Deployment of the battalion into blocking positions the evening of 11 Jan is as shown in Annex F. The following day some pls were re-located after recce to cover the best track systems. The blocking phase was extended until the 17 Jan, however, there were only minor sightings and contacts which resulted in negative VC casualties.

Commanders Analysis and Recommendations

19. A straight forward operation in which the battalion occupied blocking position for 10 days. A sound concept of operations which deserved better results but the American sweeping troop were unable to keep up the early momentum and the expected exodus of 274 Regiment did not eventuate.

ANNEX A TO
7 RAR SVN 1/68
DATED 30 JAN 68

INTELLIGENCE SUMMARY OPERATION DUNTROON

10 JAN 68 - 21 JAN 68

Introduction

1. The area of operations was located in the North-West of PHUOC TUY PROVINCE on the tri-junction borders of PHUOC TUY, LONG KHANH and BIEN HOA. It is also part of the HAT DICH base, traditional home of 274 VC Regt.
2. At the time of the commencement of the operation the deployment of 274 VC Regt in the HAT DICH was not clearly defined. It appeared that the battalions were widely dispersed - from Route 1 in the North to the RUNG SAT in the South-West. In a constantly changing enemy situation the area selected for the operation appeared to be one area where there were continual signs of occupation by elements of 274 VC Regt. 7 RAR AO, however, did not show signs of occupation but areas thought to be well used transit area.
3. It was anticipated that likely enemy reaction under pressure from the West would be to withdraw either North into the depth of the HAT DICH base or East to seek crossing points over Route 2. Any likely Eastern withdrawal by the VC is of particular interest to 1 ATF Routes used by elements of 274 VC Regt in the past to move from the SOUTHERN HAT DICH Base (area YS 3285) had been:
 - a. NORTH-EAST along the line of the SONG CA River.
 - b. EAST through the clearing YS 3686 and then along the main tracks to CAM MY.
 - c. EAST to the river camps around the NORTHERN SONG XOAI (area YS 3982) and then NORTH-EAST to the old slope 30 area. The camps on the SONG XOAI were being used only as a refuge by Ngai Giao Village Guerrilla Unit but could have been used as a transit area by small groups of main force, withdrawing under pressure from the WEST.

Contact and Installations

4. The early sightings made by A Coy after the deployment into the blocking positions were most likely normal traffic on the track system in that locality. No further contacts or sightings of significance were made by 7 RAR throughout the remainder of the blocking period.
5. The search and destroy phase revealed that the AO was generally very quiet. The contact at YS 435893 made by A Coy with three VC in a small camp at that location was probably with elements of the Slope 30 Guerilla squad. Again at YS 433909, C Coy contacted one VC the same evening. This guerilla was probably one of the same group contacted by A Coy earlier that day. The camp consisted of living bunkers containing sufficient food for each of the occupants for one week.

Documentation

6. The only documentation captured was that taken after the A Company contact at YS 433909. This has not been exploited at this stage, but it is unlikely to produce anything of real value.

Summary of Contacts and Destruction

7. The following is a summary of men, equipment and installations casualties caused to the enemy during operation 'Duntroon':-

Squad size camps	- 4
Empty caches	- 2
Bunkers	- 3
Pack	- 1
Rice	- 155 lb
Dried Fish	- 40 lb
Grenades	- 3

