BOARD OF SURVEY : 7 FD SQN : A/C Q203

1. Following is text of N Comd 983:N1:1 dated 31 Jul 67:-
 - "1. Returned herewith is the abovementioned AAF F27 No 17/67 as it does not comply with MBI 5-1 para 19(d) in that watches are controlled stores and should be the subject of a separate Board of Survey.
 2. Considerable confusion exists regarding Equipment Instructions Part 2, para 16.6 which deals with controlled stores. The main principle is that controlled stores are to be returned to 1 BOD with an indication as to whether the Board considers the item should be sold, destroyed etc. This can be achieved by showing "return" in the recommendation section of the AAF F27 and the decision of the Board in the remarks section of the Board of Survey.
 3. The typewriter is not required to be returned to 1 BOD and the Board should indicate on another AAF F27 its decision in accordance with MBI 5-1 para 22. In doing so cognisance should be taken of sub para (b)(iii). If the decision is "sell", the terms of Equipment Instructions, Part 4, Chapter 14 will apply.
 4. The relevant AFs G1033 (apparently forwarded to 1 BOD contrary to Equipment Instructions Part 2, Chapter 15.7(c)) and AAFs F114 are also returned herewith.
2. Unit will take necessary action and resubmit.

EXERCISE NOISY PITTA : EXERCISE REPORT

References : A. HQ 6 TF R810:467:2 dated 28 Apr 67
B. Map : Shoalwater Bay Special 1:100000

General

1. Exercise NOISY PITTA was conducted in the SHOALWATER BAY Training Area from 17 Jul 67 to 13 Aug 67. These dates included the initial lodgement of the logistical support group for the exercise, the four phases of the exercise and the dispersal from the exercise area.
2. The exercise was a one-sided exercise with troops employing a controlled enemy.

Order of Battle

3. Exercise NOISY PITTA ORBAT is attached as Annex A.
4. The exercise setting, as outlined in the General Idea in Reference A, followed on from Exercise BARRA WINGA and continued the operations of 6 TF in Region 12 in the Republic of SOUTH QUEENSLAND (RSQ)

Aim of Exercise

5. To exercise 8 RAR and supporting elements as a battalion group in a Task Force setting in limited warfare in SOUTH EAST ASIA within the revolutionary warfare context.

Scope

6. The exercise was planned to include the following:-
 - a. Defence.
 - b. Advance to contact.
 - c. Patrolling including search and clear operations.
 - d. Cordon and Search.
 - e. Attack on a defended camp.
7. Within the scope, of the exercise, the aspects to be emphasised were:-
 - a. Application of supporting fire.
 - b. Covert regrouping and deployment.
 - c. Insertion of cordons by stealth.
 - d. Re-supply by air.
 - e. Maintenance procedures.
 - f. Limited air surveillance and mobility.
 - g. Countering limited enemy air surveillance.
 - h. Deployment of supporting arms.

RAAF Report

8. This is to be issued separately. The TFASO and staff quickly intergrated into the Task Force Headquarters and inter service relations were of a high standard.

Division of Report

- 9. This report is in two parts:-
 - a. Part 1 - Report on 8 RAR.
 - b. Part 2 - Report on other arms, services and general exercise matters.

Exercise WOLFE PITTS was conducted in the BOULMATHA RAY Training Area from 17 Jul 67 to 13 Aug 67. These dates included the initial lodgement of the logistical support group for the exercise, the four phases of the exercise and the dispersal from the exercise area.

The exercise was a one-sided exercise with troops employing a controlled

Order of Battle

Exercise WOLFE PITTS DEBAT is attached as Annex A.

The exercise setting, as outlined in the General Idea in Reference A, followed on from Exercise BARRA WINDA and contained the operations of 6 TF in Region 12 in the Republic of SOUTH QUEENSLAND (R22).

Area of Exercise

To exercise 8 RAR and supporting elements as a battalion group in a task force acting in limited warfare in SOUTH EAST ASIA within the revolutionary warfare context.

Scope

The exercise was planned to include the following:-

- a. Defence.
- b. Advance to contact.
- c. Patrolling including search and clear operations.
- d. Border and search.
- e. Attack on a defended camp.

