D. Sep.26th

He was in A.Section and I was told by G.Cochran of the same section that he saw him killed instantly by a shell at the main dressing station on the Menin Road as he was sitting peeling onions outside the cook house in the day time. He was buried within 100 yds. of where he was killed, in the Military Cemetery on the Menin Road and I have seen the grave which is marked. We were all three friends and England came from Sydney and worked mostly with his father as a carpenter. About 22 or 23 year old, clean shaven, not more than 5 tf, young, fairish complexion.

Died. 26th. September 1917. Date. D/B.

He was in A. Section. I was told by Private G. Cochrane, about 29th. September when we were at Dickie-Bunche, that they were in the yard of the main D/Station at Menin Road on 26th. September when a shell burst over the yard. Ingram was sitting by himself and was killed instantly. He was buried in the Cemetery adjoining. I saw his grave with a Cross on it. I knew Ingram well, he was a little chap, about 5'. We used to call him "Titch" He came from Sydney and was a Carpenter.

"Died 26-9-17"

Re Pte. R. C. Ingram. I was standing next to him when he was killed by a German shell. He was killed in the advanced dressing station on Nahin Road. A Cemetery is directly opposite. The grave would most certainly be registered. An Officer informed me that an official notification went through to that effect. He was buried in the above Cemetery. He was killed instantly, though not battered about, a piece of shell striking him in the head. Description- Very short, light brown hair, of very cheerful disposition. If the grave is not already registered, it would be easy to doso.
