have either married German women, or have settled somewhere in former enemy territory.

Armoured Brigade Tanks Move At Last

BRISBANE. — Twenty-seven Grant and Matilda tanks loaded on long multi-wheeled trailers have left Southport, 30 miles from Brisbane, on a long journey to Goulburn, NSW.

The tanks were units of the 4th Aust Armoured Brigade, which under Brig D. Macarthur-Onslow was to have left for the Middle East nearly three years ago.

The brigade's sailing order was cancelled within a few days of their embarkation, and have been at Nerang River, Southport, throughout the war.

Duststorms Sweep Mallee, Wimmera

MELBOURNE.—A severe dust storm swept the Mallee, Wimmera and north-western area of Victoria yesterday.

Stripping of the crops was held up and road traffic came to a standstill

Although Mr. Chifley had said nothing to me, he did mention that his pilot had been tight-lipped and terribly anxious all the time.

"One trip like that is enough."

Tank Trek To Free 1000 Men

The arrival in Sydney of the tanks of the 4th Armored Brigade would shortly release about 1000 men from the Army, an Army spokesman said at Victoria Barracks last night.

He was commenting on a statement made last Friday by Mr. Abbott, M.H.R., that a fleet of Matilda and General Grant tanks travelling from Southport (Queensland) to Sydney had damaged bridges, culverts, and roads.

The tanks, which are now at Wallgrove Camp, Sydney, will leave for a base in Victoria this week.

The Army spokesman said: "Approximately 900 of these men have high priority for discharge, but it has been necessary to retain the men for maintenance and care of the tanks.

Costly Upkeep

"The tank brigade has been expensive to maintain, costing many thousands of pounds weekly. The high initial cost made their care of first importance.

"In the movement to Sydney from Queensland, some expense may have been incurred in damage to roads, but the saving in tank maintenance costs will be enormous.

"The road damage expense is very small compared with the amount of money saved.

"The military authorities considered it essential to place these vehicles in proper storage before demobilising the troops maintaining them.

"This last act will be completed within two weeks when the tanks reach their final storage point in Victoria."

long as he was sober he was a non-entity, less a human being than a force of nature or an amiable and brutal myth, content to go through life in Gilman's shadow. He was slow and awkward in his movements. Steel hoops of muscle arched out of his thighs and bulged and knotted under his work-shirt at the slightest motion.

In his eyes the weak dreams came and went, and through them flickered an intolerable loneliness.

FOR nearly seven hours the two had ridden through the spring country, one behind the other. It was a fine day, unusually hot for April; sometimes thick, white clouds passed across the face of the sun, making the land below seem alternately to shrink and expand. Jays and mocking birds dipped over the wonderful curly buffalo grass, the tough brown already pushed aside by fresh new growths. Spring had designed a festival in the range country, but the McCanles men on horseback were apart from it. Rigid and taciturn in their work-stiffened dark clothes, with their stubborn brooding faces and weather-beaten, shell-like skins, they rode glumly and in silence.

They rode all day; the land changed slowly from easy rolling to deep rolling, and then to high rolling. They had ridden twenty miles when suddenly, on a rise, bleak in the afternoon sun, the headquarters ranch sprang up out of the plain with its loopholes, green-painted window glass and the many galleries, corrals, and outbuildings which gave the appearance of a deserted city tossed down and forgotten on the plain by a lost race of men.

Gil and Ruck turned their mounts into the corral.

The Senator was in his counting room. He had been taking his afternoon nap, and his snoring, as was usual at this time, could be plainly heard. At the sound of boots in the hall he woke up with a last frenzied snore—so powerful it seemed enough to strangle him—and yelled, "Is that you, boys?"

It could be no one else but his boys, he knew well, even if he hadn't recognised their steps. Yet what were they doing home? Like some old, shrivelled, wintry little animal, the Senator had to get set, he had to arm himself against some fresh assault of fortune. Roundup, even

Twenty-seven General Grant and Matilda tanks, part of the force concentrated in Queensland to repel a Japanese invasion, are now being taken by transporter lorries from Brisbane to Goulburn, and will finally reach Melbourne, where the Armoured Brigade which used them will be disbanded. that, though the Allies have won the war, they have by no means yet won the peace, even against their late enemies.

Resolutions in the name of the victorious democracies, or by the United Nations Organisation now being launched upon its career, will be utterly ineffectual in their objective if the Western Powers do not maintain in Germany and Japan the forces necessary to enforce their will for the submission of the defeated Axis, the restoration of order and freedom, and the banishment of any threat of a renewed war. The democracies will betray their trust—and they may be sure Russia will not follow them in such betrayal—if having trodden the road to victory they fail to pursue it to the final goal of security against any future resurrection of the Fascist menace either in Europe or Asia. Yet that goal can only be reached if adequate forces of occupation are maintained in Germany and Japan for many years to come.

Naturally enough, soldiers after long service in trying climes are weary and impatient for return to civilian life. The justice of their claims to relief at the earliest possible moment by men who have been more recently enlisted, and have not borne the strain of campaigning, is undoubted. To meet that claim is a task of organisation to which all Governments should address themselves. But the symptoms above noted are not confined to long-service men any more than to the American army of occupation; the reaction is as

United States. In Britain, five murders, eight pist... robberies, and a large number of less spectacular ... within a week recently drew public attention to the exte... the wave of gangsterism.

IN the United States, Mr. J. Edgar Hoover, Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, warned that America could expect in the next year or two a crime wave even more serious than in 1944, when major crimes were committed at the rate of one every 22 seconds, making a total of 1,393,665 for the year.

In both countries the authorities regard the degree of economic security as an important factor in determining whether crime will spread even more.

In Britain, where the armed gangster has been a rarity, Scotland Yard chiefs admit that armed gangsterism is behind black-market activities linking London with provincial industrial centres producing consumer goods still scarce or severely rationed.

Hoover's annual report informed Americans that youths under 21 constituted 22 per cent. of all those taken into custody by the F.B.I., which handles only Federal offences, considered the most serious of all crimes in the United States.

Fun was the chief excuse given police by most of these teen-age delinquents for their criminal lapses.

Hoover said his greatest concern was that in these juvenile delinquents there was a source of hardened adult criminals.