Within the scope of the exercise, the aspects to be emphasized were:-

- a. Application of supporting arms.
- b. Control regarding air operations.
- c. Exercise of control in search.
- d. Re-supply of air.
- e. Reinforcement movement.
- f. Limited air operations and control.
- g. Countering limited and general warfare.
- h. Deployment of supporting arms.

WAR Report

This is to be issued separately. The WARSO and staff quickly interpreted into the task force headquarters and later service relations were of a high standard.

PART 1 : REPORT ON 8 RAR

General

10. From the beginning of the exercise, it was obvious that 8 RAR was feeling the lack of an appropriate opportunity to deploy as a battalion group prior to being exercised on NOISY PITTA. As a result, 8 RAR found the tempo of operations in Phases 1 and 2 of the exercise too demanding. This did NOT give the Battalion, at this stage of training, sufficient time to settle down.

11. In addition 8 RAR undertook, in the early stages of the defensive phase, a major clearing operation which was NOT called for by the Exercise Director. Although this operation was well planned and executed, it increased the pressure on the battalion and reduced the time available for the battalion to adjust itself. This operation resulted in the battalion being off balance in meeting the demands of the problems in the remainder of Phase 1 and in the planning and conduct of Phase 2.

12. It was NOT until the beginning of Phase 3 of the exercise that 8 RAR had overcome its initial difficulties and commenced to function as a coordinated battalion group.

Defence

13. The main defence problem was conducted in a Task Force setting. 8 RAR was required to occupy a defensive position over a wide front against a possible enemy guerilla force of one company strength.

14. The major weaknesses obvious during this phase were as follows:-

- a. Rifle Companies were too dispersed and in some cases failed to provide for their own security.
- b. More supervision needs to be paid to the development of weapon pits.
- c. Patrolling programmes require more planning and there is a need to ensure that adequate time is allowed for briefing of patrols.

15. Although 8 RAR was unsettled in this defensive phase, the unit conducted operations in an offensive manner. However, it may be argued that the conduct of the defence was too ambitious, being more suited for a highly trained and experienced battalion.

16. During the conduct of this defensive phase the supporting arms were correctly deployed by 8 RAR and quickly integrated into the battalion group.

Search and Clear Operations

17. The exercise had two search and clear operations. One required 8 RAR to destroy a defended food cache; the other was against an enemy weapons cache. In addition, 8 RAR planned and conducted a search and clear operation during the defensive phase of the exercise.

18. The operation planned and conducted by 8 RAR was to search and clear forward of the Battalion FEBA to line ALFA. This operation was conducted well and succeeded in achieving its aim.

RESTRICTED

REF ID: A11111

19. The operation against the food cache took too long to plan by 8 RAR. This resulted in the troops being flown direct to the LZ and thus prejudicing the operation. The enemy was able to observe the fly in of the 8 RAR troops and thus abandoned and booby trapped the cache.

20. The arms cache was a short exercise which was successfully carried out by 8 RAR.

21. Throughout all phases of the exercise, in particular the search and clear operations, 8 RAR was most efficient in evacuating to Headquarters 6 Task Force captured enemy, enemy equipment and documents.

Advance to Contact

22. The aim of this phase of the exercise was to practice 8 RAR in the advance in a limited war setting. Apart from practicing the battalion group in the principles of the advance, it was intended to exercise the movement of F echelon, on wheels, in a manner which could be required to be carried out by 8 RAR in its future employment as a unit of FARELF.

23. Apart from the movements of F echelon, this phase of the exercise was conducted successfully. However, the battalion orders were given too late and did NOT allow time, for sub units to carry out adequate reconnaissance and give detailed orders. More use should have been made of the bounds and report lines laid down for controlling the rate of advance. At times, the companies leading the advance became too dispersed.

24. The movement of guns was carried out by air; this was well planned and implemented efficiently.

25. Initially during this phase, the movement of F echelon was NOT well handled. This was due to a variety of reasons, the most important being:-

- a. The apparent reluctance and inability of 8 RAR, at this stage of the exercise, to control and move a battalion group F echelon on light scales.
- b. The lack of timely and detailed Engineer route reconnaissance.
- c. The inexperience and lack of determination on the part of the battalion echelon commander and drivers in overcoming difficult but passable going.

