1. To afford 2 Aust Div an opportunity of testing JAPANESE tactics when employed against AUST tps in AUST terrain.

4 Aust Div

2. To exercise 4 Aust Div in its operational role and to test Div adm arrangements under op conditions, and at the same time afford the Comd and staff of 4 Aust Div experience in the handling of a Div in battle.

3. To emphasise the necessity to plan all operations bearing in mind that the main task of 3 Aust Corps is to deny the PERTH-FREMANTLE Area to the enemy.

OPPOSING FORCES :

4. AUSTRALIA - 4 Aust Div (less 25 Aust Cav Regt)

5. JAPAN - 2 Aust Div (less 5 Aust Inf Bde)
 25 Aust Cav Regt
 44 Aust Inf Bn
 19 Aust Grn Bn

SCOPE OF THE EXERCISE :

6. The exercise lasted five days - troops were in contact for the last three days.

7. A great many lessons emerged from the exercise; these would not have been learned unless the powers of endurance of the troops had stood up to the demands made on them.

8. All ranks displayed the greatest interest in their work, thereby adding considerably to the realism of the various situations and to the value derived from the exercise.

MAIN LESSONS FROM THE EXERCISE :

9. The main lessons, including a short paragraph on each bde or force taking part, are set out below.

10. In addition to these points, it is intended to issue a paper on the battle of STRAWBERRY commenting in detail on the actions of both the JAPANESE and AUSTRALIAN Bde Gps engaged in that area on 25/27 Oct 42.

INFORMATION :

Collection

11. A perusal of umpires' reports indicates that only in one unit was the usual method of collecting information employed, that is the unit "I" sec being well forward obtaining information and ensuring its rapid transmission back to unit HQ.

12. In some cases good use was made of LO's; however, in many units the "I" sec remained inactive waiting for something to come in. TO OBTAIN information it must be CHASED.

Collation

13. There was a tendency to collate every scrap of information relevant and irrelevant. The main reason for this appeared that "I" personnel did not appreciate that in collation it is necessary to "break down" rather than "build up". It is essential to summarize and record the vital information and to present it as a concise and clear picture.

Dissemination

14. There was a tendency to issue "out of date" information simply because a formation had laid down that a sitrep would be issued at a certain hour. Frequently useless information was issued and the time of the "I" personnel was taken up needlessly when better use could have been made of their services.

15. Undoubtedly "I" personnel were working at pressure, but much more value would have resulted from their efforts had only the vital information been dealt with and the appropriate deductions made therefrom.

COMMUNICATIONS :

16. An early appreciation of the probable development of operations over such an extensive area should have made comds realise that the success of the operations for both sides depended largely on good communications.

17. If there were any doubts as to the efficiency of the available communications, early action should have been taken to augment the existing facilities; such additional provision might have included additional LO's, advanced report centres, DR staging systems, etc.

18. When, owing to some technical difficulty, a wireless set went off the air, generally all traffic ceased from that sig centre, until such time as the set was again working satisfactorily. During this period, as no alternative means had been organised, traffic for despatch was piling up. When the equipment was again functioning the sig dot was snowed under.

19. As soon as communication is interrupted, it is the responsibility of sigs to ensure that traffic is immediately diverted to another channel should this be available. Should, for any reason, traffic pile up then all messages should be examined from time to time and those that are no longer effective returned to the office of origin for disposal.

W/T Sets

20. There was a tendency to operate W/T sets from the vehicle. In many cases no attempt was made to take the sets from the vehicle and operate them from trenches or under cover - even when in the one position for hours, and in some cases, days.

21. It is felt that the general failure of W/T was due to inefficient handling rather than to the technical failure of the equipment.

Line Comms

22. The standard of line comms was very poor. In forward areas, lines were laid much too close to roads, with the result that when two vehicles had to pass, one of the vehicles would pass over the line, damaging the insulation. No attempt was made to make lines secure. Road crossings were poor - where the cable should have been buried, it was exposed.

