

At Sagewood Early Learning Dayton, our values of nurture, love and inspire form the foundation of creating meaningful and supportive relationships with each child and their family from the moment they step inside our doors.

Our dedicated, passionate and knowledgeable educators in-still a love of learning and gently guide the child on their own individual path of exploration, investigation and discovery.

Our emphasis on both the Montessori and Reggio Emilia approaches enable each child to be viewed as competent and capable learners who can construct their own learning within a carefully planned environment. We place an importance on our program being child-centred and following each child's individual interests, needs and abilities.

Our uninterrupted work cycle allows our children to engage with a variety of materials, some of which are chosen independently, and others are presented by the teacher. Allowing children to develop their own independence, allows each child to become capable in initiating their own learning in a supportive and prepared learning environment. We will assist the child to develop skills within their own capabilities.

Our blended learning methodologies ensure that children make a physical connection to all that is around them and understand their relationships to other things. The development of fine motor and gross motor skills are inherent to all activities within the curriculum.

Highlighting the importance of healthy minds and bodies will set the foundations for children to develop the skills and habits to live a happy and healthy life. We strive to embed practices to support and guide children and staff on creating a journey of self - discovery.

Sagewood Early Learning Dayton provides a culturally safe environment for all children, families, staff and visitors. Our educators commit to an ongoing learning journey of cultural awareness and cultural competence. We acknowledge, respect and celebrate the traditional owners of the land and their ongoing physical and spiritual connection to Whadjuk Noongar Boodja, embedding Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander culture and perspectives.

We recognize the importance of the support structure and services we as educators can provide to our families. Our centre is an active participant within the local community and seeks to create connections and partnerships with community organisations.

Our objective is to enable each child to fully flourish in their learning journey with us.
