Died of wounds 6/2/17.

Informant states that on 4th February Tilghman was wounded by shell fire in the front trenches at Guedecourt and informant helped to carry him to a dug out. Informant was himself wounded on the following day and was not aware that Tilghman had died of his wounds. Tilghman was fairly big, fair complexion, clean shaven, about 21 or 22 a good athlete and was in Informant's Company. He was not in the Peninsula but joined at the end of 1916.
