BACKGROUND

Curriculum Policy at St James Lutheran College is better stated as a Learning and Teaching Policy that is inquiry-based and student focused. In LEA's document, A Vision for Learners and Learning \(2006\), our ethos is clearly articulated. We recognise that "each person is a unique creation of God and a person loved by God (and) all useful knowledge and learning is God's gift to people for their (students') wellbeing".

St James Lutheran has a strategic intent to develop educational experiences that continue to place us at the forefront of education by:

- Establishing a high quality, consistent pedagogical framework from P-12
- Developing a built environment consistent with innovative best practice
- Creating engaging and authentic learning opportunities

This perspective involves:

- The importance of learner centred education that engages the learner
- Choices that will feature multiple pathways of learning
- The need for differentiation to cater for uniqueness
- Opportunities for collaborative learning to draw upon one another's strengths

We therefore aim to:

- Provide a holistic education that recognises the importance of intellectual, spiritual, social emotional and physical knowledge
- Create learning experiences that feature intellectual rigour and connect to real-life problems
- Focus on how to learn as well as what to learn
- Arouse students' curiosity and wonderment about breadth of learning possibilities
- Create innovative and affective learning environments to best facilitate learning that is 'learner centred'
- Use diverse strategies that encourage students' discovery, exploration and analysis

This is affirmed in the document A Charter for Lutheran Education: 6 Challenges; 6 Mysteries where the first mystery is labelled 'learning centred'. "Learning centred" is where an environment is created 'where students have a passion to explore, discover and analyse their world as part of an exciting life journey'.

Vision:

“To be a leading model on innovative Christian educational excellence”

The Mission Statement of St James Lutheran College:

“Inspired to Learn – Empowered to Serve”

St James Lutheran College is committed to serving our community through the provision of high quality education in a caring Christian-centred environment; empowering our students to shape a better world.

The Mission Statement of St James Lutheran College defines the ethos of our school. Everything that occurs is informed by the Mission Statement and this ethos, which is in accordance with the stated aims of the Lutheran Church of Australia. Lutheran Schools are concerned with the whole person: physical, emotional, social, spiritual and intellectual.

In addition, Goal 2 as stated in The Melbourne Declaration on Educational Goals for Young Australians notes that “all young Australians become successful learners, confident and creative individuals, and active and informed citizens”. Successful learners highlight the importance of skills, the ability to think deeply and logically, creativity and innovation and notions of life-long learning to reach full potential. Confident and creative individuals mean that learning will encompass the development of personal and social competence and the importance of personal values is featured. In addition, the Melbourne Declaration notes that to be active and informed citizens students will act with moral and ethical integrity and appreciate Australia’s social, cultural, linguistic and religious diversity, and have an understanding of Australia’s system of government, history and culture. A focus upon understanding and acknowledgement of Indigenous cultures is emphasised as well as the ability to contribute to and benefit from reconciliation.

To plan meaningful learning experiences for students at St James Lutheran College, attention is given to:

- providing Learner-centred, real-life and life-like opportunities to acquire skills, solve problems and to be creative and critical thinkers.
- building teachers’ knowledge and understanding of pedagogy and their repertoire of innovative and contemporary strategies that are aligned with the inquiry approach.
- evidence-based and relevant assessment practices (see subsequent documents for details)
- reporting procedures that acknowledge reporting learning and learning progress broadly encompasses an array of reporting procedures such as face-to-face, written and electronic reporting. Reporting students’ learning progress is provided to the relevant authorities, parents and the students themselves and may be undertaken in both a formal and informal manner.

POLICY

At St James Lutheran College the Curriculum Policy features:

- Sequenced, learner-related learning experiences using a quality school curriculum consistent with current Queensland Curriculum and Assessment Authority syllabuses and guidelines and ACARA Phase 1 Learning Areas (OR show equivalence of learning to Queensland standards of learning)
- An education program that is accessible to all learners
- The use of a variety of assessment tools and data collection strategies to accurately document success and monitor students’ progress
- A variety of reporting procedures that includes reporting to parents/care-givers twice per year in writing (Years P – 12) and offers cohort information aligned with state and federal government reporting requirements of the Education (General Provisions) Act, 2006.
