	32nd. Battln. A.I.F.	3891.	(Private) Lance Corporal Norman Arthur TAYLOR.	During the operations near NAUROY on the 29th. September 1918 L/Cpl. Taylor displayed much gallantry, courage and initiative. Seeing that the enemy were advancing towards a gap between the left flank of his Battalion and other troops L/Cpl. Taylor showed great skill in the tactical handling of his Lewis Gun Section and he immediately rushed forward alone and under very heavy machine gun and point blank Artillery fire selected a suitable position from which effective fire could be opened to repel the attack. Returning he then led his men forward and opened well directed and sustained fire with the result that the enemy were forced back in disorder. L/Cpl. Taylor by this quick and gallant action undoubtedly protected this flank at a critical moment and his conduct is deserving of the highest praise.		M. C.	X
