RILEY, F.

K. 22-27/7A6

Riley was in my company. He had been wounded in the arm and was walking back to the Dressing Station when I saw a shell burst near him and he was killed - death being instantaneous. This occurred at Pozieres on Tuesday approx. 23rd July 1916. Riley as far as I can remember him was tall, pale complexion and dark hair. He was very well liked among the boys. To the best of my belief he was buried in the trenches.
