Statement of Significance: Wagga Wagga Railway Precinct is of state significance as a major 19th century railway location on the Main Southern Line as evidenced by the quality and scale of extant buildings. The Wagga Wagga station building has aesthetic significance as a fine and large ‘first class’ building designed in the Victorian Free Classical style. The building remains largely intact and displays many original decorative features including a cast iron verandah, rusticated quoins and stucco mouldings. Combined with the landscaped forecourt and adjacent Station Master’s residence, the precinct forms a cohesive group of 19th century railway items. The station remains as a prominent landmark at the end of Wagga Wagga’s main street and is an important townscape feature.

Historical Notes or Provenance: Following the completion of the first railway from Sydney to Parramatta Junction in 1855, proposals for the first railways to the rest of NSW were driven by pastoral interests seeking improved transport for their produce from the inland centres such as Goulburn, Bathurst, Singleton and Muswellbrook. In April 1873 John Sutherland, the Minister for Public Works, set out a policy to complete ‘the main trunk railways’; both the Main Southern line to Albury and the Western trunk route to Bourke on the Darling River were responses to the threat that wool and other produce from the Riverina and the west of NSW would be diverted to Melbourne via river boats and the Victorian railway to Echuca on the Murray River, which opened in 1864 (Lee, 2000, p98).

The 1870s and 1880s saw a boom in railway construction. By 1878 the railway had reached Bomen (North Wagga) and a year later it crossed the Murrumbidgee River on the longest and then most expensive bridge in Australia. The single line from Bomen to Wagga Wagga opened on 1 September 1879. The construction contract for this section of the line was...
Railway Station and Yard Group awarded to Alex & Robert Amos on 14 January 1878. The station was opened as South Wagga Wagga on 1 September 1878, and renamed Wagga Wagga on 1 March 1882 (Lee, 2000, p98; Ellsmore, 2000).

The Wagga Wagga railway facilities originally included a station building, Station Master’s residence, goods shed, and a Gatekeeper’s residence constructed by Charles Hardy, along with eight cottages and a hand crane re-erected from Bomen. In 1880 an engine shed was constructed; a cart weighbridge, stockyards, and an enginemen’s barracks were added in 1881; a 2-tonne yard crane and turntable installed in 1891; and six water tanks provided in 1897 (Forsyth, 2009).

Further changes and additions to the station precinct included the installation of a 20-tonne cart weighbridge (1907), the provision of new trucking yards and an overbridge at Best Street (1916), the construction of a passenger platform dock (1917), the addition of a signal box (1930), the construction of a new footbridge (1935), and the extension of the platform (1943). As in many other parts of NSW, the 1970s and 1980s saw a decline in passenger services and freight in regional NSW and the closure of many branch lines, and at Wagga Wagga many structures and yard buildings were either sold to private ownership or removed from the site (Forsyth, 2009).

Physical Description: STATION BUILDING (1879)

The Wagga Wagga station building is a large ‘first class’ brick and stucco building designed in the Victorian Free Classical style. It is a single storey, symmetrical building. The main feature of the facade is a pair of projecting gables, between which is a recessed, gabled entrance porch with verandah. There are pediments above the triple windows on the gable fronts, and the sills to these and the other windows of the facade have prominent bracketed sills. The porch has paired, fluted iron columns and an iron frieze and there are iron lace brackets. The entrance is arched (as are doorways on the platform side), and the decoration includes pilasters and label moulding. The building has rusticated quoins, and paired brackets to the eaves, and there are parapeted sections at the ends of the building. The roofs are mostly hipped but feature some transverse gables, and is clad with corrugated iron and has several small gable vents. The building’s chimneys have cornices. The verandah along the platform has fluted iron columns similar to those of the entrance porch, and there is a decorative frieze and brackets.

The station building originally comprised of a central lobby and ticket office, with a parcels room, ladies waiting room and lavatories to the west, and a Station Master’s office, telegraph office, general waiting room, and a second ladies waiting room and lavatories to the east. Plans indicate that the internal composition of the building changed several times throughout the building’s history, including early alterations to the western wing to incorporate a refreshments room, kitchen, and bar (all removed in 1956).
The building is flanked by two detached wings at either end with similar construction and detailing to the main building (the western wing has been extended). A large modern platform shelter a roof pitch similar to the two detached wings is also located to the east of the station buildings.

STATION FORECOURT AND APPROACHES
There is a circular drive and landscaped gardens featuring hedging, floral displays and lawn located in front of the station.

PLATFORM (1879, 1943)
The wayside platform face is brick and surfacing is paved.

STATION MASTER’S RESIDENCE (1879)
The Station Master’s residence is located just north-west of the station building and is a two-storey structure, with a symmetrical front façade, hipped corrugated iron roof, and a two-storey cast iron verandah. The residence originally internally comprised of two main living rooms on the ground floor, service areas to the rear, and three bedrooms upstairs.