26. From the commencement of phase 3 of the exercise, the earlier difficulties were resolved and the battalions F echelon negotiated successfully the crossing through the 10 mile gap from WADALLAH to RASPBERRY VALE.

Cordon and Search

27. The cordon and search phase of the exercise required 8 RAR to move clandestinely from WADALLAH across the NORMANBY Range and cordon and search RASPBERRY VALE.

28. During this phase, it was obvious that the battalion had settled down and had commenced to function efficiently. The move across the NORMANBY Range and the placing in position of the cordon was achieved without any loss of security. The battalion Command net was monitored on a 24 hour basis during the cordon and search operation and NO indication was given that a cordon and search operation was about to take place. The battalion is to be congratulated on this performance.

RESTRICTED

29. The search of RASPBERRY VALE was well planned and timed. In view of the lack of opportunity to train in searching techniques in conjunction with civil police, this aspect was conducted in an acceptable manner. With more experience, 8 RAR should become proficient in searching techniques. This phase of the operation benefited considerably by the provision, by control headquarters, of the District Officer, Chief Police Officer, civil police, interpreters and medical and dental personnel.

Attack

30. The final phase of the exercise was the planning and mounting of a deliberate attack by 8 RAR against a well prepared enemy regular force company position.

31. The planning and deployment of troops for the attack achieved a good standard. When compared to phases 1 and 2 of the exercise, it proves the value the exercise has been to 8 RAR.

32. The plan for the attack was tactically sound and, unlike the earlier phases, orders were issued early and all sub units had ample time to conduct reconnaissance and give orders.

Battalion Headquarters

33. At the commencement of the exercise, battalion headquarters did NOT function smoothly within a Task Force setting. As the exercise progressed, the majority of faults were overcome. However, it is considered that more training is required before the headquarters can be regarded as being proficient in the variety of tasks and procedures called for in the handling of a group of all arms within a Task Force setting. It should be noted that many faults resulted from inexperience on Control Headquarters and also throughout the exercise the battalion was without the services of its regular 2IC.

Communications Security

34. This proved a difficult and cumbersome feature of the exercise. The battalion worked hard to achieve a satisfactory standard of communications security, but once again, as in previous exercises, the complete inadequacy of the current codes available to units of the AMF was apparent. The use of Slidex has proven to be too slow and completely unsuited to the type and tempo of counterinsurgency operations.

Movement

35. The battalion and supporting arms, in particular 107 Fd Bty, conducted all aspects of air movement in a highly satisfactory manner.

36. The movement on foot by the battalion, apart from lack of control during the advance in phase 2, was equally successful and it was pleasing to note that the standard of navigation and physical fitness within the battalion was of a good standard.

37. Moreover, much of the effectiveness of this movement was reduced by the fact that the battalion has NOT fully learnt the need NOT to litter a trail whilst on the move. In particular the wrappings from the sweets in the 24 hours ration pack were obvious along routes taken by the troops.

RESTRICTED

Information

38. The passage of information back to Task Force Headquarters during the first two phases of the exercise was below standard. In the latter phases of the exercise this improved but more attention will have to be given to this aspect in the future.

39. The FO's from 107 Fd Bty proved to be a good source of information for Task Force Headquarters.

40. As mentioned in the search and clear operations, the evacuation of captured enemy equipment and documents, was of a high standard. All items earmarked by Control Headquarters for capture were recovered, reported and quickly despatched to Task Force Headquarters.

Orders

41. Orders from BHQ were well prepared and given. In the early phases of the exercise, it is considered that on a number of occasions insufficient time was allowed for the issue of orders at company and lower levels.

Night Operations

42. Throughout the exercise, 8 RAR gained considerable experience in movement and operating by night. With the apparent high standard of navigation within the battalion, they had NO difficulty in these night operations.

Air Resupply

43. The battalion successfully received all its resupplies by airdrop throughout the exercise. There is a need to ensure that the passage of information, relating to air resupply, from BHQ to the Battalion A echelon area is faster and less cumbersome. It is important that the procedures as laid down in 6 TF SOPs are understood and strictly adhered to. The majority of faults would NOT have occurred if this had been carried out.

