	3th.Battalion 542 A. I. F.	-	Sergeant HARRY ROSS DAVIS	This N.C.O., who is an original member of the Battalion has only been absent from same when wounded (twice wounded), has done consistently fine work throughout the campaign. In the line he is extremely trustworthy and is usually selected for patrols or for advanced or dangerous posts, always showing the greatest courage and devotion to duty. When out of the line this N.C.O., besides carrying out his regimental work in a most capable manner, has done invaluable work as a sports secretary and organiser. Extremely popular amongst all ranks, he has used his influence and organising ability to promote sports and excite keen interest and competition in same whenever our location renders same possible. His example as a clean, keen athelete and a hard working and courageous N.C.O. has been a splendid one to the N.C.Os and men of the Battalion. During the attacks in which the Battalion took part, Sgt. DAVIS commanded and capably led a Platoon For period from 22nd September 1917 to the night of 24/25th February 1918.	J Mitchell Lt Col	M.S.M.