FOOTBRIDGE (1936)
A modified standard steel beam structure over the platform, main line and down sidings. Generally all structures are in good condition.

Statement of Significance: Hambledon was one of the earliest buildings in the eastern Riverina and was the first inn, store and Post Office on the Gundagai-Albury road. It had a close association with the early development of the area and with travel between Sydney and Melbourne during several decades of the Colonial period.

Historical Notes or Provenance: Hambledon Homestead was one of the earliest buildings in this part of the State. It was originally Umutbee Station, established by Thomas Mate when he began grazing sheep here in 1837. Mate's homestead was halfway between Sydney and Melbourne and he opened a store and inn at the homestead and catered to passing travellers. In 1849 he established the Tarcutta Post Office in the building; the settlement of Tarcutta grew up around Mate's homestead. The homestead burnt down in recent years but the outbuildings remain.

Physical Description: The building that has burnt down was constructed of vertical slabs and was U-shaped; the northern wing dated from the 1837 period. The property retains an early brick cottage [possibly the former detached kitchen as has large bread oven], constructed with bricks and mortar prepared on site and various other outbuildings including stables and a washhouse behind the cottage. There is a large Roman Cypress, a well and the remains of an earlier stone washhouse.

Statement of Significance: The present suburb of Lake Albert was historically a pastoral area and a small late nineteenth century village, located a few miles south-east of the large urban centre of Wagga Wagga. The growth of Wagga, particularly during the late twentieth century, has resulted in the village being subsumed into the suburban context. The grid street layout of the original village, and the surviving early development, are significant remnants of the former rural village.

Historical Notes or Provenance: Lake Albert was a rural area with a post office and school established during the 1870s and the village proclaimed on 4 January 1890. That year it was opened as a crown subdivision to provide home sites for rural workers employed in the area. It was still a rural village during the 1960s, however encroaching suburban development has now seen the village incorporated into the Wagga Wagga urban area.

Physical Description: A fibro clad cottage with a hipped roof clad with corrugated iron. There is a timber post supported verandah to the front elevation, which is symmetrical with a Central door flanked by timber sash windows. The timber and wirework fence and gate was a complementary addition to the place that has since been replaced with a white steel bar fence that detracts slightly from the significance of the place.

Statement of Significance:
Historical and social significance to the community of Ladysmith and district.

Historical Notes or Provenance:
Built in 1929 replacing a former butchers shop. Built for Percy L. Condon [previously a farmer], Ollie Muir ran the butchers shop until 1950 when the Condons closed the shop and moved into town. Mr and Mrs Stan Wakem then purchased the store in 1957 and continued to run it as a butchers shop until they closed in 1971. The shop closed its doors and was converted into part of the residence.

Statement of Significance: These concrete silos, were are commonly found dotted along railway lines, were the first structures associated with large-scale grain handling in the region and have a landmark quality.

Historical Notes or Provenance: Bulk handling of wheat in NSW began in 1918 with the opening of the first public silo at Peak Hill. In 1916 the Government passed the Grain Elevator Act which provided for the erection of many of these country silos as it was considered that bulk handling of the grain would be far more efficient for all concerned than the handling of bagged wheal.

Physical Description: In 1931 the concrete silos with a capacity of 800 tonnes were erected. They were elevator driven by a series of sheaved ropes with a 16 hp Ronaldson and Tippet kerosene engine. This was replaced with an electric motor in the 1950s. In 1980 the rope drive was removed and individual electric drivers filled.

Statement of Significance: The present suburb of Lake Albert was historically a pastoral area and a small late nineteenth century village, located a few miles south-east of the large urban centre of Wagga Wagga. The growth of Wagga, particularly during the late twentieth century, has resulted in the village being subsumed into the suburban context. The grid street layout of the original village, and the surviving early development, are significant remnants of the former rural village.

Historical Notes or Provenance: Lake Albert was a rural area with a post office and school established during the 1870s and the village proclaimed on 4 January 1890. That year it was opened as a crown subdivision to provide home sites for rural workers employed in the area. It was still a rural village during the 1960s, however encroaching suburban development has now seen the village incorporated into the Wagga Wagga urban area. This residence was built in 1938.

Statement of Significance:
Railway sites such as this have historical and social significance as important reminders of the role that the railway played in providing isolated rural areas with ready access to markets and services.

Historical Notes or Provenance:
In 1884 the idea of a railway line connecting Wagga Wagga with Tumbarumba was first mooted. Railway planners were sceptical as to its profitability as carriage by bullock dray was cheaper than by rail. Interest in the proposed line was revived in 1910. The Line was opened for traffic as far as Humula on 14 May 1917. With a break for the war and after three years of construction the line to Tumbarumba was completed by May 1921. Passenger and freight traffic was discontinued during 1974. The line closed in 1987. This site is now the focus of an enthusiastic railway preservation organisation.

