No.78.MARRIAGE OF AIF PERSONNEL IN U.K.

(a) Upon application being made by him :-
(i) A member of the forces intending to marry in the U.K. and who is serving in the U.K. or,
(ii) Any person legally authorised to celebrate marriages in the U.K. who proposes to celebrate a marriage to which any such member is a party.
the members commanding officer shall issue to such member or person a certificate showing:-
(a) Whether according to the Records of such member, he is or is not married, and
(b) Whether according to such records, he is or is not, supporting a defacto wife.
Proforma of Certificate is as follows:-

PRO FORMA CERTIFICATE LETTER HEAD.

THIS IS TO CERTIFY THAT ACCORDING TO THE SERVICE RECORDS OF (Regtl No.) Rank (Name in full) (Unit)
+ (a) He is married and is not
+ (b) He is supporting a de facto wife.
is not
Unit Stamp. Signature of Commanding Officer.....

(b) A Member of the forces proposing to marry in the U.K. shall make application to his Commanding Officer for such a certificate to be produced to the Registrar or Clergyman to whom notice of intended marriage is given at the time of giving such notice, as failure to produce this certificate at that stage may cause delay in the celebration of the marriage.
(c) Where a person who has previously been divorced intends to get married in the U.K. the Superintendant Registrar to whom notice to marry is made requires production of evidence of the divorce.
(d) In the case of AIF personnel serving in the U.K. the certificate referred to in sub para (a) of this order (which is nevertheless required) will not meet these requirements. Any member of the AIF therefore, who has been divorced and who intends to marry in the U.K. should, in order to avoid any unnecessary delay or inconvenience be ready to produce evidence of his divorce when required to do so by the Superintendant Registrar to whom notice of the intended marriage is given. Normally, evidence required is a copy of the decree absolute of the divorce, but if that is not available, such other evidence as is possible must be submitted to the Superintendant Registrar.
