	32nd Battalion. A.I.F.	5112.	Sergeant George Eric GULLY. Notawarded M. M.	For conspicuous gallantry and initiative during the advance of this Battalion near BELLICOURT between the 29th September and 1st October 1918. Throughout the operations he acted as Platoon Commander and besides courage showed resource and fine qualities of leadership. When his Platoon was moving forward from BELLICOURT towards MAGNY-LA-FOSSE on the 29th September it encountered heavy machine gun fire. In addition two anti-tank guns were harassing a tank. Sergeant GULLY immediately grasped the situation and pushed a Lewis Gun team to a favourable position and engaged the anti-tank gunners. This manoeuvre was at once successful, one of the guns being put out of action with its crew and the other being abandoned within three minutes, leaving both guns in our hands. His skilful leadership was again most marked on the morning 1st October 1918 during the attack on JONCOURT and it was largely due to his gallant work in getting into position that the operation on his sector was so successful.	E. TIVEY, Brig. Gen, Commdng, 8th Aust Infantry Brigade.	D.C.M.