Physical Description:
A limber railway station building, in good condition; a galvanised iron clad store building; a railway siding; and a set of points levers [off Tumbarumba Road].

Statement of Significance:
The Lower Tarcutta cemetery is of historical and aesthetic significance as a remnant of a lost settlement, one of the earliest in the area.

Historical Notes or Provenance:
The settlement of Lower Tarcutta was developed mid 19th century beside a steep hill and a major creek crossing at the junction of the Port Phillip and Adelaide Roads. At one stage the settlement comprised a hotel, a lock-up, a racecourse, a school and a post office. Two acres were reserved for a burial ground in 1853.

Physical Description:
There are 11 headstones and perhaps 30 unmarked graves. The 33 dated burials range from 1854 to 1879. Ten were children. Reserve 35699 for preservation of graves notified 25 April 1903. Burials included members of the following families: Gordon & Forsyth, Heley, Bannatyne, Fraser & Cross, Chillenden, Chapman, Cheney & McNamara, Earle, Woodbridge and Ryder. There are remnants of a surrounding fence. Falling trees or tree branches and stock damaged some burial sites.

Statement of Significance: The Lower Tarcutta area is of historical significance as an early, now largely vanished, settlement site. Local significance.

Historical Notes or Provenance: The settlement of Lower Tarcutta was developed mid 19th century beside a steep hill and a major creek crossing at the junction of the Port Phillip and Adelaide Roads. At one stage the settlement comprised a hotel, a lock-up, a racecourse, a school and a post office. There were a number of mines in the surrounding hills. The former settlement was intensively studied and documented by J.H. Winston-Gregson for his MA thesis 'Colonial Archaeology in the Eastern Riverina', Australian National University, 1982.

Statement of Significance: This cottage is of historical significance as a particularly early example of rural worker’s housing built in the Lake Albert area. It is also noteworthy for its pise construction and its association with the Brunskill family.

Historical Notes or Provenance: Lake Albert was a rural area with a post office and school established during the 1870s and the village proclaimed on 4 January 1890. That year it was opened as a crown subdivision to provide home sites for rural workers employed in the area. It was still a rural village during the 1960s, however encroaching suburban development has now seen the village incorporated into the Wagga Wagga urban area. This cottage is believed to have been built as worker’s accommodation for the Brunskills [presumably of Allonby], possibly as early as mid 19th century.

Current Use: Former Uses:
Statement of Significance:
The Kooringal stable and woolshed buildings are of historical significance as remnants of a pastoral enterprise which pre-dated and gave its name to the suburb of Kooringal. Although once distant from Wagga Wagga it is increasingly being incorporated into the urban area. The stable building is also of aesthetic significance for its simple yet elegant, utilitarian construction.

Historical Notes or Provenance:
The first settler at Kooringal was possibly prominent Wagga citizen George Forsyth. During the late 19th century grapes were grown on the property and sold to Caldwell’s Wolonjerie Vineyard at Lake Albert. By the turn of the century the property was owned by the Angel family, who established a Clydesdale stud. The stable was built 1905-06 for this purpose and the second building [woolshed] was probably built at around the same time. A Moreton Bay fig tree to the east of the stable was also planted by the Angels. Later owners included Schiller, Houlihan and Brown [since 1946]. The original homestead was demolished and replaced by the Angels in 1907 [now separate property]. The present Kooringal homestead was built in 1953.

Item Name: Kooringal Stables and Woolshed (former)

Location: 527 Kooringal Road, Kooringal [Wagga Wagga]

Maker / Builder:

Year Started: Year Completed: Circa: No

Physical Description: Stables: The former stable is constructed of round and sawn timber, with the uprights being adzed. It is clad with painted weatherboards. The building has now been altered to serve as a more general purpose shed although some original elements remain, including the harness room with evidence of pegs for tack, and several partitions and gates.

Woolshed: The woolshed is constructed of round of sawn timber, initially for horses and later converted to a woolshed. The concrete floored section to the western side was added later. The internal partitioning comprises Murray pine slabs of a size not found now.

Historical and social significance to the community of Humula and district. Local significance.

Historical Notes or Provenance:

The Council of Education of NSW received a request for aid from Humula [known as American Yards] Provisional School on 13 November 1878. In 1881 the school was reclassified as a Public School and a portion of land within the village was set aside for the erection of a school building. Approval was eventually given for the construction of a school building and residence, after the initial written request to the Department of Education in February 1881. The building was replaced by this building in 1918. The school presently has 11 students enrolled.

Statement of Significance: Historic and social significance as a reminder of the small schools which once dotted the rural areas, and of the community focus the schools often had for the local residents.

