Donna Adams: Dominic College 1983 – 1986

Inspector Donna Adams has had a distinguished career with the Tasmanian Police Force since graduating as 'Most Consistent Recruit' from the Rokeby Police Academy in 1987. An Investigator from 1991-1996, she received a Commendation for her work at Port Arthur on 28th April, 1996. She was a graduate of her Sergeant's Course in 1997 and held senior positions at the Police Academy from later 1996 until 2001, when she became an Investigator with the Internal Investigations division. In 2002 she completed a Graduate Certificate in Police Studies at the University of Tasmania. In September 2003, she was recognised by the Australasian Council of Women in Policing as an 'Outstanding Female Investigator'. She achieved the rank of Inspector at age 35, making her the youngest, and only the fifth woman, to become an Inspector in the 105 year history of the Tasmanian Police Force. Inspector Adams became Officer in Charge of Internal Investigations in 2004.