Conclusion

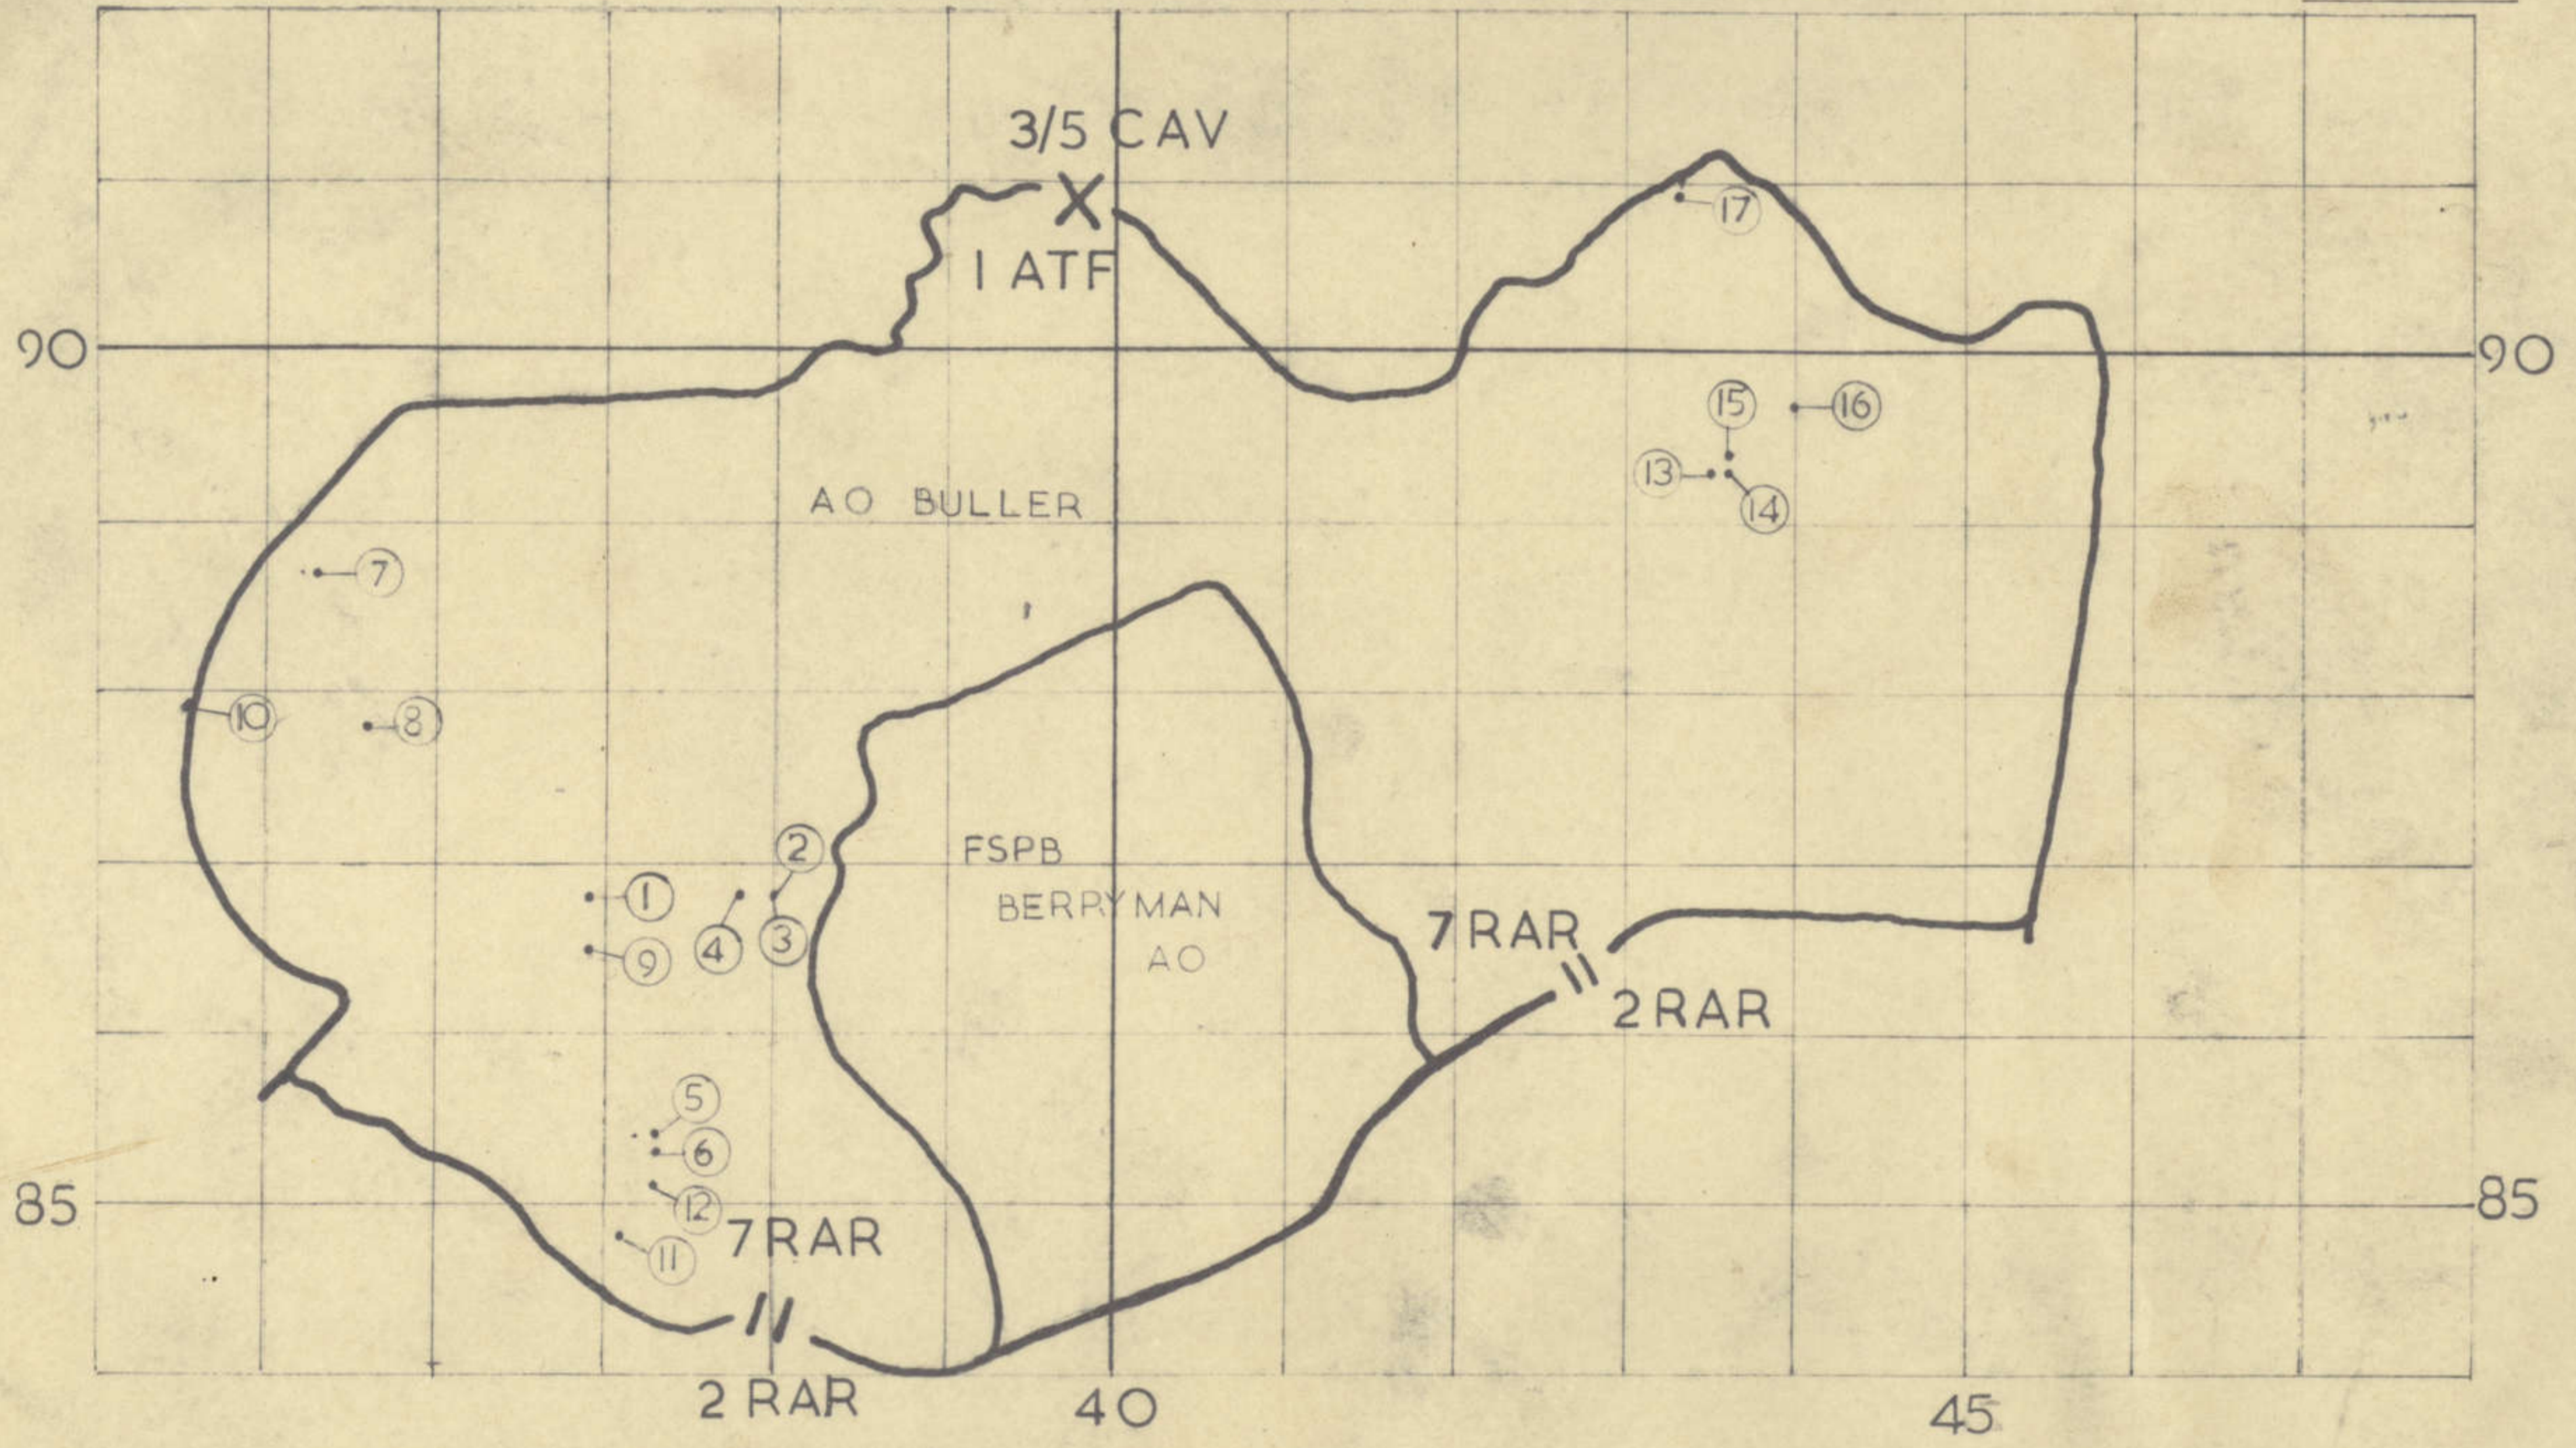

8. Although a successful operation, 7 RAR AO was devoid of any significant enemy activity. Consequently there were only minor contacts with guerilla elements.

7. Assessment of Op
 - a. It was a disappointing Operation for A Coy in that there few contacts, and these were unsuccessful. The lack of success in contacts was due to poor marksmanship, generally by high fire. This is being remedied.
 - b. The need for close liaison when operating near allies was again underlined by the unfortunate incident when an American Unit fired at A Coy not knowing they were in the area, although they had been told and acknowledged location statements.

A COY OP ANALYSIS
DATED 22 JAN 68

SEQUENCE OF EVENTS

- 10 Jan At 1130 hrs A Coy moved from NUI DAT in APC's to secure FSB 1 on DUC THANH for 108 Bty who were to provide fire support for a fly-in at XA BANG. On completion of this task the Coy moved by APC to XA BANG and joined the remainder of the Battalion in the CAM MY rubber plantation GR 465846. The only exciting incident occurred when ARVN soldiers at DUC THANH started a grass fire while exploded a number of mines near Route 2.