York, and Detroit learn that the quickest way out of the slums is through crime.

Many of these teen-age gangsters are first-generation Americans born of foreign parents, who cannot speak much English and are unable to cope with their Americanised children or the conditions under which they must live and work. They lose control of their children at an early age.

Hollywood has not helped the situation with its many pictures more or less glorifying the gangster. Studios are again playing up the gangster pictures at a time when they should be forgotten.

Gangster films make money and for that reason Hollywood will probably continue to make them in one form or another, though protests against them are swelling in America. A recent example of the popularity of gangster films is seen in "Dillinger," story of one of America's most notorious gunmen. "Dillinger" has already grossed more than one million dollars.

Punishment in England

In England a burglar carrying a firearm usually receives double the prison sentence of an unarmed partner in crime. Those few American gangsters who came to Britain on bogus passports before the war and tried to break in on the London underworld were usually marked by London criminals not only for professional jealousy or infringement of "territorial rights," but because the presence of armed alien hoodlums brought the police down on the criminal fraternity in general.

To-day, however, there are in England a host of foreign Servicemen who, lacking emotional control, reach for a gun when in similar circumstances a Britisher would use his fists.

In addition, demobilisation and leave from Europe bring home daily thousands

Distinctive Badge Sought For Men Of Armored Corps

From CHARLES MADDEN, Sun Special Correspondent

LAE, Thursday. — Men of Australia's Armored Corps want a distinctive badge for civilian wear.

Some will have the standard Returned from Active Service Badge, but the strongly established Armored Corps Association wants some special recognition for the great majority who "never got away," although they had volunteered to go anywhere.

Designs are being discussed between two former senior officers of the corps—Major General H. C. H. Robertson, in New Guinea, and Brigadier Denzil Macarthur Onslow, in Australia, president and acting Federal chairman of the Armored Corps Association respectively.

One suggestion is to have a standard association badge, with a small detachable scroll, bearing the word "armor."

The scroll could also be worn with active service and home service badges, or with the Returned Servicemen's Association's badge.

Approval from the authorities concerned would be required for this combination.

Tanks' Overland Trek To Goulburn

BRISBANE, Thursday.—Perched on multiple-wheeled trailers, 27 Grant and Matilda tanks of the Armored Brigade left today on a long trek from Southport to Goulburn, N.S.W.

It is going to be a tough job for the huge Diesel-engined haulage units, as the total weight of each tank and transporter is between 65 and 70 tons.

Bridges are expected to be a problem, and in some instances, the tanks will have to be run off the trailers on to the roadway and moved under their own power.

Members of the brigade are hoping for early demobilisation when the tanks are finally concentrated in Victoria.

As a railwayman he was attached to the Benalla Depot for 40 years, and was for some years driver of the express from Benalla to Melbourne. He was transferred to Wahgunyah 20 years ago as driver in charge and remained there until his retirement 12 years ago.

He was born in Beechworth in 1868, and was a member of an old pioneering family of this State.

Cheers For Medal Winner

CHIEF OFFICER ALEX McPHERSON, who was awarded the Police and Fire Service Medal in the New Year honors, motored 170 miles from Nurmurkah to Frankston on New Year's Day to attend the Fire Brigades' Demonstration there.

He was given a great welcome by hundreds of firemen, and the spectators vociferously joined in the reception.

Chief Officer McPherson has had 40 years' service, and is probably the best known and most experienced fireman in the Country Fire Brigades service. In 1944 he was in charge of the firefighting which subdued the big blaze in the open cut at Yallourn, and in 1939, as leader, he did meritorious work at the big Healesville and Warburton fires, when the efforts of the firemen saved Warburton from destruction.

less of the consummation of victory, the effect upon the whole cause for which the Allies fought may easily become calamitous. The stern fact is that, though the Allies have won the war, they have by no means yet won the peace, even against their late enemies.

Resolutions in the name of the victorious democracies, or by the United Nations Organisation now being launched upon its career, will be utterly ineffectual in their objective if the Western Powers do not maintain in Germany and Japan the forces necessary to enforce their will for the submission of the defeated Axis, the restoration of order and freedom, and the banishment of any threat of a renewed war. The democracies will betray their trust—and they may be sure Russia will not follow them in such betrayal—if having trodden the road to victory they fail to pursue it to the final goal of security against any future resurrection of the Fascist menace either in Europe or Asia. Yet that goal can only be reached if adequate forces of occupation are maintained in Germany and Japan for many years to come.

Naturally enough, soldiers after long service in trying climes are weary and impatient for return to civilian life. The justice of their claims to relief at the earliest possible moment by men who have been more recently enlisted, and have not borne the strain of campaigning, is undoubted. To meet that claim is a task of organisation to which all Governments should address themselves. But the symptoms above noted are not confined to long-service men

Major Crime Wave In Britain And U.S.A.

From Our Correspondents in Britain and the United States

Major crime has increased alarmingly in Britain and the United States. In Britain, five murders, eight pistol-point robberies, and a large number of less spectacular crimes within a week recently drew public attention to the extent of the wave of gangsterism.

IN the United States, Mr. J. Edgar Hoover, Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, warned that America could expect in the next year or two a crime wave even more serious than in 1944, when major crimes were committed at the rate of one every 22 seconds, making a total of 1,393,665 for the year.

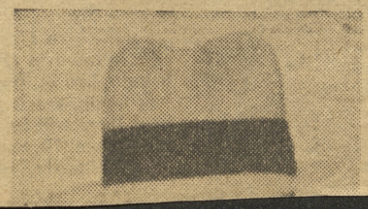

In both countries the authorities regard the degree of economic security as an important factor in determining whether crime will spread even more.

In Britain, where the armed gangster has been a rarity, Scotland Yard chiefs admit that armed gangsterism is behind black-market activities linking London with provincial industrial centres producing consumer goods still scarce or severely rationed.

Hoover's annual report informed Americans that youths under 21 constituted 22 per cent. of all those taken into custody by the F.B.I., which handles only Federal offences, considered the most serious of all crimes in the United States.

Fun was the chief excuse given police by most of these teen-age delinquents for their criminal lapses.

Hoover said his greatest concern was that in these juvenile delinquents there was a source of hardened adult criminals.