Historical Notes or Provenance: This former school building, which is in a dilapidated condition, has been converted to a woolshed/ fodder store. The Kockibitoo tennis courts were formerly located on the corner of Bartletts Lane and Lower Middle Road [SW corner]. A school operated at Kockibitoo from 1884 until it closed in 1941. This building would appear to date from c1920s as it is similar to other school buildings from this era.

Physical Description: Small timber building in poor condition with three 12-pane windows. The interior retains its fireplace and shelves and evidence of an earlier colour scheme (green and yellow with blue stripe). Within the shelter to the northern side are the remains or evidence of rows of coat hooks. The style of the building is similar to other school buildings throughout the region, which generally have three windows to the south elevation and a skillion shelter with coat hooks to the north elevation.

Statement of Significance: Historical and social significance to the community of Ladysmith and district.

Historical Notes or Provenance: The school and its attached residence were constructed of brick in 1883. It was initially called the Alfredtown Public School and the name was changed in 1912 to avoid confusion which resulted from the establishment of a post office in the village under the name of Ladysmith. Initially built as a school/residence it provided accommodation for 35 pupils. In 1917 after various alterations it became exclusively a school residence. Attributed to the work of Charles Hardy, similar in design to the school residence in Gresham Street Tarcutta.

Statement of Significance:
The Wagga Wagga General Cemetery is of historical and social significance as it has served the population since the 1850s and continues to do so. The cemetery contains the burials of numerous pioneers of the district, notable citizens, returned soldiers and members of Wagga's Chinese population. Local significance. [Criteria A, C & D]

Historical Notes or Provenance:
The Wagga Wagga General Cemetery was established in its present location on 27 July 1863 with additions in 1892 and 1917. The site is approximately 8 ha. Burials pre-date gazettal of the site, e.g. James Walsh [1857 or 1858, or even 1853?].

Statement of Significance:
Significant as one of Wagga’s grand residences, this one built on what was then a rural property on the road to Lake Albert. The similarity of this residence with 7 Grandview Avenue and the subsequent legal challenge is an interesting historical footnote.

Historical Notes or Provenance:
Built about 1939 by William Valentine Schiller. The façade is a copy of the house built at 7 Grandview Avenue in 1936 by Mrs Huthwaite, and was apparently the subject of legal action. Prior to building this residence Schiller lived at Kooringal homestead. Mrs Schiller died in 1940 and Mr Schiller died in 1945. The property then passed into the hands of Mr Moxham [probably Alan Moxham, radiologist]. The residence was originally called Dandaloo, however later owners took the name with them.

Statement of Significance: Historical significance as remnant of the first surveyed road between Sydney and Melbourne.

Historical Notes or Provenance: The most northerly section of the Port Phillip Road to be surveyed by Townsend before his appointment as Deputy Surveyor General. Notification was delivered to him at Kyeamba Station and the survey was never completed. In 1917 the route from Sydney to Melbourne was formally aligned away from this route but portion plans indicate that the present line was already in use by 1877, The terrace is very faint although used as a farm track between Kyeamba Station and 542 764 - this segment is marked on the CMA map, The south end of the road disappears in a travelling stock and camping reserve at the point where it would have diverged from the present line of road.

Statement of Significance: Historical significance as a simple vernacular early police residence relating to the settlement of Kyeamba, later used for a number of different purposes but occupied until 1965.

Historical Notes or Provenance: The area is noted as a police paddock on a 6 May 1877 plan of adjacent portion 9, but the age of the cottage is uncertain. The station is listed in the Murray Policy District Returns of 1863-1883, and remained staffed until 1895. The building then became the schoolmaster’s cottage until 1915. It was leased by 5. Oakman in 1916, and was continuously inhabited until 1965. The lock-up was removed and the building was extended in 1961. In 1965 the north chimney was replaced by a barn door, and the building was converted to a store and sheep pen.

Statement of Significance:
The Kyeamba Station complex is of significance as the site of an early settlement and for its association with the establishment of viticulture in the Colony of NSW. The site comprises a number of cohesive elements and extant remnants from the earliest commercial and agricultural activities which were undertaken there.

Historical Notes or Provenance:
The homestead has been constructed in five phases. The first phase was the granite core constructed in 1843; a sandstock brick south wing was constructed in 1872; a large east wing and small bay window west wing and two south facing verandahs were added c1890; a concrete verandah on three sides, replacement of a verandah at centre south with fibro intill, erection and a meat safe and oven in brick c1920-1930; and detail modifications such as new tankstand and introduction of plastic paint to wall surfaces post 1948 [which has resulted in rising damp].

Physical Description: Long low building of granite block walls with a corrugated iron hip roof and encircling verandah. Original shingles remain underneath the iron. The verandah floor is now concrete. There are four dormer windows to the front elevation, and three chimneys.

Physical Condition:

Assessed Significance: Local
Endorsed Significance: Local

Statement of Significance: Historical and aesthetic significance as the second earliest hotel building in the Wagga Wagga City area [both built by John Smith], and for its links with the settlement of Kyeamba and Kyeamba vineyard. Social significance for its association with the Smith and Palmer families.

