K. 27th. September 1917. Dets. D/B.

I knew Skehan for six months; he was small, medium build, smart, dark, and about 25. On September 26th. 1917. the Battalion was at Polygon Wood and in action. He was killed by shell explosion, and was dead when we got to him, two minutes after. We had to carry on, and I did not see him again or hear of burial.

Dear Sir.

With further reference to your enquiry for -

2142 Pte. H.T. SKEHAN. 29th Battalion. A.I.F.

We regret to inform you of another unofficial report which we have received from one of the men in his unit.

6779 Cpl W.J. Marshall interviewed recently in No 4 Command Depot, Hurdcott stated that Pte. Skehan was killed by a shell at Polygon Wood. Our informant saw his body, which was buried by a party from the company in a shell hole near the place of casualty. Pte. Marshall described him as aged 27, 5'7" in height, well built and of medium complexion, he further stated that he was a machine gunner and had been a clerk in the tobacco trade in Melbourne before enlisting.

We have now closed our enquiry as we feel that further enquiries would not lead to any more definite information but should we receive further particulars we shall advise you.

Trusting that this report may be of some assistance to you.

Yours faithfully,