York, and Detroit learn that the quickest way out of the slums is through crime.

Many of these teen-age gangsters are first-generation Americans born of foreign parents, who cannot speak much English and are unable to cope with their Americanised children or the conditions under which they must live and work. They lose control of their children at an early age.

Hollywood has not helped the situation with its many pictures more or less glorifying the gangster. Studios are again playing up the gangster pictures at a time when they should be forgotten.

Gangster films make money and for that reason Hollywood will probably continue to make them in one form or another, though protests against them are swelling in America. A recent example of the popularity of gangster films is seen in "Dillinger," story of one of America's most notorious gunmen. "Dillinger" has already grossed more than one million dollars.

Punishment in England

In England a burglar carrying a firearm usually receives double the prison sentence of an unarmed partner in crime. Those few American gangsters who came to Britain on bogus passports before the war and tried to break in on the London underworld were usually marked by London criminals not only for professional jealousy or infringement of "territorial rights," but because the presence of armed alien hoodlums brought the police down on the criminal fraternity in general.

To-day, however, there are in England a host of foreign Servicemen who, lacking emotional control, reach for a gun when in similar circumstances a Britisher would use his fists.

Road Damage By Tanks On Way South

Reports indicated that damage to roads had been caused by a convoy of tanks on transporters from Southport, Queensland, the chairman of the Main Roads Board, Mr. D. Craig, said last night.

Reports received by the board were being examined, Mr. Craig said, and when the full extent of the damage was known the matter would be taken up with the army authorities.

An official Army statement yesterday admitted damage to roads, but it was pointed out that the bringing of the tanks to Sydney and their proper storage would save the public much money.

An Army spokesman said the arrival in Sydney of the Fourth Armoured Brigade with their tanks would mean that about 900 men, on high priority on the points system, would shortly be discharged.

"A tank brigade in peace time is expensive to maintain, costing many thousand pounds a week," he said. "There is a high initial cost for the vehicles, and their care is of first importance.

"In the movement from Queensland to Sydney some expense may have been incurred by the Army by way of damage to roads, but the saving in tanks, maintenance costs will be enormous, and the military authorities consider it essential to place these vehicles in storage before demobilising the troops maintaining them."

"Damage to roads and waste of petrol by heavy Army vehicles are unfair to the rationed motorist," Mr. Abbott, M.P., said last evening.

Mr. Abbott added that some of the heavier vehicles probably burned up a gallon of fuel every mile.

Big Tank Convoy Arrives From Queensland

Twenty-two Matilda and General Grant tanks on transporters arrived at Walgrove Camp yesterday, after a 500-mile journey from Southport, Queensland.

Other convoys of about 20 tanks each, from the 4th Armoured Brigade, will arrive to-day and to-morrow. The tanks will travel by road to Goulburn, then by rail to Bandiana, Victoria, for storage.

In spite of the great weight and length of each transporter and tractor, there were few incidents on the journey. A bridge at Singleton cracked under the 65 tons of a combined tractor and transporter carrying one of the General Grant tanks, and the rest of the tanks were unloaded, and crossed the stream under their own power.

A motor-cyclist went in advance to warn oncoming traffic that the 54ft vehicles were on the road.

The convoy averaged about 12 miles an hour for eight days.

WOMAN INJURED AT DAMAGED CULVERT

TAMWORTH, Thursday. — Shortly after a culvert had collapsed beneath the weight of an army truck and trailer loaded with a tank at Wingen, 12 miles north of Scone, to-day, a car crashed through the hole into a creek.

A passenger, Mrs. Leonora Adams, aged 68, of Belgannon, Wee Waa, was seriously injured. She is in the Scone hospital with a fractured jaw and fractured ribs.

To-night Mr. Abbott, M.P., strongly criticised the army for having allowed a convoy of General Grant tanks to be transported over the State's roads.

He said that he had been informed that hundreds of pounds worth of damage had been done to culverts and bridges.

Criticises Army Action in Moving Heavy Tanks by Road

SERIOUS ACCIDENT AT WINGEN

Strong criticism of the Army authorities for allowing 30-ton General Grant tanks to be transported by road thus causing serious damage to the highways and bridges, was expressed last night by Mr. J. P. Abbott, MHR, following an accident at Wingen, 12 miles north of Scone, in which a woman was seriously injured.

The woman was Mrs. Leonora Adams (68), of Belgannon, Wee Waa, who was a passenger in a utility truck which crashed into a creek after an Army vehicle carrying a 30-ton General Grant tank had caused a culvert to collapse.

Mrs. Adams was admitted to Scott Memorial Hospital Scone, with fractured ribs, fractured jaw and haemorrhage. Her condition is serious.

Her son, Mr. J. Adams, who was driving the truck, had only recently been discharged from the services, and was taking his mother for a holiday to the coast. He escaped with shock.

The car was following a convoy of Army vehicles carrying tanks. The truck, trailer and tank weigh in the vicinity of 60 tons.

Mr. Adams noticed that, as the last unit passed over the creek, the culvert collapsed.

His vehicle was about 20 yards away at that time. He applied the brakes immediately, but failed to stop the car from plunging into the bed of the creek.

Mrs. Adams was thrown heavily against the windscreen.

The vehicle was badly damaged.

MR. ABBOTT'S COMMENT

It was stated last night that the transport by road of the tanks has caused hundreds of pounds worth of damage to roads and bridges,

Commenting on the matter last night, Mr. J. P. Abbott, MHR, said he had been informed that the Army authorities had never consulted the Main Roads Department or the various shire councils through which the convoys were passing.

"This afternoon I tried to contact the Army Minister (Mr. Forde), but was unable to do so," said Mr. Abbott. "However, I succeeded in contacting the Army Chief of Staff (Lt.-Gen. Sturdee) and informed him of the happening. I suggested to him that the convoys should be immediately grounded, and the tanks placed on railway flat cars in the same manner as they had been transported north.

"General Sturdee promised an immediate investigation.

"NEEDLESS DAMAGE"

"I have been informed that the damage to roads and bridges caused by the convoy runs into hundreds of pounds," said Mr. Abbott. "This is needless damage, and is endangering many lives.

