Lord.	32nd Battalion. A.I.F.	129.	Lance Corporal John LUGG. ×	For gallantry during the operations from 29th September to 1st October 1918. When his Coy. were advancing beyond JONCOURT they were suddenly held up by machine gun fire. He, without orders, immediately rushed forward with his Lewis Gun and opened well directed covering fire on the enemy, causing them to, fall back and allowing our advance to continue. Throughout the whole of the operations he continued to do good work and was of great assistance to his Battalion.	E.TIVEY, Brig.Gen. Commdng, 8th Aust Infantry Brigade.	Mention in Corps. Orders.
Lord.	32nd Battalion. A.I.F.	3568.	Private William George HOFFMAN. ×	When the Battalion was in action near JONCOURT from 30th September to 1st October 1918, Private HOFFMAN displayed great gallantry and initiative. This man was carrying out the duties of Company Runner, and by hiss coolness and courage under heavy fire was an example to all. He frequently went out and delivered messages under heavy Artillery and machine gun fire and throughout showed an utter disregard for personal safety.	do.	do.