Administration

44. It was apparent that 8 RAR echelon did NOT have copies of 6 Task Force SOP's initially. Once the required list of returns was advised to the echelon, returns were submitted spasmodically at first but more consistently as the exercise progressed.

45. Initially there appeared insufficient foresight given to administrative planning as was evidenced by late and constant changes to supply demands. As 8 RAR became more conversant with the maintenance system, demands showed more stability, and it was encouraging to note a major improvement in the latter stages of the exercise.

Medical and Hygiene

46. The standard of health and hygiene in 8 RAR proved to be high. The battalion prior to this exercise worked hard at achieving a high degree of physical fitness and this paid dividends as shown by the following summary of evacuations during the exercise period:-

a. Skin infections	-	2
b. Musculo-skeletal	-	3
c. Wounds	-	1
d. Blistered feet	-	1
e. Dental	-	2
f. Gastro intestinal	-	6
g. Other minor cases	-	1
Total		16

RESTRICTED

Summary

47. The weaknesses noted in this report should be tempered by the fact that this is the first time 8 RAR has had the opportunity to deploy in a major exercise with supporting arms; in fact, it is the first occasion that the Battalion has been exercised in a major controlled battalion exercise.

48. The concluding stages of this exercise have indicated that 8 RAR has overcome its major difficulties. This battalion requires the experience of further battalion exercises. It would then be able to remedy faults apparent in NOISY PITTA and perfect its standard of operations. However in my opinion the battalion is adequately trained at this stage to undertake its allotted role in FARELF.

RESTRICTED

PART 2 : GENERAL COMMENTS

Control Headquarters

49. During exercise NOISY TIPPA the control Headquarters, being HQ 6 TF, was able to practice the following:-

- a. Defensive layout.
- b. Blackout procedures.
- c. Camouflage and concealment.
- d. Tactical deployment.

50. Unlike an 'AD HOC' control organization, a Task Force Headquarters does NOT require permanent scale A accommodation. An exercise of this nature provides the opportunity for the Task Force Headquarters to deploy and operate tactically in the field.

51. However it is agreed with the recommendations of previous reports that some form of permanent accommodation is required for the housing of umpires, conducting umpire courses, exercise recce parties, and for accommodating Control Headquarters if the latter is an AD HOC organization.

Umpire Organization

52. The present scaling of Infantry Umpires is adequate. However, it is recommended that one or two additional umpires be provided for the field battery to enable appropriate umpiring of activities in the gun area, as well as the forward parties.

53. For future exercises it is recommended that Umpires be issued with a coloured ribbon to place on the hats of troops declared dead. This would reduce the confusion particularly in Cordon and Search and attack phases.

54. 6 TF conducted a four day umpire course prior to the Exercise; this proved to be adequate. It is important that names of umpires be forwarded to the Control Headquarters at least two weeks prior to deployment on the Exercise to enable the necessary exercise papers and instructions to be forwarded and read by the Umpires.

Supporting Arms

Armour

55. The deficiencies in the organization of a cavalry squadron have been listed in detail in previous reports. Whilst these, in part, can be overcome from within Squadron resources, lack of suitability of vehicles cannot.

56. Wheeled AFVs cannot effectively carry out the cavalry role of support of infantry, because of lack of fire power and limited cross country mobility. However, for the training value cavalry should be included on future ORBATS where the scope of the exercise permits.

Phase 1

57. The troop was well employed during this phase on reconnaissance, patrolling, escort duties and was apparently well sited in the Battalion defensive position.

RESTRICTED

58. However, the troop was subjected to an unusual administrative grouping in that it was placed under command of A Coy for administration. Whilst A Coy performed its task well, it is hardly a reasonable additional responsibility to thrust on a rifle company.

Phase 2

59. The troop was NOT employed during this phase due mainly to lack of vehicle cross country mobility.

Phase 3 and 4

60. The troop was placed under command of F Echelon for this phase and performed a static defensive task.

61. An opportunity existed for the troop to conduct dismounted reconnaissance particularly with regard to 'going'. This was refused by the echelon commander on the grounds it would prejudice the operation against RASPBERRY VALE.