"I have been informed that the tanks are on their way from the Brisbane area to Goulburn, where they will be placed on railway cars and shipped to Victoria. Why they could not have been placed on the railway and shipped direct is beyond me.

"This action by the Army is foolish and stupid, and the officers responsible should be dealt with," said Mr. Abbott.

Accident Victim Improved

It was reported from the Scott Memorial Hospital, Scone, yesterday afternoon that the condition of Mrs. Leonora Adams (68), of Belgannon, Wee Waa, who was involved in a motor accident at Wingen on Thursday, was slightly improved.

Mrs. Adams was admitted to hospital in a serious condition after a utility truck in which she was travelling southward along the New England Highway, dived into a creek.

She and her son, Mr. J. Adams, were proceeding along the road behind a convoy of Army trucks carrying heavy Genereal Grant tanks, and when only 20 yards from the creek they noticed the culvert collapse just as the last unit in the convoy passed over it.

The driver (Mr. Adams) applied the brakes immediately, but failed to stop the truck from plunging into the creek bed.

Dear Denzil

Many thanks for your kind note of 6th January. I am sorry I missed you the other evening when you were down, but I assume you will be coming back ere long. There are many things I want to talk to you about, not the least of which is the future of Armour in our Army.

All my friends at home come back after visiting this area with nothing but the highest praise for you and your people. I was never surprised at their universal lament that there was no Australian armoured formation in England at the closing stages of the war.

I trust you are fit and well.

With every good wish,

Yours aye

My dear Denzil,

I am very honoured indeed at being appointed Honorary Colonel of the Australian Armoured Corps, and I only wish that I was still in Australia so that I could meet you all and take an active interest in all that pertains to the Corps.

I know so well the splendid record of so many members of the Corps. I also know the difficulties which were encountered in the early days of the Corps' existence. How so many fine men from the Australian Light Horse enlisted in the Armoured Corps and hoped to go overseas at an early date, which unfortunately did not mature. That was a difficult time for you all and a great test of discipline and morale. In fact I don't think one can imagine a much higher test than the disappointment of men of that calibre in being denied an apportunity of fighting for their country in the critical days that ensued. You came through that ordeal with flying colours, and though I have not had an opportunity of following your doings in detail since, I am quite certain that in whatever theatre of war, or in whatever conditions you were called upon to serve, the Australian Armoured Corps upheld the highest traditions of the A.I.F.

I shall be very proud to become an Honorary Life Member of the Armoured Corps Association, and I wish the Association every success in the important work in which it will be engaged.

We have just received your kind cable of Christmas greetings for my wife and myself, which we do appreciate and heartily reciprocate.

Yours very sincerely,

Lowe.

Van Diary

Dear

Quite a bit of news for you this week - a lot of little bits is the best way to describe it I suppose. The Brigadier has left for Melbourne and expects to be away a couple of weeks, attending an Acsco meeting in Sydney during the period, though I don't know when exactly.

The tanks are well on the way now, but we're having quite a spot of bother, and have come in for a lot of criticism, indirectly, from the Press and private individuals. The first comment came from a motorist who hit the roof about the damage caused to the roads around Gatton, between Ipswich and Toowoomba, To read it, one would have thought the heavens had fallen, but the Shire Engineer subsequently assessed the damage at £30, which is so little as to almost absurd.

There have been odd spots of trouble with the vehicles themselves - burnt out clutches, damaged radiators and one cracked cylinder block, and WO.I Baudinette of 2/2 Workshop has performed miracles replacing trucks and drivers at all hours of the day and night.

However things seemed to be going well a couple of days ago, until Van, who was up at Q L of C on Wednesday afternoon last has a message to say we'd done in the bridge over the Hunter at Singleton - you know the one of course. So he's flown down to Sydney to find out a bit more about it, and also to see up something about spares.

We've been providing them from here, but NSW L of C are prepared to do so after the tanks pass Singleton. That's alright by us of course, but the BOD at Muswellbrook are'nt playing very well. As the first and second convoys want something like 50 tyres for trailers between them things are a bit muddled at the moment.

The most disturbing feature of the whole affair is a report in the Courier this morning of an elderly lady who was injured as a result of her car going into a culvert which the convoys had broken. The local member of the district has aired his views and of course the next step no doubt will be questions in the House.

The aggravating thing is that all these people are asking why the tanks didn't go by rail or ship - as if we wanted to send them by road ! As we're not permitted to answer "letters to the editor" and so on, it's very galling to have people who've never seen a tank telling us what to do - but you know that as well as I do.

I think that's about all the local news, Capt Cec Falk of Sigs left for Bonegilla, and we hope to send off the shields, band instruments and other odds and ends to the AFV School on Monday - with "Crossle" as O.C. Beyond that, and the constant Demolition of buildings round the place there's very little doing indeed.

A very welcome letter came in from Lt-Col 'Jim' McBean on Monday - the first we've had for quite awhile, He's very fit, and is half expecting to be out soon. He was up in Sydney over Xmas, and a number of "old boys" turned up in Martin Place on 23 DEC when he laid a wreath on the Cenotaph in memory of the 2/6 lads who lost their lives at Buna and elswhere. JB managed a couple of snifters with Sep Osborne- he's at the Bar now you know - and saw quite a lot of others, whom he didn't recognise in civvies.

AUSTRALIAN WAR MEMORIAL AWM2020.71.103

Freddie Taylor wrote from his property at Corowa - it has suffered badly over the past six years of course,and he says he'll have a lot of work putting it back on it's feet. To cap the lot the "Married couple" walked out, the coal strike prevented them collecting their furniture from Melbourne,and altogether Xmas must have been anything but festive for him and his wife.

Gordon Glasgow writes again on 29 DEC from 2/1 Recce Sqn at Balikpapan - they are still held up for ships and likely to be for some little time evidently,despite the rumours to the contrary. Gordon tells of acquiring a Malay house boy to replace his batman who went out on discharge. They overcame the language difficulty by sign and so on, but Boxing night provided a meal of roast beef with stuffing,followed by sweets consisting of soup,carrots,and beaut turkey prepared with loving care by the cook, all tangled up in the one pot.