Cipher

23. Cipher personnel did a creditable job. They were overworked and had the exercise continued, it would have been necessary to replace them. It is essential that such personnel be rested during operations.

Sig offices and centres :

24. Frequently sig offices were congested. Too much personal equipment and baggage littered the office truck and effective use of side tents was not made.
25. Rest areas, W/T sets, and Sig offices were in many cases much too close to each other. Greater dispersal is essential.
26. In some cases the camouflage of vehicles and Sig offices was poor. Aerials were placed out in open fields in full view of aircraft. Track discipline was non-existent in many Bde Sig offices.
27. In many Sig offices a list of franking officers did not exist.

Lighting of Sig offices :

28. In some Bde Sig offices only candles (sometimes purchased by the operators themselves) or very poor oil lamps were provided. This inefficient light caused unnecessary eye-strain and hampered the work.

LAYOUT AND ORGANISATION OF HQ :

29. In some cases the "G" office did not function as an operational office during the exercise; no log, diary or record of telephone conversations was kept and much unnecessary work in connection with normal routine and trg matters was handled.
30. Generally, effective arrangements were made for the camouflage and concealment of Div and Bde HQ.
31. However, in regard to the layout and organisation of unit HQ, there was considerable room for improvement. Generally there was an absence of track plans. In addition there was bunching of vehs and the presence of smoke and fires often gave away the location of a HQ.
32. A general criticism of unit HQ was that their areas were too congested and any bombing would have inflicted considerable casualties with a consequent unnecessary deterioration in the functioning of the HQ.

Protection of HQ :

33. Whereas adequate measures were taken for the static protection of Div, Bde, etc. HQ, the mobile aspect of this protection was overlooked. Some HQ were so sited that a number of lines of approach were left open, thereby affording an enterprising enemy opportunity to approach undetected to a very close range.

Location of HQ :

34. The enemy HQ would normally have been on a vessel at sea. Circumstances prevented this and thrust the HQ too close to one particular sector of the front and rendered comm between HQ and the several fronts impossible. It also had the effect of making the Comd take too much interest in the sector in which he was stationed to the detriment of other sectors.

The Aust Div HQ was too far removed from the scene of operations to facilitate comm of information on the development of the battle. Thus the influence of the Comd on the battle was very restricted.

Dispersal of Vehicles :

35. Generally speaking, in too many cases groups of vehicles were clustered, thus affording excellent bomb targets for aircraft. When on the move, distances between vehicles were inadequate. In the semi-open country in which the exercise took place, vehicles should have been at least 200 yards apart, both on the move and at rest.

TACTICAL PICTURE

36. In a number of situations the picture between Div and Bdes was obscure due mainly to lack of comms and the nature of reports sent back from forward troops.
37. On account of the same lack of comms the general picture was largely unknown to all units. Most troops, however, were kept aware of the local picture by means of information sent forward from unit HQ and passed on to the troops by platoon etc comds.
38. It is emphasised that this lack of the tactical picture in an exercise will again occur in actual operations unless all ranks are imbued with the necessity of passing back information and all HQ realise the importance of getting it back to the next higher HQ. If this information is not coming back, then "I" personnel and LO's must go forward and get it.

TACTICAL LESSONS

25 Aust Cav Regt (Z Force)

39. "Tip and Run" tactics were generally employed. Determined and aggressive action would have resulted in this regt successfully carrying out the role allotted. The regt was on occasions inclined to be "roadbound".
40. Generally, the value of hull down positions was not appreciated, and little use was made of fire.
41. When at rest and during halts for meals, adequate arrangements were not made for protection.
42. On one occasion the det of this regt operating in the MULLEWA Area had a considerable preponderance in personnel and equipment over the local garrison. Had they operated with determination, the defenders would have been destroyed, but the Cav, having made contact, disengaged soon afterwards. The investment of MULLEWA appeared to be the object rather than the destruction of the enemy forces in the area.

