DID YOU KNOW ?

Hermansburg, named after two German missionaries is also called Ntaria by the local Arrernte people. It is the birthplace of famous aboriginal watercolour artist Albert Namatjiri and probably one of the very few towns in Australia which does not have the ubiquitous outback pub. So don't expect to fire up the barbeque with a few cold beers.

Hermansburg is 125 kms west of Alice Springs on the Larapinta Drive.

NEWS AND VIEWS FROM AROUND

ELECTRIC 4x4?

Are we going to see a 100% electric future for 4x4 soon? From the US based Bollinger 4x4 to the Jaunt crowdfunding campaign to build and rent old school 4x4 and the BHP Olympic Dam fleet trialling the first Voltra eCruiser, is our future going to turn electric?

TOLL UPGRADE

Cape Leveque Road, one of Australia's roughest 4WD road leading to the Dampier Peninsula north of Broome is proposed to be sealed to attract more tourists. However, not everyone is happy like the Environs Kimberley who are against the toll road proposal.