Historical Notes or Provenance: Built by John Smith in 1847 to replace a timber hotel and first homestead of 1839. This was the first outlet for the Kyeamba Vineyard and was a haunt of the bushranger Daniel Morgan c1863-1865. Licence lapsed in 1879. Deserted 1917-1922 but otherwise always occupied. According to local information the Port Phillip road left Tarculta across country to Umbango then back out to Kyeamba. A closed road can indeed be tracked on maps following this path.

Statement of Significance: Historic and social significance as a reminder of the small schools which once dotted the rural areas, and of the community focus the school [and a church which was located opposite from 1910 to 1978] had for the local residents. Local significance.

Historical Notes or Provenance: The first classes at Malebo were held in 1882 in a tent, on part of the same site as the present school building is located. A school was built in 1883 but this burnt down in 1927, to be replaced by the present school building in 1928. The school and residence was built by Messrs Roebuck and Mueller, South Wagga, for £1450. At one stage there were tennis courts nearby. The school closed in 1968. Malebo Public School as a place name was discontinued in 1996. The building is now a private residence.

Item Name: Springfield

Address: 51 East Road
Suburb / Nearest Town: Wagga Wagga
Local Govt Area: Wagga Wagga
State: NSW

Location: 51 East Road, North Wagga Wagga [Wagga Wagga]

Planning: Southern & Western
Historic Region: Murrumbidgee

Statement of Significance:
Springfield is of historical significance as one of the earliest residences extant in North Wagga, and for its association with Surveyor George Commins. Local significance

Historical Notes or Provenance:
Springfield was built by George William Commins [1843-1930], Surveyor, who settled here on the north side of the Murrumbidgee River in 1866. Commins greatly assisted with the advancement of North Wagga Wagga and when he later surveyed the area below the original town square site and north-west of Junee Road, many of the streets were named after members of his family.
The property was later owned by Hugh Beattie [father of Dame Mary Gilmore] who had a small vineyard there [which he called 'The Old Vineyard'] until he moved to 'Brooklyn Vale' on the Brucedale Road, Cartwrights Hill.

The North Wagga School is of historical significance as one of the earliest intact buildings in North Wagga. The school is also of social significance to the North Wagga community, which has struggled to remain in occupation in this flood-prone area of Wagga.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Historical Notes or Provenance:</th>
</tr>
</thead>

In February 1880 North Wagga residents were petitioning for establishment of a public school. The school opened in January 1881. The school was almost immediately too small and another brick building was built in 1882. New school buildings were added in 1913[?]. The school residence was completed in 1898.

Statement of Significance: The North Wagga Hall significant as a community facility which was constructed as a result of fundraising efforts by the local residents, and which has served as a focus for community activity in North Wagga for almost seventy years.

Historical Notes or Provenance: In 1934 the Principal of the North Wagga School, Robert Buckridge, formed a committee to build a public hall. Land was purchased for 37 pounds and fundraising efforts raised 500 pounds for construction the following year. In 1974 the Hall Trustees handed over management to the North Wagga Residents Association. A kitchen has been added and septic toilets built.

Physical Description: A simple rectangular building clad with corrugated iron. The building features central double doors flanked by timber windows. A roof concealing stepped parapet is a feature of the front elevation.

Current Use: Former Uses:

Statement of Significance: The evidence of the former Adelaide Road has historical significance as part of the first route to Adelaide from Sydney and as the first approach to the Riverina.

Historical Notes or Provenance: The settlement of Lower Tarcutta was developed mid 19th century beside a steep hill and a major creek crossing at the junction of the Port Phillip and Adelaide Roads. At one stage the settlement comprised a hotel, a lock-up, a racecourse, a school and a post office. The line of the Adelaide Road appears to follow the route of Joseph Hawdon to Adelaide in 1838. It was the principal entry to the Riverina from the north-east until the line now followed by the Sturt Highway was adopted in the 1880s. The road remained in use as access to the Lower Tarculla mines until c1900. The road was progressively closed between 1930 and 1968.

Themes:
Designer:
Maker / Builder:

Year Started: Year Completed: Circa: No

Physical Description: The road starts at a stockyard beside Mundarlo Road, 180 m east of Bungarabee Homestead. An unmetalled track with deeply incised creek crossings and a clearly incised terrace on slopes. Lined with eucalypts for much of the route between Lower Tarculla and Borambula.

Statement of Significance: Historical and aesthetic significance as an example of a modest farm complex. The complex includes the cottage, numerous outbuildings and a silo.

Historical Notes or Provenance: Janey Harvey lived here most of her life and built the farm up. Her sister Annie lived here for a short time towards the end of her life. She died in November 1999. Adjoining paddock to the west is the location of the Galvin graves. The nearby bridge over Tarculla Creek is now called Janey Harvey's bridge.