A very interesting letter from Maj John Lathlean dated 3 JAN came in on Tuesday. He slipped over to Singapore and Malaya for a few days as I mentioned a week or two ago. He says the place needs a coat of paint,There's very little damage and prices are sky-high,the goods being either hoarded from before the occupation,or black market since. John says a pre-war income would be quite useless there at present . There's a chance of the cadre getting away with the tanks about 8 JAN,but we've heard nothing since of course and he was'nt very hopeful really.

In Johns absence,Lt Max Titley dropped a chatty letter,in which he says all Aussies are "expected" to be clear of Labuan by 18 JAN; Fortunately he did'nt commit himself as to the year. He says only two ships sailed for Australia during December, but the harbour was always full of craft going the other way !.

All the Regt personnel between 175 and 200 left on New Years Day on the Carrier "Vengeance" for Sydney,and the rest above 150 are in the local GDD waiting movement. They're had orders to abandon all tanks of class V and VI,but as 2 of the 4 had already left for the mainland that did'nt help much.

The much operated dozer blades have been written off and dumped,so there's less and less due to come back which is a good thing from everyone's viewpoint.

Well thats about all I think - not a bad effort I hope you'll agree.Of course,as the girl said,It's much easier when you have some assistance,and I've had plenty this time with all the mail that's floated in recently. All I have to do is read and transcribe,making due allowances for spelling and so on. We're all guilty of little slips at times - only the other day I wrote an Air letter card home, and it was'nt till I was impressing the concession stamp that I realized I'd addressed it to "My Darling Wife", 11 Rivers Street, Belevue Hill", I had to put it in an envelope of course,which cost fourpence instead of a penny,so you see I paid dearly for my carelessness.

Kindest regards,and lets hear from you soon.

Yours

WEEKLY NEWSLETTER No. 55
Period 12 Jan to 18 Jan 46.

Dear War Diary

All my fears about these letters petering out are unfounded, and I can only assume my moving appeals for news have borne fruit, for this week there's a pile of gossip to pass on to you.

Firstly, to give you the latest on the convoys....I'll pick up at the point where the Brig had left for Melbourne and Van for Sydney. On arrival at Essendon the Brig was whisked off to a conference which included practically everyone of importance in Australia except Tillie Devine and Phil the Jaw. The accident I mentioned of the old lady who drove into the culvert had produced a spate of howls from all and sundry, and damage wasbeing assessed in terms of millions(literally). Upshot was that the Brig flew straight back to Sydney, collected Van, and the two of them started off in a car for a 700 mile recce of the route. The three convoys meanwhile had arrived, and were being held at Wallgrove. As a result of a rather more calm and dispassionate examination of the facts, the total damage is about £ 300 in Qld and between £3000 and £5000 in NSW; quite enough I agree, but a long way below the first panic stricken estimates.

Upshot of the whole businass is that the tanks are still at Wallgrove awaiting a decision as to whether they go by rail from there or by road to Goulburn as was the arrangement prior to the mess.

Needless to say the trip for the convoys was not without incident, of which the best concerns Bill Lloyd-Green's taking the wrong turning at Broke(south of Singleton). As both the local road and the Colo-Putty road are identical in size and shape at this point, the error was excusable, and nothing happened till they came to the first bridge, which Bill knew to be Class 24, and consequently sent the first transporter over. In fact the bridge was only Class 5, with the result that the trailer went right through, reduced the bridge to matchwood, and parked the tank and trailer gracefully upside down in the creek bed. In fear and trembling Bill made his way back to Singelton to tell the local Council about their beaut bridge, and was very relieved when the Engineer said"Oh, that's OK, we were going to pull it down on Monday anyway to builda new one."

Sgt Frewin of 34 Tptr Pl had a series of mishaps which started with engine trouble at Toowoomba, and put him about two days behind. After pelting along for about 24 hrs straight he caught up late one day, but when starting off the next morning found about three flat tyres which delayed him another few hours. He finally caught up again at Wallgrove, and obtained leave to run into Paramatta for a much needed bath and feed. On entering the first pub he saw, he was greeted by an obvious recently dischargee, who said "oh, a bloody Sergeant eh?" and clocked him in the eye. Result, a visit to the local hospital and three stitches. Altogether, an exciting week.

While all this was going on, the rest of us werelanguishing, not exactly in durance vile, at sunny Southport, surfing, fishing, and trying to answer the frantic signals coming from all points as to what damage wasbeing caused and why, etc. Like Hitler, my patience was at last exhausted, and I aksed one peanut did he want an itemised account along the lines of "46 potholes at 3/4 each, 17 culverts at £ 1.2.11 each, and ten thousand blasted phone calls finding out about same at 2d."

Well, so much for the home front, where we're keeping the fires burning and ready to hand on the torch, to those who come after and similar sentiments.

Our visitors this week included Lt Dick Schofield of 2/9 Regt who is sitting up at Chermside looking at a few tanks. He and his SQMS spent last week-end here. Capt Donovan, one time 3 Tk Bn, and now A.A. Canteens, came to lunch yesterday, and beyond those two our contact with the great wide world has been almost nil. Bernie Brennan of 2/9 came down last Monday, but the stress of work is such that I have to take a day off now and then, and it so happened I missed him, much to my disgust.

To retrace my steps for a moment, no doubt you've seen or at least heard of the Press publicity we've had over the convoys, nearly all of it unfavourable. The best effort was a "demand" from one of our political luminaries that the "responsible officers should be brought to book!!!" Our old friend, Frank Pakcer, came to light with a very sane article in the Sydney "Telegraph" which put the case as fairly and sensibly as anyone could wish, and I only hope that some of the dim-witted denizens of Canberra read it, or at least found someone who could read to pass it on to them.

Letters have simply poured in this week, and I'll deal briefly with most of them as I want to pass on to you the one I've just had from Maj Ewen Milliken of 2/4 at Rabaul, which is one of the most entertaining epistles ever to come into this office.

Maj Johnnie Ford of 1 Amrd Regt is still sitting at Balikpapan with a few tanks and blokes, but the Sig Tp and LAD Cadres have sailed, and I hear Major Hodges of their Wkshop is back in Brisbane and will be down to see us soon.

