"Informant described Gyler as having come from the Lower Manning River, probably from Coopernook or Coraki. He did not know him well enough to give a personaldescription of him.

Informant states that on or about 10/3/17, the Battalion was at Houplines holding the line. While Informant was acting as sentry during the night, Gyler was carried past him wounded. Informant was told by his mates that he had been shot with a bullet. Informant was further told that Gyler died while going down in the stretcher."