Assessed Significance: Local
Endorsed Significance: Local

Statement of Significance:
Tennis courts and schools have in the past provided an important community and recreational focus. Social significance for the local community.

Historical Notes or Provenance:
This area was previously used as a school site from 18 June 1942. The school was probably the earliest use of the site, but was relocated during WWII to Keajura Road, returning to its earlier site after WWII. Following the demographic fluctuations of the Oberne Valley, the school was subsequently moved again, to Batlow, in 1966.

Physical Description:
The tennis pavilion is constructed of timber, with a corrugated iron roof and louvred windows. A playground adjoins the building. The tennis courts are located on a rise overlooking Tarcutta Creek, and there are ten mature pinus radiata trees in the south-eastern corner of the block. The site now accommodates the relocated Oberne Hall.

Historical Notes or Provenance:
The hall is situated on the Smith property. Mrs Lou Smith's late husband was the first president of the hall. The hall was built following public efforts to raise funds, and was the location for dances and amateur race meetings, called 'bride meetings' where the prizes were bridles. Because the roads were so rough, dances usually continued until daylight! The hall has been relocated from the original private property to adjoin the tennis courts approximately 1 km further down Westbrook Road at the tennis court site.

Statement of Significance:
Historical and social significance for their association with the notable early settlers the Bardwell family. Local significance.

Historical Notes or Provenance:
These graves were previously surrounded by a picket fence, and have recently been concerted. Two metres to the immediate south a grave stone to the infant Cyril Bardwell was located, but has now disappeared. The graves read: Bardwell, Bardwell and Lambert; i.e. three headstones, with no detail. Mr and Mrs Charles Darby Bardwell, Mrs Bardwell's mother Mrs Lambert, and the baby Cyril are reputed to be laid here.

Physical Description:
The Bardwell family graves are to the immediate south-east of the old Oberne House ruin. The graves are covered by a concrete slab with metal plaques bearing the surname only of the interred. The grave attributed to Cyril Bardwell which stood approx. 2 metres from the south east corner of graves pictured was surrounded by a cast iron fence has disappeared. Allegedly trampled by cattle fenced in this paddock.

Statement of Significance:
Historical and social significance for its association with the Bardwell family, prominent early settlers in the area. Local significance.

Historical Notes or Provenance:
The Bardwell family arrived in Sydney on 10 January 1833 on the Palamham. On board Marie Bardwell [then 17] met and later married T.H. Mate. In 1848 Oberne Station was controlled by Thomas Bardwell junior, then 34 and comprised 40,000 acres. By 1866 this holding was 45,000 acres and was held by another brother, Charles, who held almost 60,000 acres in 1885. In 1872 the property was described as having a large orchard out the front and a large water-mill for grinding grain. The Bardwells were famous for their horses, having the brand 'BX'.

Physical Description:
Ground floor: hand made bricks with lime mortar, built 1872 for Charles Bardwell. First floor: weatherboard with timber decoration to verandah and eaves. 8-pane windows, some etched with kookaburras and plants, French doors on south-east. Timber section added 1929. A huge old wisteria has overrun the south-eastern side of the house. The house is in derelict condition. The interior has not been cleared, books include poetry of Virgil and Catullus. A line of walnuts, of which one remains, previously ran from SE corner of the house to the road.

The Shanty has social and historic value for the Alfredtown and Ladysmith communities.

Historical Notes or Provenance:

The first settlement at Alfredtown was Mrs Mary Ryan and her seven children, who took up Clandore in the late 1860s. Helen Ryan, a daughter of Mary Ryan, married Percy Rogers and set up a hotel north of the present shanty. Following the flood of 1870 the road was re-routed and they then built their hotel opposite Clandore. It was initially called the Prince Alfred Hotel. 1978 renovations revealed the original shingles beneath the iron roof.

Physical Description: The school complex comprises two main buildings facing onto a central courtyard. The rear building, of timber weatherboard with a galvanised iron roof, has a front verandah under the main roof line. The front building is a simple rectangular gable roofed building clad with weatherboards. It appears to be an amalgamation of several smaller buildings of a school design common to this region c1920s. There are eight 8-pane windows to the east elevation. A painted brass bell to the yard is a notable feature.

Statement of Significance:
The Mangoplah Store and residence and former bakery building is of historical and social significance to the community of Mangoplah, and provides an important community focus for the town.

Historical Notes or Provenance:
In 1912 the village consisted of only three houses. c1929 the Finemore family [of trucking fame] came to Mangoplah and ran the general store. They lived on the premises with general sales including petrol and a bakery. They made delicious bread and in winter dozens of pies and pasties to tempt footballers. The store is no longer a bakery but functions as a general store [the only Mangoplah store] and as an agent of Australia Post.