- 11 Jan At 0700 hrs A Coy moved off with A Sqn 3 Cav Regt to secure FSB BERRYMAN for the fly-in of 4 Fd Regt. This task was completed just in time for the fly-in at 0900 hrs. The Coy then moved 1500 metres into AO VICTOR and dug in. At 2000 hrs 3 Pl spotted 1 VC and engaged him unsuccessfully.
- 12 Jan At 0900 hrs 3 Pl spotted 5 VC and engaged them without result. Local patrols were carried out by all platoons.
- 13/17Jan Local patrols were carried out and ambushes set at night. There were no incidents.
- 18 Jan A Coy commenced the search and destroy phase by moving NORTH to AO JULIET. There was evidence of VC movement in a NORTH EAST direction but no sign of VC occupation.
- 19 Jan AO's LIMA and MIKE were searched without incident. After dark a number of VC signal shots were heard approximately 500 metres NORTH EAST of the Coy. They were engaged by artillery with unknown results.
- 20 Jan A coy moved through AO's NOVEMBER and QUEBEC into AO PAPA. While 2 Pl and CHQ were moving through the large plantation a number of men were seen to run away. They were not engaged because of the number of . . . civilians in the plantation. However 3 Pl was warned to keep a look out for them on the jungle fringe. At 1250 hrs 3 Pl spotted some bomb shelters on the creek bank at GR 435893. On inspecting the posn they were fired on by a VC sentry who then fled NORTH EAST. 3 Pl found a camp consisting of 3 bunkers, wpn pit and 3 bomb shelters together with 20 lb rice, 20 lb meat, and some clothing. The camp and the food were destroyed. 100 metres further NORTH 3 Pl located 2 large bunkers approximately 15 ft x 15 ft with 2 ft 6 ins OHP. These were very new and contained approx 50 lb rice. The remainder of AO PAPA was searched without result.
- 21 Jan 3 Pl destroyed the two bunkers with Pnr Pl assistance. The Coy then concentrated at GR 445892 for the fly-out. Elements of an American Unit engaged the Coy with M 79 fire without causing casualties. The same Americans started a grass fire which rendered the LZ unusable. Eventually the fly-out was conducted 300 metres further EAST to the great relief of all concerned. The Coy was back at NUI DAT by approx 1430 hrs.

