WILSON R.J. 3537.

K. April 11th 1917. Dets.

I knew Wilson very well and we came over together. He was in the attack on the Hindenburg Line on April 11th and was wounded in both legs but beyond that I am unable to say anything further. I wrote to my people at home in Australia and asked them to make this fact known to his parents as they were living in the same town.

Dear Madam,

We have just received an unofficial report concerning :-

3537 R.J. WILSON, 14th Battalion, A.I.F.

which we are sending you though we are afraid it gives very little definite information.

3255 Cpl. R.G. Booker, states "I knew Wilson very well, we came over together. He was in the attack on the Hindenburg line on April 11th, and was wounded in both legs, but beyond that I am unable to say anything. I wrote to my people, and asked them to give this information to his parents as they live in the same town".

We hope soon to receive fuller details and will then at once write to you again. In the meantime please accept a renewal of our sympathy.

Yours faithfully,

SECRETARY.

J. Hill
