439. EXCHANGE OF CURRENCY FOR PERSONNEL LEAVING JAPAN. (Cont'd)

3. The maximum amount which may be exchanged is :-

(a) British and Indian Army	–	One months pay
(b) RAF	–	The amount drawn during the preceding month.
(c) Australian	–	Officers £20 A O/Rs £10 A (providing such amounts have been drawn in Japan during the preceding 30 days)
(d) New Zealand	–	£10 (stg) (Subject to that amount having been drawn on pay day preceding date of movement)

440. ELECTRICAL INSTALLATIONS AND EQUIPMENT. (FRO 227 SERIAL 17)

1. Anti Freeze (Ethylene Glycol) Compound will be added to the coolant of engines in vehicles and static powered equipment as a frost precaution for cold weather. Anti freeze will be used between 1 DEC 46 and 1 APR 47. Formn may for climatic reasons authorise its use from 1 NOV 4[illegible]

2. INITIAL FILLING.

(a) Radiators and cylinder blocks will be completely drained and flushed to remove all traces of rust.

(b) The cooling system will be checked for leakages. [illegible]ll connections are in good condition and securely tightened.

(c) Pour into the radiator one pint of Anti Freeze for every four pints of water required to fill the cooling system. Fill the radiator with water to slightly below the filler neck.

(d) Start and run the engine to ensure thorough mixing.

...../4

AUSTRALIAN WAR MEMORIAL AWM2022.5.535

455. FROST PRECAUTIONS. (ContTd)

(Note ; The actual proportion of Glycol to water can be checked with a Hydrometer graduated from 1.000 to 1.060. The density of a 25% solution at 60° F is 1.038. This percentage will afford protection against freezing to 10° F.

3. TOPPING UP.

(a) If loss of coolant is definitely due to evaporation, TOP UP with water only.

(b) If leakage is suspected, TOP UP with the correct mixture of Anti Freeze and water.

4. DRAINING THE COOLING SYSTEM.

When it is necessary to drain a cooling system which contains Anti Freeze, the coolant should be drained into clean containers, rust or other foreign matter allowed to settle, and the solution strained off and used again.

5. USE OF ANTI FREEZE IN TRAILER FIRE PUMPS.

(a) Cooling systems of Trailer Tyre Pumps may be divided into two distinct categories;

(i) in which the engine coolant circulates in a closed circuit
(ii) in which the engine coolant after circulating through the cooling system finally runs to waste

(b)
(i) Anti Freeze can be used in pumps described in category
(ii) Its use is NOT permissable in category (ii) since it would require to be renewed after each operation. The cooling system must be completely drained or the engine run at frequent intervals to maintain the coolant at a temperature above freezing point.

6. MARKING OF VEHICLES AND EQUIPMENT.

To denote that the cooling system contains Anti Freeze mixture the engine will be clearly marked by painting a yellow circle two inches in diameter on the radiator header tank or in a conspicuous position near the filler cap. In cases where the marking may be difficult to distinguish, the yellow circle will be super imposed on a white square background. Thismmarking will be painted out should the radiator be drained and NOT refilled with Anti Freeze.

...../5

AUSTRALIAN WAR MEMORIAL AWM2022.5.535

455. FROST PRECAUTIONS. (Con't)

7. GENERAL

(a) Precautions when Anti-Freeze is NOT available.

On completion of the days duty or when the vehicle or equipment will not be required for a considerable time, drain the cooling system by opening all drain taps.

Note: The opening of radiator drain taps is NOT in all cases a sufficient warranty that the cooling system is completely drained. Certain engines eg GMC & CVT are fitted with drain taps in the cylinder blocks. If these are not opened, some water will remain in the blocks. There is a possibility of this water freezing and cracking the engine block. After draining, a "NO WATER" sign will be secured to the vehicle in a conspicuous position.

(b) Vehicle or engine powered equipment held in Depots

Anti-Freeze will NOT be used in engines which are unlikely to be operated during the cold weather period, such as those stored in vehicle park depots etc. The cooling systems will be completely drained and "NO WATER" precautions observed.

(c) Action to assist easy engine starting

(i) If the engines is stiff, crank it by hand before the self starter.

(ii) Apply the choke to its fullest extent and set the hand throttle for a fast idle.

(iii) Disengage clutch and operate the self starter.

(iv) When the engine starts, adjust the choke and throttle to obtain even engine running. DO NOT RACE THE ENGINE.

(v) Maintain the specific gravity of the battery at 1.250 when fully changed. When it is necessary to add distilled water, it should be added just prior to running the engine to ensure a quick mixing of water and acid.

(d) For further details, reference should be made to "Inspection Maintenance and Care of Army Vehicles (Wheeled)" Chap VI.