Capt Len Bice dropped a line from his Red Cross Con Home, where he is still recovering from his broken arm. He doesn't know how long the job will take, but it will certainly be three months, and may be up to 15, so evidently the injury was a lot more serious than any of us, incl Len, guessed. Just before Xmas he ran into Bill Geddes, and Lt John Oswell of 6 Div Cav and later of 1 Armd Regt. Other visitors included Sgt Norm Bice, whom you'll remember was "I" Sgt here during the days of my tenure of office.

Maj John Lathlean wrote on 11 Jan saying they'd just loaded 15 tanks onto a ship which should arrive here about 23 or 24 Jan, but he didn't mention who wason it. They had to use powered pontoons to take the tanks out to the ship, and during loading a cable broke and dropped one into numerous fathoms of water, which, John says, promptly sank right to the bottom, a remarkable occurrence as you'll agree. After writing off that one, plus two which have been graded Class V, and the bridgelayer, which I suppose they didn't even bother to grade, there are only 11 Tillies left at Labuan, so another year or two should see them well away.

Two letters from Capt Gordon Glasgow of the Recce Sqn, dated 4 and 8 Jan, have just floated in, and they intend to use their funds to shout every member of the Sqn a life membership of the Association, which is a very sound scheme, provided they can get round certain technical difficulties of using their own money for that purpose.

I feel I'd be gilding the lily if I made any attempt to muck about with Ewen Milliken's letter, but as there are ten pages of it I must do a bit of editing. On 11 Jan the Sqn strength was 2 and 72, the result of all personnel with over 140 points, and those with no leave for two years, having been marched out. They have six Tillies and 93 Jap tanks on the park, but they're being given 100 perfectly good infantrymen to play with, and Ewen will be able to run his own little "Pucka" turning them into tankers. They've had permission to dump a lot of the Jap tanks into the drink, and will end up with their Tillies, 12/47mm Mediums and 12/57mm, with a reserve of six for spare parts. They've taken turrets off many of them to be used as pill-boxes for the guards over the Jap PW compounds, but as only one unit has bothered to collect their quota, apparently the term "Made in Japan" still stinks a bit.

Quotation:"The greatest tit-bit for weeks two geisha girls were rounded up yesterday and are now parked in a tent between the Matron's hut and the sister's quarters at 118AGH. The sisters are taking a very dim view of it."

Quotation:"We have commenced War Criminal Trials here and I was President of the first series. It is very similar to a FGCM, but accused cannot challenge members of the Court, the President has no Casting Vote, it can admit any evidence incl hearsay, and a 2/3 majority is necessary for a death sentence. These are announced in court and the Nip takes a death sentence not batting an eyelid.....The cases were murder, rape(how Sep Osborne would have loved that one! K.P.), and torture. The Nip lawyer who was assisting the Aust Defending Officer was very pleased with British Justice, and didn't offer an opinion when the score was announced as three death sentences by hanging for murder, one by hanging for rape and one life imprisonment for torture. As all the offences were against Chinese civilians there was a good attendance at all sittings.....incidentally the bloke who committed rape showed excellent taste.

"The Nips are very hard to examine a question is asked which can be answered yes or no. The interpreter and the accused get together for about 5 minutes and then the interpreter turns round and says "He says No." What the other ten thousand words were about isn't told."

Lt Teddy Maher(who is chief Nip Basher at one of the Guard Compounds) had a PW artist doing some sketches of a few Tillies, with the usual tropical background, and Ewen says when they came to examine them later they found the Tac Signs on the three tanks reading from left to right to read $\frac{2-4}{52}$, $\frac{6-8}{52}$, $\frac{10-12}{52}$ respectively, so G.O.K. what would have happened, if a whole Regt had been lined up to be painted by the same bloke... the Tac Sign of the last one would have run into five figures.

Although you already know most of this, Ewen gives the latest dope on locations of various personalities, Majs Mackay and Vernon having left together with Capt Joe Dent, and Lts Morgan Hawkes, Curley, Adamson, Mole and Gately. Capt Don Hill was sent down to be interviewed by W.A. Rhodes Scholarship Committe, but failed to be selected. By the way, Graham Irwin also missed out for S.A., in favour of Maj "Herbie" Piper, whom you may have met here at Southport when he was an instructor at the SMI at the Hotel Pacific.

Maybe you'll remember Lt Warner, ex 2/7 Regt....he is now at Torokina with 42 Landing Craft Coy. Other 2/7 blokes Ewen has run into include Bill Burns and Bill Martin(ex QM if I remember rightly) and Lt John Wall, who lost an eye and collected an MC with some C'do show on Bougainville.

Speaking of Torokina, a recent upset there concerned the disappearance of a large swag of beer from a shipment. As a result of certain information, an area was searched, and about half as much beer again was was originally lost came to light. Evidently beer not only improves with age, but has pups as well.

That's about all for this week I think, except that there's a most interesting article in the monthly journal of RTR regarding the origin of the Black Beret, by Gen Sir Hugh Ellis. Summarised, a number of blokes sitting round after dinner one night in '17 were wondering what would happen to the Tank Corps after the war.(History repeats itself, doesn't it?") They decided they'd have to do something about it, and the question of uniform came up, and Gen Fuller remarked that after every war the British Army had adopted some item of apparel from its late enemy,e.g. the Bearskin of the Guards came from Napoleon's Imperial Guards, the slouch hat from the Boers, etc. Someone suggested they vary the programme and adopt a headgear from their Allies, and the nearest Unit was the Tirraileurs Alpin, who wore a sort of Basque(remember Borotra)beret. This was not very popular, but a lot of girl's schools at home were wearing them, and and they circularised these and obtained a variety of sizes, shapes and colours. The article concludes"and eventually, after a stern contest with the War Office, the black beret was, surprisingly, authorised." I thought it a most interesting sidelight on something that was completely new to me, and I hope you'll not think I've been too long-winded in passing it on to you.

Cheerio for the present, and kindest regards,

Yours

War Diary

Dear

As the girl said, "Well, this is absolutely the last." In other words, you're reading the final newsletter from me or anyone else, and it's with nó little regret that I find myself winding up what has been a very pleasant duty.

