"Killed April, 5th 1918."

I knew these three men well, they were in my Platoon.
At Dernancourt on April 5th 1918 at 8 a.m., we were holding the railway embankment against a heavy attack. Fritz broke through the 18th Brigade and extended his line behind us. We had either to surrender or make a bold for it. Some of us got away, but a good many were captured. I saw them mentioned above being taken prisoners. They were then unwound.
