"The abovementioned deceased Australian soldiers who were admitted hospital suffering from influenza. It is a regrettable fact that the majority of these poor fellows were delirious and practically beyond human aid when admitted. Every possible care was exercised in their transfer from ship to hospital where beds were ready to receive them. Medical Officers, European Nursing Sisters and Orderlies were in constant attendance day and night. An abundance of medical comforts, Stimulants. Oxygen and drugs were supplied to them. They were all laid to rest with full Military honours in King Tom Cemetery (European) Sierra Leone.
