APPENDIX "A" to W Comd
S69/14/46 of 29 Aug 44.

MODIFICATION TO SIGNAL TRAINING (ALL ARMS)

PAMPHLET 5 (1943) PARTS I

FOR THE

AUSTRALIAN MILITARY FORCES

(This Appendix replaces Appendix "A" to 3 Aust Corps memo G.14/6/20 of 21 Apr 44).

1. Figure suffixes may not be added to the code-signs in use in the SHPA. Therefore, instead of allotting code-signs to regiments, squadrons, batteries, battalions and independent companies, four letter pronounceable codenames will be issued for their internal communications. The codenames for sub-units of these units will be developed and abbreviated in the same way as described in Signal Training (All Arms) Pamphlet 5 Part I Sec 5 Para 2 and Part II Sec 10 Para 4(d).
2. Such codenames are secret, and except when orders to the contrary are issued, a fresh set will be taken into use daily at 1500Z hrs.
3. Figure-letter code-signs will be allotted to:-
 - (a) each headquarters down to infantry battalions, artillery regiments, armoured regiments, field companies, field squadrons, water transport companies and equivalent headquarters. This code-sign will also be used as the link-sign for the rear link wireless station;
 - (b) each rear link wireless terminal down to headquarters of infantry brigades, armoured brigades and equivalents;
 - (c) miscellaneous "one-to-one" wireless channels.
4. Such code-signs are secret and except when orders to the contrary are issued, a fresh set is taken into use daily at 1500Z hrs.
5. Stations will answer in order of alphabetical seniority of code-signs and codenames. The figures 1 to 0 respectively are classed as the 27th to 36th letters of the alphabet for the purpose of determining the alphabetical seniority of stations whose code-signs commence with a figure. Where stations have the same codename they answer in numerical order of figure affixes. Where they have the same codename and the same figure affix they answer in alphabetical order of letter affixes.
6. Blocks of six letter pronounceable codewords will be issued from LHQ to formations and LHQ units through signals channels for use as:-
 - (a) Code words in imposing and breaking wireless silence;
 - (b) Code words for allotting to frequencies. These code-words will mean "change to the frequency allotted to this codeword."

These codewords will be sub-allotted within formations through signals channels and the meanings allotted to them changed at frequent intervals.

7. The method of making a group call by stations using code-signs will be as follows:-

(a) by the control station

The call consists of the procedure signal CQ (or the phrase "hullo all stations" for RT) followed by the link sign of the senior outstation. Outstations answer in alphabetical order using the link sign of the senior outstation named. If a station fails to answer, the next station to answer will pause for 10 seconds and then reply with its own link-sign. The remaining stations to answer will use the link-sign named in the group call.

(b) by an outstation

The whole group may be called by an outstation. The call is made up as follows:-

(1) Link-sign of calling station; T CQ (or the phrase "and all stations" for RT); link-sign of the senior outstation.

(11) Control answers first using the link-sign of the calling station, and the remaining outstations answer in order using the link-sign named in the group call as explained in sub-para (a) above.

8. Long formal messages vide Sec 22 of Part II will be broken up into sections of approximately 40 groups by Corps of Signals stations.

9. All operating signals contained in "Army Operating Signals 1943" may be used by the Corps of Signals within the provisions laid down in the pamphlet. Only those operating signals authorised for use by Regimental signallers will be used by Corps of Signals stations when communicating with stations manned by Regimental Signallers.

10. Corps of Signals stations, when communicating with stations manned by Regimental Signallers, will limit all procedure to that contained in ST (AA) Pamphlet 5 (1943), as amended herein.

11. The Army Operating Signal "QYM" with meaning "This message may be sent as written by any means including wireless" will be used in conjunction with the new procedure. Amendments to the relevant pamphlet may be anticipated and will be issued in due course. Full instructions regarding the use of this signal are to be found in LHQ SM 70 of 4 Jan 44.

12. The procedure for switchboard operating described in Chapter VII of Part II of ST (AA) Pamphlet 5 (1943) overrides the procedure contained in Signal Training Pamphlet No 5 (1941) wherever the latter is in conflict with the former.