19 Grn Bn (Y Force)

43. A feature of the handling of 19 Grn Bn was the consideration given to the organisation of the HQ and its protection as far as the skeleton forces available would allow.
44. Probably on account of the operational role allotted to 19 Grn Bn, the defensive aspect was usually considered first. Generally orders given were too long and subsequent action slow.

8 Aust Inf Bde Gp (X Force)

45. The operations of 8 Inf Bde Gp in the STRAWBERRY Area on 25/26 Oct affords a good example of an advance pressed with great vigour and carried out over very difficult country. However, it is considered more vigorous and deeper patrolling and action more in conformity with the principles of the "Mobile Defence" as laid down in 3 Aust Corps Training Pamphlet "Tactics in Modern Warfare" dated 1 Aug 42, would have made the task of 8 Bde much more difficult and would have afforded the defending bde an opportunity to deal with each bn in turn.
46. Even when 4 and 35 Bns were established astride rd MINGENEW-IRWIN, an immediate and determined attack would have made the situation for 8 Bde almost untenable. If one of the forward bns of the Aust force had been used to attack the 4 and 35 Bns instead of withdrawing them to the rear, the enemy may have been forced to withdraw. Offensive action would have been better than withdrawal.

47. The difficulties of the terrain in respect to movement off roads were under-estimated. This resulted in a time lag after the issue of orders and somewhat slowed up their operations. Apart from this, the action was well fought, with initiative shown in regard to the plans made, alternative plans considered, offensive action and the objective being maintained throughout.

44 Bn Gp (W Force)

48. The 44 Bn Gp was allotted the role of harassing the 13 Inf Bde Gp and preventing the move of troops from the MOORA Area to other threatened positions of 4 Div Area. The 44 Bn Gp developed a plan which kept Comd 13 Inf Bde Gp continually guessing as to where the enemy forces were located. Whenever patrols of 13 Inf Bde were encountered they were dealt with effectively and with great determination. In view of the lack of information as to the whereabouts of the enemy, a state of "nerves" was developed. The effect of 44 Bn Gp was such that the defenders in the locality were tied to the South by the continual threat presented (though it was considered safe on the 26/27 Oct to send a bn from 13 Bde to assist 6 Bde). It was not until 1300 hrs on 26 Oct that Comd 4 Aust Div ordered the move of a bn gp from 13 Bde to assist 6 Bde in the STRAWBERRY Area.

49. The absence of adequate MT prevented 44 Bn Gp from developing the maximum effect from their plans.

This Bn Gp failed to keep the Force Comd informed of the progress of events. Thus the Force Comd was unable to take advantage of any weakness that may have been shown in the enemy posns.

2 Aust Inf Bde :

50. 2 Aust Inf Bde was located in the GERALDTON Area and was responsible to the northward as well as to seawards. The initial dispositions were such as would enable the comd to meet an advance from either direction. Being without the assistance of a Cav Regt, small mobile cols were used for recon purposes to northward.

51. The maintenance of the objective was ever present - the destruction of enemy forces.

52. All troops were aggressive and keen to attack. Speed was maintained throughout the operations, but on a number of occasions, congestion of vehicles was noticeable at debussing points.

6 Aust Inf Bde :

53. This Bde had the task of dealing with the initial main enemy thrust. Some comments on the engagement have already been made in paras 45/46, and a subsequent paper is being issued covering the whole action in detail.

54. Generally, the plans made were sound, and once made, were carried out with determination, though an opportunity to deal with the enemy force which had succeeded in outflanking the posn was missed.

