This batch of product has been identified to have an issue related to the uniformity of the active ingredient throughout different parts of the batch. As the content uniformity is inconsistent across the batch, the impact is that different bottles of the packed product may have different levels of the active ingredient. Some bottles may fail to meet the label claim.

No other batches or products are affected by this recall.

FIT-BioCeuticals Ltd. takes the health and safety of consumers very seriously and sincerely regrets any inconvenience to our customers.
