MCCLELLAN Sergt. D. 934

D. February 17/18. Det./D&B.

McCLELLAN , was in "D" Coy. and in February attached to 15th Platoon . I know no personal details, except that he was an original Battalion man and one of the best men I ever saw in the line under shell fire.

In February, I was in an advance post with him, he being Sergeant, and I Corporal of the post. We were near Messines to the left of the Windmill. We were shelled 3 mornings running, and the 3rd morning he was hit over the left eye by a piece of shrapnel, from a pigeon bomb, which is a kind of light trench mortar. I was a yard or two from him at the time, and saw it happen. I saw him carried away by a S/B Brisbane, who has written an account to the Re d Cross.