1. Mangoplah homestead. Front section rebuilt 1940s, as per original but to incorporate two new rooms and new double gable roof section. Original 1863/64 brickwork to rear. Verandah to three sides. Separate kitchen building.

2. Weatherboard stables with paling doors with decorative iron hinges. Bush pole construction, mortised joins, bark ceiling, 6 loose boxes, timber tree trunk sections floor, log feed trough, hay holders.

Statement of Significance: Mangoplah Station complex is a relatively intact group of station buildings, some of which exhibit great age and a high degree of intactness.

Historical Notes or Provenance: In 1862 John Cox partnered his two brothers-in-law, Charles Crisp and John King, in purchasing the 75,000 acre run Mangoplah, which embraced 'Egan Creek'. John Cox settled on 'North East Mangoplah' [20,000 acres] and later acquired 'Mangoplah' [40,000 acres] from Crisp. The original four room homestead was built in 1864 of hand made bricks. It featured stained glass designs around the front and rear doors. The original shingles were extant under thecgi roof in 1977. Has remained in Cox family hands almost the whole time since.

Statement of Significance: These concrete silos, commonly found along railway lines, are the first structures associated with large-scale grain handling in the region and have a landmark quality. Like railway sites, they have historical and social significance as reminders of the role that the railway played in opening up isolated rural areas.

Historical Notes or Provenance: Bulk handling of wheat in NSW began in 1918 with the opening of the first public silo at Peak Hill. In 1916 the Government passed the Grain Elevator Act which provided for the erection of many of these country silos as it was considered that bulk handling of the grain would be far more efficient for all concerned than the handling of bagged wheat.

Local Govt Area: Wagga Wagga
State: NSW

Planning: Southern & Western
Historic Region: Murrumbidgee

Statement of Significance:
The former Mount Austin homestead is of historical significance as a remnant of the pastoral era in an area which has now been incorporated into Wagga's urban development. The homestead was built around the turn of the century and the exterior appears to remain largely intact, however the significance of the building has been compromised by the unsympathetic subdivision which has taken place around it.

Historical Notes or Provenance:
The suburb was named after Mount Austin Homestead. The Mount Austin Homestead was built circa early 1900s by Michael Austin Donnelly who was born at Borambola in 1881. His mother was left a widow and in his late teens he took over the property on the west side of Willans Hill and named it Mount Austin. The property was sold to James Bolger [1865-1940] in 1912. Bolger's 25-year-old son, Christopher, was murdered by a farm hand in 1935 and his body thrown down a well at the rear of the homestead. The property was acquired by the Housing Commission c1950 and they erected many houses there between 1951 and 1954, known as the Mount Austin Housing Estate.

of the rest of the block and is itself Units 3 and 4. The homestead itself is a face brick structure with floor to ceiling windows and an encircling, timber post supported verandah with simple timber brackets. The former detached kitchen building has been painted white and is now connected to the main house. There is no evidence of any original garden layout.

Statement of Significance: The hall provides an important community focus and is of historical and social significance to the community of Mangoplah.

Historical Notes or Provenance: This hall was built in 1925 to replace an earlier hall after energetic and enthusiastic efforts to raise money. A supper room and kitchen were also built. Inside amenities were installed in 1975. In her book Mangoplah Memoirs, Beatrice Nixon remembers children being allowed to go down to the hall during lunch hour to polish the floor by sliding up and down so that sawdust, turps and candle pieces would polish the floor in readiness for a dance.

Physical Description: The hall is of concrete block construction with a corrugate iron roof. Buttresses along the side elevations divide the wall into bays. There is a gable ended porch section cross the front elevation. A concrete block [unpainted] attached to the rear of the building provide toilet facilities. The sign to the front of the hall is from the Mangoplah railway station.

Location: 230 Roach Road, Moorong [Wagga Wagga]

Address: 230 Roach Road
Suburb / Nearest Town: Moorong
Local Govt Area: Wagga Wagga
State: NSW

Planning: Southern & Western
Historic Region: Murrumbidgee

Statement of Significance:
These ruins at Moorong are of historical and aesthetic significance as the remnants of a formerly large and grand homestead complex. Local significance.

Historical Notes or Provenance:
Moorong was once a substantial station complex but its remnant buildings are now situated on land owned by Pioneer concrete. The homestead which was apparently very large and grand was vacant for many years and had its materials stolen and the rest progressively vandalised until it was burnt down [along with another shed] in December 1979 and the whole was bulldozed into a gully [evidence of which is discernible]. Remnant plantings include two oleanders, fruit trees including a pear, two citrus with severe black sooty mould, and a pair of silky oaks.

Physical Description:
The lower stone building is supposed to have been the groom's quarters and comprises one large room and two small rooms. The large room has a semi-ruinous fireplace with a large horizontal bar over. Former Tongue and Groove board ceilings are eaten out by white ants. The other building has two rooms and a two room stone cellar. Lath and plaster partly extant and evidence of skirtings. Evidence of verandah to north. Evidence of white ants.

