Appendix : Matthew 18, Restorative Practices and the Round Table:

As a College we seek to develop a harmonious and supportive environment and also to put a stop to any harassing or discriminatory behaviour. We use restorative practices to bring about reconciliation between the parties in the spirit of Matthew 18:15 and repair of harm that has been caused. It is normative for members of our community, including staff and students to resolve conflict and address issues such as discrimination and harassment by a process involving ideally personal resolution and/or mediation.

The process we recommend if a staff member has a concern is:

1. Take it up in the first place with the person responsible. Focus on the issue, not the personality.
2. If the resolution is not achieved, approach the person with someone who can mediate.
3. Go to the person's immediate supervisor to seek resolution. The supervisor may recommend a Round Table.

(Please Note: this process is not recommended for dealing with alleged sexual abuse or other unlawful or very serious issues.)

Round Table

Generally mediation involving staff, students and/or parents at St Andrews involves a structured conversation facilitated by a trained person according to our Round Table Policy. While strongly encouraged, involvement in the Round Table is normally voluntary and in some situations is not recommended or permitted. In situations where wrongdoing has been admitted by a student or staff member, or when it is part of a disciplinary procedure, involvement in a Round Table may be required. Restorative Practices help to provide an orderly, harmonious and secure environment in which all people are able to realise their full positive potential without interference from others.