To give you the latest dope, such as it is, before I go into my crashing climax, the disbandment order for all the remaining units incl Bde HQ came in last week-end, and things have moved apace since then. For the purposes of the act, the 2/5 Regt is to act as Bde HQ in caring for the adm cadres of the other shows, and that will come about some time next week. We're hard at work, destroying files(hundreds of 'em) and tearing down tents and buildings.

What's left of 2/6, about 30 all told, have already moved over to the 2/5 area, as will the other shows one by one.

The remaining 23 tanks are to go to the Brisbane area to be held there pending movement by rail, and the first six will probably leave early tomorrow morning. I say probably, because we've had buckets of rain over the past few days and you know what happens to the roads hereabout. However it's fine and steamy to-day, and there's every indication that we'll run to time. The last five should go on Monday, and from then on it's just a matter of days. Everyone will move to Grovely for the final stages - we can't get out of that one as it's a direction from Gen. Stantke himself, delivered personally--, but most of us will escape that particular fate.

"Crossle" leaves us this morning, on his way to Pucka,with no doubt a few halts en route, where he will be joined by the truck which is taking down the shields, band instruments, etc.

Maj Stan Morrow landed up here for a final looksee a couple of days ago, and arrived just in time to see his late office come crashing to the ground burying a pile of U/S bumpf beneath its ruins.

Capt Harry Finucan hopes to leave shortly to takem up a post at Brisbane University, instructimng the young in the mysteries of maths. What with the maths, and the mysteries of Harry himself, it looks as though higher education in the sunny State is about to enter a new era, whether it wants to or not.

Bruce Mitchell's release has arrived, and when he can "cook" the mess books sufficiently to gull the audit board, he'll be on his way south. Van, and Max Cox, OC HQ Sqn, will hang around for a time no doubt, but I hope to leave here about 5 Feb. The Army has at last caught up with the Brig, and his release is dated 31 Dec last. Whether that means he draws no pay for the remainder I don't know, but I strongly suspect Alan Mac Cormick of the Pay Office will produce some sort of a TS4 for him. In the meantime, we expect, though not confidently, the Brig to return to the fold about next Monday.

A dramatic incident, in which nerves became frayed and tempers ran high, was enacted in the Mess this morning when lots were drawn to see who would have the privilege of paying £50 for the Frig.
Amidst scenes of unparalleled excitement, Crossle was declared the winner and promptly tried to sell the thing to Sax Smith, who was another claimant.

AUSTRALIAN WAR MEMORIAL AWM2020.71.103

The Pay Office closes at 1200hrs Tuesday next --- just what we do from then on I don't know, but with the absence of all batmen I suppose we'll be able to knock out a few shillings taking in one another's washing.

Capt Lloyd-Green and Lt Marron are back from their convoys, and a letter from Don Tulloch says he isleaving by road from Walgrove for Bandianna on 28 Jan. Just how many transporters he's taking we don't know, but of course some will stay behind to load the tanks at Walgrove.

Latest news, at present unconfirmed, is that Maj. Cec Ives has been appointed to command the Armd Car Sqn for Japan. As the information comes from what is referred to as an "unimpeachable source" I think you can take it as being the GG. If the news is correct, Cec is to be congratulated, as it should be a damn good job, and he's earned it from his long service with the Corps.

The Qld Branch of the Association is holding its first annual meeting in Brisbane to-night, and with the NSW, Vic, S.A. branches now goingconcerns, the Assoc, as a whole, is really launched. Lt George Mitchell tellsme his records disclose about 900 members, and funds a bit over £3000. Of course, each of the Branches is canvassing for members, and as they don't report every day, the membership must be well over the 1000 mark by now, which is encouraging without being spectacular. W.A. and Tasmania haven't actually started active Branches yet, but should be doing so soon as their numbers are growing all the time.

There have been no letters this week, so I'm restricted to local news entirely, and frankly I've come to the end of that now.

