817. FROST PRECAUTIONS, MT VEHS
It is brought to the notice of all units that on Thursday night, the temperature was 32 degrees and that from now on night temperatures will decrease. Anti-freeze mixture is NOT available and therefore the following anti-frost precautions for MT vehs and stationary engines employing water cooling systems will be followed as from this date;

i. On comolation of duty all drivers will drain their radiators of all water and at the same time will turn on the engine block drain cocks.

ii. The method will be to run the engine slowly whilst the water is draining out of the radiator and for a few seconds after it is emptied.

iii. The driver will then attach a piece of cardboard to the steering wheel on which will be noted the fact that the radiator has been drained.

iv. Units will also prepare metal disks on which will be painted in red a notice that the radiator is empty and one each of these will be attached to the front of the radiator.

v. Each unit will maintain in it's MT office a register in which the MT NCO will record each night the time and date and his signature, and the fact that he has inspected all vehicles and found the radiators empty. The Orderly officer or duty NCO may also perform this duty if the MT NCO is off duty for any particular night.

vi. When the veh is required for duty the driver will refill the radiator with tepid water after making sure that all drain cocks have been closed.

vii. Where vehs are standing by for duty, drivers will run their engines for 5 minutes at a fairly fast idling speed, every hour.

...../2

AUSTRALIAN WAR MEMORIAL AWM2022.5.100

viii. Under NO circumstances will drivers refill empty radiators with hot or boiling water as this has the same effect on cold blocks as allowing the water to freeze in them.

ix. Stationary engines will be similarly treated.

x. During frost conditions in the day time when vehs are awaiting tasks, the drivers will act as in sub-para vii.

xi. Where possible all engines will be covered during the period of idleness and radiator aprons will be employed if available.

xii. It is to be impressed upon all drivers that they must warm their veh engines at a reasonably fast idling speed before moving off on cold mornings and that undue wear and tear is caused to cylinder walls if this is not done.

xiii. Before starting engines on cold mornings, the drivers will turn the engine over with the cranking handle to circulate the oil and will then depress the clutch pedal when using the starter motor.

2. Drivers will be held responsible to see that the above instruction are carried out.

818. TRAIN TRAVELLING - INTOXICATING LIQUOR.

No member of the forces, when in uniform, will carry, or cause to be carried, on to any train on which he is travelling or about to travel, or have in his possession or control or consume whilst travelling in any train, any intoxicating liquor, unless it is consumed by him as part of a meal supplied in a dining car in the train in which he is travelling.