13 Aust Inf Bde :

55. The initial plans of 13 Aust Inf Bde were inclined to be cautious rather than bold. In view of the situation in the DANDARAGAN Area, when the exact strength and dispositions of the enemy were unknown, this was probably considered the safest and best method. The result, however, was that a passive rather than an aggressive attitude was developed in the bde, and it is suggested that a better answer would have been an adaptation of the principles of "mobile defence", with a holding force in the MOORA Area and the remainder of the Bde Gp seeking out the attacking force with the aid of air recon and destroying it.

56. Though the invading force reached to within two miles of MOORA, a continuance of the exercise would eventually have forced the JAP mobile column to fight a set piece attack against one bn gp with a second bn gp coming in from one flank. The issue would probably have gone in favour of 13 Aust Inf Bde, unless of course, the JAP column had succeeded in drawing out of the fight and adopted harassing tactics.

Arty :

57. The fd regts of 4 Aust Div were placed under command of Inf Bdes.

58. Although with this arty disposition HQ Div Arty may not have been required to exercise any operational control, it is considered that this allotment afforded an opportunity for the CRA to advise Comds of Inf Bdes on the employment of Fd and A Tk arty, as well as making close contact with Comds of Arty Regts.

It is essential that HQ Div Arty should maintain up to date arty intelligence so as to enable the control of arty to be effected immediately regts cease to be decentralized, and also that they may keep the Div Comd fully informed.

59 Engrs :

59. Except for minor technical details which have been dealt with separately, the engrs carried out their tactical tasks efficiently.

60. The problem of comm between engrs and the HQ to which they were attached again presented itself, and in view of the probable similarly long distances likely to be met with in actual ops, the question should receive immediate attention by all comds. In view of the little likelihood of additional signal equipment being made available, this problem must be tackled from the point of view of available resources.

61. Every wide flanking column and most special task forces, no matter how small, should have an engineer recon party at or near the head of the column to give technical advice in overcoming obstacles, etc. This was not always done.

62. As the inf bdes did not move out of their normal op areas the big problem of water supply in new areas did not occur.

63. Similarly the area in which the action was fought did not present any great bridging problems - except in 6 Bde Area. As bridging equipment had previously been dumped in this area, it was readily available; the same facility would not have been available had the exercise extended to new areas.

Signals :

64. The detailed technical signal weaknesses have been dealt with separately. The main lessons are contained in paras, 16-28.

Adm Lessons :

65. A paper C2: Adm lessons is being issued separately.

AIR SUPPORT

Information :

66. On the enemy side no sitrep was received throughout the exercise. A message requesting information brought the reply "SITREP NO CHANGE". Accordingly it was impracticable to give air crews a true tactical picture when briefing. Arrangements must be made for keeping the AIL0 informed as to the latest situation generally over the whole area, and in detail as to the area in respect of which the aircraft is co-operating. On the Australian side, too, the passage of information was the greatest weakness.

Intercomm :

67. It is pointed out that infm supplied by message dropping is often too late when aircraft are working over large areas. HQ must be prepared to use the wireless AIR RECCE CODES in addition to standard ground signals.

68. Pilots' reports indicate that ground to air co-operation as regards message dropping stations and own tps locations was very good.

Camouflage and Dispersal :

69. Pilots' reports indicate that camouflage was of a high standard, but that, as usual, one or two badly camouflaged vehicles or movement of personnel led to the discovery of targets which otherwise would have escaped detection. One man may give away the unsuspected location of a whole unit. Every man MUST be trained as to the correct drill to be followed when aircraft are overhead.

Recce :

70. Generally recce aircraft flew much too low and both gave the wrong impression on occasions to the troops, and also carried back information which under normal circumstances it is unlikely they would have detected.