B COY OPERATIONAL ANALYSIS REPORT
OP DUNTROON

1. Sub Unit. B Coy 7 RAR
2. Comd. Major P.A. STOKES
3. Op Name. Op DUNTROON.
4. Outline of Tasks
 - 10 Jan - Estab FSPB 2 in XA BANG area.
 - 11 - 17 Jan- Block in allotted AOs after fly in to LZ DAMPIER.
 - 18 - 20 Jan- Search and destroy in AOs south of BERRYMAN.
 - 21 Jan - Protection of FSPB at XA BANG - move by APC to NUI DAT.
6. Sequence of Events. See appendix 1 attached.
7. Assessment of Ops
 - a. B Coy adopted blocking positions on what were believed to be good tracks, however there was subsequent evidence to show that the VC were cutting bush and not using tracks.
 - b. While it is appreciated that no possibility of large scale contact cannot be precluded when blocking it is nevertheless necessary to break down into smaller groups (i.e. half platoon size) to cover all likely withdrawal routes. This requires more radios. It is also considered that patrolling through these areas is necessary. A distance of 300-400 metres between blocking groups is not too great and immediate reinforcement can be made if necessary.
 - c. The Australian soldier has neither the temperament nor the patience to remain in Pl and Coy size blocking positions without contact and it is felt that patrolling in a blocking area is probably more suitable and then ambushes on likely areas can be employed at will.
8. Summary of Results. There were no contacts or incidents during the operation.

Sequence of Events

- 10 Jan 68 The Coy moved by APC's to the vicinity of XA BANG and protected the setting up of FSB 2 in that area. An LZ was secured for the fly-in of the remainder of the Bn. The Coy harboured overnight with centre of mass at YS 465838.
- 11 Jan 68 The Coy flew from FSPB 2 to LZ DAMPIER and moved SOUTH to blocking positions. Locations for the night were CHQ Sp Sect and 4 Pl YS 363857. 5 Pl was at 360862 and 6 Pl at 361854.
- 12 Jan 68 Because of the necessity for adjusting boundaries with A Coy 2 RAR B Coy this day moved locations. Some confusion arose when 3 Pl A Coy 2 RAR became misorientated and ended up in B Coy AO. Final blocking locations were, CHQ, Sp Sect and 4 Pl YS 358858, 5 Pl 360862 and 6 Pl 354858.
- 13 Jan 68 The Coy remained blocking. Sp Sect patrolled locally and found a track of 9-10 men only 3 or 4 hours old in a position 100 metres SOUTH of Coy HQ.
- 14 Jan 68 4 and 6 Pls concentrated at 5 Pl location for resup. At 1630 hrs they returned to original locations.
- 15 Jan 68 Coy locations remained unchanged.
- 16 Jan 68 Local patrolling by Sp Sect to 5 and 6 Pls locs. Nothing to report.
- 17 Jan 68 4 Pl patrolled locally to 5 and 6 Pls. Nothing to report.
- 18 Jan 68 The Coy moved EAST after midday and concentrated for the evening at YS 366853.
- 19 Jan 68 The Coy moved EAST on 3 axes and searched in the allotted AO. At 317848, 6 Pl found an empty but which had been a cache, two large cache holes were also found but all were very old and empty. Several N/S tracks were found in the AO, the majority were thought to be friendly. The coy concentrated for the evening at YS 393846.
- 20 Jan 68 The coy searched to the EAST in the AO SOUTH of FSB BERRYMAN, on three axes and concentrated that evening at BERRYMAN in preparation for the tasks of the following day. Locstats were Coy HQ and Sp Sect YS 398869, 4 Pl 399870, 5 Pl 400871, 6 Pl 397866.
- 21 Jan 68 At 0700 hrs the road was cleared to XA BANG area. This was done by the Coy and the APC's. A FSB was set up in the vicinity of XA BANG and on completion of the fly out of the two battalions the coy moved by APC's accompanying 161 Bty RNZA back to NUI DAT base area.

7. Assessment of the operation
 - a. When working in close proximity to US Army Units there is a great danger of clashes and incidents unless liaison is effected at the lowest possible level.
 - b. Resup by winch into or near pl locs proved to be unsatisfactory and unwieldy - it is too slow - and should only be attempted if there are no other alternatives
