6th Army
Brigade
Aust. F.A.
106th Battery.

Lieutenant
Ray Lewis
DITCHAM

This officer has served with the 106th Battery throughout in France and has always been noted for his determination, enterprise and ability. In particular, during the period under review, he rendered excellent service at LAGNICOURT and at MEZENNES, where his battery was very heavily shelled on many occasions and eventually reduced to two officers, when he continued to do his work until he eventually collapsed and had to be sent to the rear for medical attention. He did very good work at MIMIC REES during the six weeks his battery was in an exposed forward position there. He has also done very good work indeed during the recent engagement at YPRES when his battery was at a range of about 1,800 yards from the front line and was frequently shelled. Without display or needless recklessness he has constantly shown bravery under heavy fire, determination and leadership.