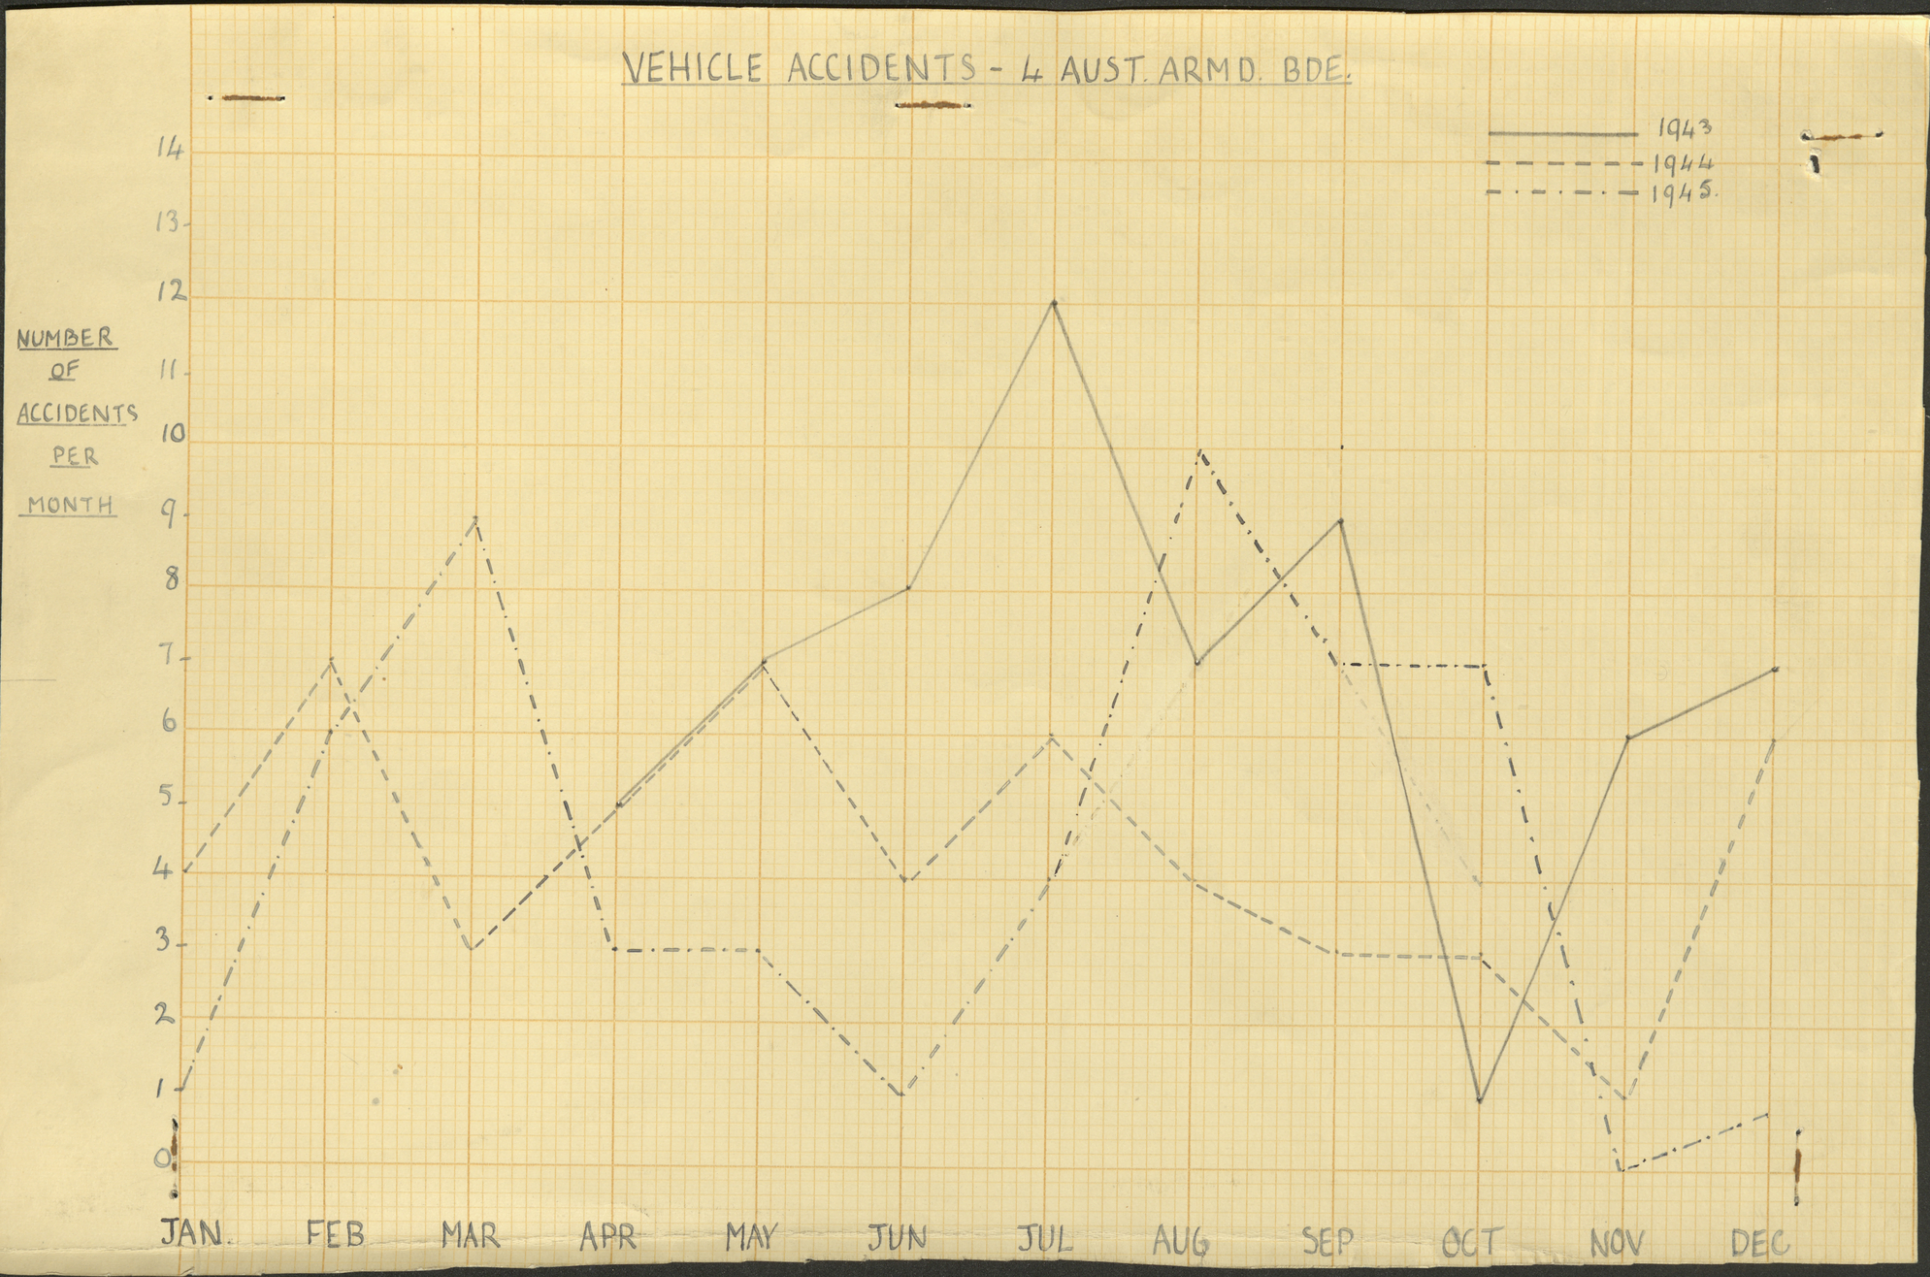

Well, that's that. The camp is a strange place now, slowly becoming deserted, and I think we're all feeling a bit blue. After all, it's been our home for two years, and is the last remaining symbol of the hopes and aspirations which we all shared five years ago when the Corps was taking shape as a real force. One can only speak from one's own viewpoint, but had I known five years ago what the future would hold, and how we'd be "mooked abart," I think I'd still haveplumped for this show. Nobody could have asked for better fellows to serve with, be it over or under. When the balloon did go up for some of the lucky ones, they turned on a performance that couldn't have been bettered, and acted on behalf of the rest of us as well as anyone could have hoped or wished.

The very best of good luck to you, and I hope we meet again more than once, either through the Association or otherwise, in the years to come.

Yours very sincerely,