Artillery

62. 107 Fd Bty was placed in direct support of 3 RAR for phases 1 and 4 and under command for phases 2 and 3. The Chief Umpire, acting as CO 1 Fd Regt, injected sufficient realism into the exercise to make the direct support affiliation workable during phases 1 and 4.

63. Apart from the initial deployment at THE PLAINS for phase 1, the battery was moved by IROQUOIS throughout all phases...Prior to the exercise, 107 Fd Bty had undergone considerable training in air-movement and the conduct of these operations during NOISY PITTA was of a high standard.

64. The shortage of artillery umpires - only one was provided - precluded continuous umpiring of forward parties and the gun areas. However, when assessment was possible, NO major weaknesses were observed in either the tactical employment of the battery or in technical matters.

65. During all phases of the exercise, the adequate number of FO parties was deployed and, as mentioned in an earlier section of this report, information passed down from these parties was of considerable assistance to Control HQ.

66. 107 Fd Bty is well prepared to carry out efficiently its role in FARELF.

67. It is suggested that in future exercises of this type, consideration should be given to permitting the conduct of live artillery firing. This would inject more realism, such as the problem of handling the ammunition by helicopter, the need for accurate survey and the attendant safety requirements should NOT be too onerous. The need for additional umpires, as suggested earlier, would provide some of the required safety Officers.

68. a. Friendly Forces. No 2 Tp was placed under command of 8 RAR from 26 Jul 67 to 8 Aug 67. Tasks were:-
- (1) Route reconnaissance.
 - (2) Track improvement-THE PLAINS-WADALLAH-RASPBERRY VALE--LEMON TREE-THE PLAINS.
 - (3) Village search and booby trap clearance RASPBERRY VALE.
 - (4) Tunnel search RASPBERRY VALE.
 - (5) Minefield breaching - 10 mile gap.
- b. Enemy Force. No 1 Tp was placed under command C Coy 1 RAR at ELANORA on 21 Jul 67. Tasks were:-
- (1) Construction and operation of a water point.
 - (2) Field defences.
 - (3) Track improvement.
 - (4) Booby Trapping.
 - (5) Small scale minelaying.
- c. Neutral Engineers. Tasks were:-
- (1) Improvement of road from range boundary to ELANORA - road was widened out to 21 foot pavement. 14 culverts were constructed using 300 ft of 24" ARMCO and 300 ft of 36" ARMCO. A total of 17 miles of road was improved in the period 19 Jul - 8 Aug 67.
 - (2) Operation of Water Point. THE PLAIN water point was in operation from 0600 - 2000 hours daily.
 - (3) Minor Tasks. Provision of sand, construction of Scale A accommodation. Digging of latrine pits.
 - (4) Provision of Engineer Stores. 22 Engr Sp Tp operated an Engineer Stores dump in The Plains area.
 - (5) Maintenance of Electrical Reticulation and Refrigeration. This was done by 22 Engr Sp Tp.
 - (6) Repair of B and C Vehicles. 7 Fd Sqn Wksp carried out all necessary repairs. Down time was minimal.

Signals

69. With the exception of the TF TG net good radio communications were provided throughout the exercise with employment of AN/PRC 25s and suitably sighted automatic rebroadcast facilities.
70. However it is considered that a more powerful control station on the TF Comd net voice would be advantageous. The receiver Transmitter of the AN/PRC-12 series would be ideally suited to this role.
71. The TF TG net proved unsatisfactory during those phases of the exercise when manpacking of the Bn substations was required. As it is NOT practicable to manpack the AN/PRC-47 the A510 was employed. The performance of the A510 does NOT allow satisfactory communications in an area where heavy interference in the HF Band is experienced.

72. In addition the facilities available with the Bn TC net for the encryption and decryption of formal traffic was inadequate.

Medical

73. The detachment of 2 Fd Amb, provided for the exercise, was well prepared and gave adequate cover throughout. A sound medical plan, prepared prior to the exercise, enabled the unit to be organized from the outset.

Logistic Support Group

74. HQ 26 Coy RAASC was again responsible for all logistic functions. As in the past this organization worked efficiently.

