FLOOD DAMAGE

The following message concerning the recent floods, has been received from the Divisional Commander and will be brought to the attention of all ranks.

"Please inform all ranks under your command of my satisfaction at the manner in which the necessary work was done to offset the damage caused by the recent rains.

We must expect similar happenings over the next few weeks but I am confident that if any emergencies which arise, are tackled in the same manner as those just passed we shall experience a minimum of inconvience. Moreover the execution of our operational role will not be unduly hampered. "

SAFETY PRECAUTIONS LIVE GRENADE PRACTICES

GENERAL

1. Accidents can generally be traced to one of the four main causes:-

IGNORANCE
NEGLIGENCE
DELIBERATE MISHANDLING
FRIGHT

2. The first three can be excluded by training and supervision the last can be overcome quickly by live practice. All men should throw a minimum of two live grenades.

PRECAUTIONS TO BE OBSERVED BEFORE AND DURING LIVE GRENADE PRACTICE:

3. The following precautions WILL ALWAYS be observed:-

(a) Before a live practice begins all danger flags must be raised, look out men posted and the danger area must be ascertained clear of persons and livestock. The danger area is shown in Appx A.

(b) A Medical Orderly with First Aid appliances will be in attendance and the unit MO will be informed that a live grenade practice is being conducted.

(c) Every person taking part in or controlling live grenade practice will wear a steel helmet.

(d) Smoking is forbidden on the range and at any time when live grenades, detonators etc, are being handled or carried.

(e) A red danger flag will be kept at the Control Post during the practice. This will be lowered as a signal that the practice is about to begin. The controller having first satisfied himself that danger flags and look out men are in position and that the area is clear. The position for danger flags and look out men is shown in Appx A.

(f) Training with live grenades will be carried out under the control of either:-

(i) An Officer, Warrant Officer or NCO who has qualified at an Army Small Arms School weapon training course which included in its syllabus live grenade throwing or firing.

(ii) An Officer, Warrant Officer or NCO who has been similarly trained by a qualified instructor and who is considered by the Commanding Officer competent of supervising live grenade training. In the case of an NCO the authority of the Commanding Officer must be given in writing.

(g) No gronade will be primed and NO man will throw without a direct order to do so from the Officer in charge.

(h) Any order to take cover must be instantly obeyed.

(j) To eliminate any possibility of prematures all the points laid down for the inspection and preparation of grenades, igniter sets etc, will be strictly carried out. Grenades and igniter sets will never be inspected together, the inspection of grenades will first be carried out and they will be replaced in their boxes. The inspection of igniter sets will follow.

(k) Every blind grenade will be accounted for and destroyed by a qualified person before practice continues.

(l) A demolition set must always be on the range during live grenade practice.

(m) Should a primed grenade not be exploded the igniter set will be removed at once and returned to its box. Particular care must be taken that NO grenade is returned to the store primed.

(n) An NCO who has qualified or who has the Commanding Officers written approval will always be on duty in each priming and throwing bay.

(o) Not more than one person in addition to the NCO on duty will be in any priming or throwing bay or in the control post at any time.

(p) Every one except the Officer in charge, the NCOs on duty in the priming, throwing bays or Control Post and the men actually priming or throwing will be under cover or out of the danger area.

(q) No grenade will be primed until the man enters the priming bay preparatory to throwing. To ensure that this rule is obeyed the box containing the igniter sets will be in possession of the NCO on duty in the priming bay. He will issue the number required to each man as he arrives and will personally supervise the operation of priming .
