Died of Wounds, 28.7.16.

I knew Hodgkinson well -- he and I were in D. Co., XIV Platoon together. He was short, dark, and thickset, and came from Darlinghurst, Sydney.

I saw him being carried down wounded in the knees on or about the end of July at Pozieres-- he was carried past me in the trench. He spoke to us in reply to enquiries. He seemed very badly wounded.

In England, some months afterwards, I heard he had died of wounds, but did not hear how long he lived.

Informant:-- K. MULLARKY, 1365,