75. The ROCKHAMPTON Detachment (see Annex B), was adequate for the exercise.

Enemy

76. The company of 1 RAR with its supporting troop of engineers from 7 Fd Sqn worked hard throughout the exercise. These units provided a realistic setting for the exercise and a great deal of the credit for the success of Exercise NOISY PITTA is due to their efforts.

MAP CODES

Reference : A. Signal Training (All Arms) Pamphlet No. 7
(1963).

B. ACP 125

1. The attached report has been made at my request by the Department of Defence Monitoring Controller and is based on his experience during Exercises GET SEP and NOISY PITTA.
2. Currently the use of Griddle and Slidex for reporting locations of own troops and the teaching that enemy contacts are reported in clear makes the breaking of the codes relatively easy. In addition, the use of Griddle and Slidex under conditions normally existing during active operations at Platoon and Company level usually results in either delayed reports, mistakes in encoding, or blatant breaches by transmissions coming back in clear.
3. The attached report describes a code which is thought to be simple enough to be used under stress of enemy fire and secure enough for the time a unit or sub-unit is likely to remain in the one area of a 1,000 metre map square.
4. An alternative map code is the POINTS OF ORIGIN Code which is equally simple, but possibly more subject to being broken.
5. Griddle and Slidex are NOT satisfactory codes at unit level for reporting locations of sub-units or for giving deployment orders to sub-units by radio. It is strongly recommended that a map code be authorized at an early date and the relevant training manuals amended.

MAP CODES

The map code, introduced by 2 RAR on Exercise GET SET, has been used by 8 RAR during Exercise NOISY PITTA for cordon and search and destroy operations.

The code is based on map squares within irregular shaped zones; each map square is allocated a letter in random pattern; EASTINGS and NORTHINGS are represented by figures, giving the spot location as tenths within squares.

It was evident from traffic that the code allowed the battalion commander to deploy his sub-units with the minimum amount of orders and with NO physical description of ground required to be covered.

The inherent security against cryptographic attack cannot be assessed at this time, this is a specialist study. However, it would appear that if the locations of enemy troops is NOT sent in clear then the security of the code is such that operations in each particular zone would be concluded before the crypte attack was successful.

It was concluded in the report issued for Exercise GET SET that there is an urgent requirement for a mapcode that can be used at all levels. Consideration could perhaps be given to the use of this code for this purpose providing it fulfills the requirement of Task Force Headquarters in all likely operations, and is officially accepted as a standard map code. Official acceptance would of course be contingent upon an assessment of its inherent security.

If the code fulfills the requirements of Task Force Headquarters it is suggested that it be submitted to higher formation for assessment and official recognition.

FIXED CALL SIGN SYSTEM

References : A. Signal Training (All Arms) Pamphlet No. 7
(1963).

B. ACP 125.

1. The attached report has been made at my request by the Department of Defence Monitoring Controller and is based on his experience during Exercises BARRA WINGA, WILLA QUA, GET SET and NOISY PITTA.
2. The use of random call signs is already authorized on such nets as the Task Force Command Net and I see NO difficulty in applying the same system to a battalion net.
3. I recommend that in the interests of communications security the present AMF Doctrine be changed to conform with the recommendations in the attached Report and that the appropriate training manuals be amended.

FIXED CALL SIGN SYSTEM

The Reports on Exercise GET SET drew attention to the fact that the retention of the fixed call sign system was tending to produce some apathy on the part of operators and users. It is considered that this same approach has been apparent to a limited degree on this Exercise.

Another facet of the fixed call sign system, when used on a single Task Force operation, is that it allows day to day continuity to be maintained on activities of every net using the system within the Task Force as well as indicating what artillery, armoured and engineer support has been allotted by virtue of the use of Arms Indicators.

It is suggested that this problem could be overcome by substituting a random system of numeral suffixes to the bigraph callsigns. These call signs should be changed, using a random allocation, as often as the tactical situation permits and should where possible be coupled with a frequency change also on a random basis. For example, on a search and destroy operation callsigns could be changed as each phase of the operation was concluded. The need for Arms Indicators would be eliminated if a random system were used as each supporting arm would be allocated a random callsign before joining the net.
