→ RE FURTHER AMALGAMATION OF UNITS. -

1. It is at no time my intention to destroy the identity of the various Units as they pass under my command. Until the end each Unit will retain its own Officers and Non-Commissioned Officers.
2. This will apply even should a Battalion be reduced to a Platoon, or even less. It will still remain an independent Unit, answerable only to the Central Office, which will remain under my command. The only exception to this rule will be the Transport, which it is recognised must be a mixed Unit, so far as personnel is concerned. As this is designed to expedite the final rapid Demobilisation of the men, I feel certain that neither the personnel of the 9th, nor that of the 10th, who will be then amalgamated into a composite Unit, will do anything but give their complete support and loyalty to the Officer who for the time being may be placed at their head.
3. After the departure of the next draft to Australia, the 9th Battalion will side-slip and move into the area at present occupied by "B" and "D" Companies of the 10th Battalion - The remnants of "B" and "D" Companies, 10th Battalion meanwhile moving into the area occupied by "A" Company. It is understood that the area at present occupied by the 9th Battalion will be occupied by the amalgamated 11th and 12th Battalions.
4. Company, Platoon and Sub Unit Commanders should fully explain to their men the object of the scheme and its working, in order to do away with any possibility of misunderstanding. It is easily foreseen that such an obvious organisation should take place and any Officer who is not familiar with its inner workings can obtain all the necessary information from the Central Office.

Commanding, 910th Battalion.

NINE HUNDRED AND TENTH AUSTRALIAN INF. BATTALION

NINE HUNDRED AND TENTH AUSTRALIAN INFANTRY BATTN.

910th AUSTRALIAN INFANTRY BATTALION.

Headquarters,

14th February, 1919.

RE FURTHER AMALGAMATION OF UNITS.

1. It is at no time my intention to destroy the identity of the various Units as they pass under my command. Until the end each Unit will retain its own Officers and Non-Commissioned Officers.
2. This will apply even should a Battalion be reduced to a Platoon, or even less. It will still remain an independent Unit, answerable only to the Central Office, which will remain under my command. The only exception to this rule will be the Transport, which it is recognised must be a mixed Unit, so far as personnel is concerned. As this is designed to expedite the final rapid Demobilisation of the men, I feel certain that neither the personnel of the 9th, nor that of the 10th, who will be then amalgamated into a composite Unit, will do anything but give their complete support and loyalty to the Officer who for the time being may be placed at their head.
3. After the departure of the next draft to Australia, the 9th Battalion will side-slip and move into the area at present occupied by "B" and "D" Companies of the 10th Battalion - The remnants of "E" and "D" Companies, 10th Battalion meanwhile moving into the area occupied by "A" Company. It is understood that the area at present occupied by the 9th Battalion will be occupied by the amalgamated 11th and 12th Battalions.
4. Company, Platoon and Sub Unit Commanders should fully explain to their men the object of the scheme and its working, in order to do away with any possibility of misunderstanding. It is easily foreseen that such an obvious organisation should take place and any Officer who is not familiar with its inner workings can obtain all the necessary information from the Central Office.

* RE FURTHER AMALGAMATION OF UNITS. *

1. It is at no time my intention to destroy the identity of the various Units as they pass under my command. Until the end each Unit will retain its own Officers and Non-Commissioned Officers.
2. This will apply even should a Battalion be reduced to a Platoon, or even less. It will still remain an independent Unit, answerable only to the Central Office, which will remain under my command. The only exception to this rule will be the Transport, which it is recognised must be a mixed Unit, so far as personnel is concerned. As this is designed to expedite the final rapid Demobilisation of the men, I feel certain that neither the personnel of the 9th, nor that of the 10th, who will be then amalgamated into a composite Unit, will do anything but give their complete support and loyalty to the Officer who for the time being may be placed at their head.
3. After the departure of the next draft to Australia, the 9th Battalion will side-slip and move into the area at present occupied by "B" and "D" Companies of the 10th Battalion - The remnants of "B" and "D" Companies, 10th Battalion meanwhile moving into the area occupied by "A" Company. It is understood that the area at present occupied by the 9th Battalion will be occupied by the amalgamated 11th and 12th Battalions.
4. Company, Platoon and Sub Unit Commanders should fully explain to their men the object of the scheme and its working, in order to do away with any possibility of misunderstanding. It is easily foreseen that such an obvious organisation should take place and any Officer who is not familiar with its inner workings can obtain all the necessary information from the Central Office.