APPENDICE "A"

1 Aust. Army, Jungle Tng. Cadre, Tamborine.

- 2 April. The battalion bivouaced in the open at Eagle Heights
- 3 April. Reveille at 0530 hours.
From 0630 Hrs. till 0730 hrs, the whole battallion attended a lecture.
The battalion commenced movement through jungle country at 0830 hrs, in the folling order__ D. coy, Bn. H. Q., C. coy., Bcoy., A coy., under instructors from the school staff. At 1255 hrs. after a short halt for lunch, the battalion continued the advance through dense undergrowth, with two companies up, C on left and B on right, Bn, H. Q. centre rear, and A. Coy. on left and D coy. on right rear. Coys. reached the track at 1630 hrs, and marched back to the bivouac area, arriving at approximately 1745 hrs.
- 4 April. Reveille at 0600 hrs.
The battalion was divided into three groups for a series of three lectures and demonstrations on Booby Traps, Jungle Comforts and Japanese Ruses. Lectures finished at 1500 hrs. when companies moved back to the bivouac area and prepared to spend the night in the jungle area, which was reached by 1730 hrs. All troops erected jungle huts.
- 5 April. Reveille at 0500 hrs.
The battalion moved back to the bivouac area for breakfast. At 0800 hrs. a lecture on patrols and formations in the jungle was given, after which , companies took part in practical exercises on the subject and returned to the bivouac area at 1700 hrs. Rain fell heavily during the afternoon, and all personnel returned to camp wet. Rain also fell during the night but the majority of the troops kept fairly dry, ~~with~~ improvised huts and tents. ~~Some~~ ~~had~~ ~~blankets~~
- 6 April. Reveille for A and C coys at 0400 hrs.
Reveille for B and D coys at 0500 hrs.
During the morning A and C coys. carried out an attack on each other in dense jungle, and B and D coys. had a lecture on and then prepared in practice a defensive position. In the afternoon, companies exchanged exercises.
The battalion commenced the move back to Woodford at 1800 hrs. arriving at that camp area at 0130 hrs on the 7 April. Troops were in excellent spirits, and came through the four days⁸ course in a fit condition and with a minimum of casualties.

----------	-----------	------------

3. RIFLES - CARE AND PRESERVATION

1. Reports continue to reach L.H.Q. indicating that the position in regard to the care and preservation of rifles by unit personnel is deteriorating; this is mainly due to:

- (a) Culpable neglect by unit personnel.
- (b) Neglect by sub unit commanders and section leaders to ensure that inspections and correct procedure are carried out for care and preservation of arms.
- (c) In some instances, particularly units of services a general disinterest in small arms by OC's and junior officers.

2. The general neglected condition of small arms equipment is a matter of grave concern and immediate steps are to be taken by all OC(s) to ensure that the instructions contained in Section 1, Vol.1, Pam 3, SAT are complied with.

3. OC's will take disciplinary action in all cases in which there is culpable neglect of arms. Formations will ensure that such action is taken and when neglect appears widespread in a unit will decide whether action should also be taken against the OC concerned.

4. PUBLICITY CONCERNING ESCAPED PRISONERS OF WAR

Members of the AIF will not, unless authorised by the Commander-in-Chief, publish in any form whatever, or communicate, either directly or indirectly, to the press or radio any account of the escape of any person whatsoever from enemy or enemy-occupied territory or of the experiences of such person prior to repatriation. Experience has shown that publicity of this character furnishes valuable information to the enemy and will jeopardize future escapes of Australian and Allied prisoners of war.

5. BROADCASTS OVER ENEMY WIRELESS BY AUSTRALIAN PRISONERS OF WAR.

A member of the Military Forces who becomes a prisoner of war will not transmit messages over enemy wireless. The enemy's design, in arranging such broadcasts, is to enhance his own propaganda.

6. TRANSFERS TO OTHER UNITS

The following procedure will in future be adopted by personnel wishing to apply for transfer to other units.

- (a) Application will be handed in addressed to Coy Cmdr who will append recommendation or otherwise and then forward to BN.HQ.
- (b) This unit will make necessary enquiries if vacancy exists in unit to which transfer is applied for to, provided this unit is agreeable to the transfer.

In future personnel applying direct to another unit for transfer will immediately be charged with "disobeying a lawful command".
