2. BLACKOUT.

Black-out will commence at 1855 Hrs 28 Jan 40.

3. MEAL PARADES.

Meal parades are definite parades and Officers and N.C.Os taking their Coy etc parades must see that the men are formed up, the roll called, and personnel marched to the Mess Room. There have been many instances of troops entering the Mess Room before the time set down, or of personnel straggling in late. This practice is to cease immediately.

4. MESS ORDERLIES.

Any instructions or orders to Mess orderlies must be given to the Sgt in charge of the Mess orderlies, and not direct to the orderlies.
Mess orderlies are working on a definite system, and orders from an outside source interferes with that system.

TRAINING ON BOARD SHIP - PRELIMINARY INSTRUCTIONS

The importance of fully occupying the time of all ranks on board ship with useful and interesting work and play cannot be over-emphasised, and preliminary action will now be taken to organize the life on board ship on the following lines.

ROUTINE. (1)

This will be arranged with the Ship's Captain in each case.

ALLOTMENT TO SHIPS. (2)

All members of a battalion will be accommodated on the same ship, which it is understood will, in almost every case, also accommodate details of other arms which are being distributed.

GENERAL ORGANIZATION FOR EACH DAY AT SEA. (3)

Morning. Military training, interspersed with P.T. and quickening exercises.

Afternoon. Organized sports, recreational training and any administrative requirements, such as medical inspections, etc.

Evenings. Organized entertainments.

ORGANIZATION - IN DETAIL. (4)

The subjects which will be considered and included in unit training syllabi, will be as follows:-

(a) Close Order Drill;
(b) Guard and Sentry Drill;
(c) Musketry (Including quickening exercises);
(d) Bayonet Fighting;
(e) Fire Control Orders;
(f) Tactical Training, up to and including Company schemes, will be taught by means of lectures, cloth model sand table exercises, and instructional films (the latter if available);
(g) Weapon Training (Lewis, M.M.G., Pistol, Grenade and Mortar, 3"). Every opportunity will be taken to introduce the competitive spirit;
(h) Map Reading. Owing to mechanization, this subject has become increasingly important.
(i) Anti-Gas Drill;
(j) Communication Drill;
(k) Anti-Aircraft and Anti-Submarine Training.

Anti-Aircraft Training (i): Every platoon armed with L.M.G's. will have its A.A. Mounting in position day and night, with the gun handy so that at a moment's notice it can come into action.
Units will buy kites and the necessary twine with which to fly them from the stern, in order to provide A.A. targets for firing when possible.
Anti-Submarine Training (ii): Employment of M.M.G's. in an anti-submarine role, will be carried out, and firing practiced at empty cases, etc., thrown overboard when possible.

AUSTRALIAN WAR MEMORIAL AWM2020.71.2108

(l) Alarm Drill:

Boat Drill will be constantly practiced, so that all ranks move automatically and at short notice to their boat stations.

(m) Lectures and Lecturettes - (it may be more appropriate for some of these lectures to be delivered at night).

To include:-

(i) Military subjects, which should commence with the "Big Picture" (organization of armies etc.), see also para. 7 (b) on this subject.

(ii) Geographical and Historical facts connected with the regions through which we pass by sea, and in which we are likely to be encamped and operate.

(iii) Consideration of the racial characteristics of the peoples with whom our men will come in contact.

All races differ in their racial habits and outlook and because of their different diets, smell offensively to those who eat different types of food. The native of India offends the nose of an Englishman, and VICE VERSA.

One very often hears of trouble caused as a result of troops clashing with the inhabitants of lands in which they are temporarily serving. This friction is practically always caused by a lack of consideration for the feelings of the permanent residents of the country, who are often treated as inferior beings, and their women as fair game.
The Troops should also be informed that authorized civil and military legal codes will be in operation for their protection in every land through which we shall pass, and warned not on any account to take the law into their own hands, and so sully the good name of their country. Action is often taken in the heat of the moment, which would never have occurred if the men had been advised correctly beforehand.

Admittedly these peoples will be out to make as much money as possible from their welcome or unwelcome guests, and a proportion will do so with little if any scruples, but if all members of the Force are imbued with a tolerant outlook and a sense of fair play, their own reputation and that of their country will be greatly enhanced.

The above instructions apply with added force to relations with the members of [illegible] Allied Forces.

(iv) Security Instruction:

The only way to prevent a leakage of information of military importance, which may result, not only in the loss of many valuable lives, but possibly the very campaign itself, is by all members of the Force being fully aware that every stranger is a possible enemy informant. There are many ways in which information can be obtained by enemy agents, but the most fruitful avenues of information are brothels, wine saloons etc.

(v) Rifle Thieves.

In most countries, firearms are of great value, and a rifle thief is always present. In India in 1927 a service rifle was valued at over £100 by a tribesman from the N.W. Frontier, and even a single round of .303 at 9d.

AUSTRALIAN WAR MEMORIAL AWM2020.71.2108

All ranks should therefore be warned to be constantly on the lookout, and adequate security measures always taken.

(vi) Prophylactics.

Every opportunity will be taken to educate the men in prophylactic treatment, and warn them of the dangers of venereal disease. Films dealing with this subject are being shown to all members of the force before sailing.

(vii) Identity Discs and Field Dressings.

Instruction in this subject will be given in accordance with Section 125 and Appendix (vi) of F.S.R. Vol. I.

(viii) Training of Water Details.

Arrangements will be immediately taken to train these men in their duties. In Australia, pure drinking water can be obtained relatively easily, but in many countries it is either unprocurable or requires special treatment.

(ix) Health.

The health of the troops is of paramount importance, and every opportunity will be taken to explain to the men the various precautions which are necessary in the different countries in which they may serve (e.g., Sunstroke, foods to avoid, etc.)

AFTERNOONS.

As stated in para. (3) above, afternoons will be devoted to Sports and Recreational Training, in which all ranks will take an equal part. It is advisable to have a programme prepared before going on board.

EVENINGS.

For the organized entertainments which will take place on board each ship every night of the voyage, Entertainment Committees and Concert Parties will now be elected so that arrangements can at once be made to produce a full programme for the voyage.

It is known that the Philanthropic Organizations are providing books, magazines and other reading matter.

EQUIPMENT.(5)

To carry out the abovementioned programme effectively, units will arrange to obtain the necessary equipment.

CANTEENS (6)

It is understood that Canteens will be conducted by the Shipping authorities. Prices will be such that no profits will be made by any party.

Units will arrange to wind up Camp Canteens.

OFFICERS' & N.C.O's. CLASSES (2 hrs. per day). (7).

Subjects to be taught will include:-

AUSTRALIAN WAR MEMORIAL AWM2020.71.2108

(a) Map Reading;
(b) Tactics up to and including Company Schemes. The syllabus will commence with the "BIG PICTURE", such as organization of armies (our own and foreign nations with whom we are allied or at war), Supply in the Field, Evacuation of incapacitated men, animals, and material, air co-operation, characteristics of other arms, A.F.V's. and their tactics, A.T. Mines, Etc.

Great stress should be laid on all Anti-Aircraft, Tank and Gas measures.

Once the personnel are brought into the picture by instruction in the abovementioned subjects, the more detailed work should be undertaken.

REQUIRED (8).

Commanding Officers of infantry battalions will submit to Bde. H.Q. by 2000 hrs., 22 Dec., a syllabus for (a) all ranks, and (b) Officers and N.C.O's. classes, showing approximate daily Routine, based on the instruction mentioned above, for a period of 20 days at sea.

When preparing the Syllabus, C.O's. will be guided by the standard of training which their commands have already reached.