Current Use: Former Uses:

Statement of Significance:
Historical and aesthetic significance as a substantially intact station complex comprising magnificently sited residence, outbuildings and woolshed. The property is further significant for its association with two prominent, high achieving families, the Devlins and the McKays.

Historical Notes or Provenance:
Deepwater was purchased by James Devlin as a homestead block of 684 acres in 1869. It had been surveyed by Edward Fisher in 1856. Devlin also held Canmain and Uarah stations and by the 1880s was running 220,000 sheep on the three properties. Devlin’s son, Arthur, managed Deepwater from 1869 until 1878 and it was his actions which had a big impact on the identification and ultimate introduction of a vaccine for anthrax in Australia. The property was purchased in 11926 by Hugh Victor McKay, fourth son of H. V. McKay of Sunshine Harvester fame. McKay married Mavis McIvor in 1926 and they built this residence in 1927.

Statement of Significance:

Historical significance as a rare slab farm building complex.

Historical Notes or Provenance:

These two buildings have recently undergone extensive conservation and reconstruction work. Both have been made good and secure.

Physical Description:
The complex comprises a timber slab cottage and to the north of it a timber slab woolshed. The works to the cottage have resulted in the introduction of elements such as sawn timber and concrete footings. Missing vertical slabs have been replaced. The woolshed has been restumped with concrete sleepers. The interior of the woolshed retains its original sapling pens and gates.

- Statement of Significance: Social significance to the Roman Catholic community of Mangoplah and district.

Historical Notes or Provenance:

- St Michael's is following the tradition of new rural Roman Catholic churches in taking the name of its Cathedral, in this case St Michael's, Wagga Wagga. The foundation stone was laid by the Reverend F.A. Henschke DO, Bishop of Wagga Wagga, in 1955. The marble statue of an angel slaying a sea serpent was a gift from Bishop Henschke, brought back from Rome on one of his 10-yearly visits.

This building is a significant remnant of the Wagga Experiment Farm era and the orchard which was established as part of the farm.

Historical Notes or Provenance:

The Wagga Experiment Farm was established in 1892, with the site being dedicated in October 1892. A superintendent, John Coleman, had been appointed in January of that year. Coleman's first action was to have the eastern side of the hill cleared and fenced, with 75 acres planned for the orchard and vineyard and ten acres for experimental use. The vineyard was established in 1894 by George Valder and A.C. Benson, using eleven yoked oxen, two draught horses and a dray, a plough and a harrow. Fruit trees and 300 varieties of grapes were planted. They had no accommodation; they lived on the Farm and slept under trees when it rained and later in a cowshed.

Physical Description: A timber building, stepped down the slope, with a hipped and gabled roof with roof vents, clad with corrugated iron. There is an encircling, bracket supported verandah. Parts of the verandah have been enclosed and various other alterations have been made since the Charles Sturt University Winery took over the building. It would appear to date from the early part of the century. The orchard was on the slopes below this building, where grapes are now planted.

Statement of Significance:

Railway sites such as this have historical and social significance as important reminders of the role that the railway played in providing isolated rural areas with ready access to markets and services.

Historical Notes or Provenance:

The railway from The Rock to Westby, via Mangoplah and Burrandana, was completed in 1924. A tri-weekly railway service commenced in August 1925. In January 1952 a fire, starting by burning off along the railway, destroyed a large area of land, including the Burrandana Railway Station and the Westby Public School. Almost 4,000 railway line sleepers were destroyed between Mangoplah and Westby and the line past Mangoplah was closed. The rest of the line was dosed in July 1956.

Statement of Significance:
These olive trees are a significant remnant of the late 19th century orchard which was established in this location.

Historical Notes or Provenance:
The Wagga Experiment Farm was established in 1892, with the site being dedicated in October 1892. A superintendent, John Coleman, had been appointed in January of that year. Coleman's first adion was to have the eastern side of the hill cleared and fenced, with 75 acres planned for the orchard and vineyard and ten acres for experimental use. The vineyard was established in 1894 by George Valder and A.C. Benson. Fruit trees and 300 varieties of grapes were planted. There are approximately 20 of these olive trees planted, lining the road. They are believed to date from the initial establishment of the orchard.

Statement of Significance:
The Holy Family Chapel (former Wesleyan Church) is of historic and social significance to the Brucedale community. Local significance.

Historical Notes or Provenance:
The first Wesleyan Church was constructed of slabs in about 1872 and burnt down in 1875. Plans for a new church drawn up by W. Beattie [uncle of Dame Mary Gilmore] were accepted and the foundation stone was laid on the Prince of Wales birthday holiday, 9 November 1875. Wagga architect Mr Sheppard supplied plans and specifications and Mr T. Hodson, a builder from Wagga Wagga, carried out the work. The completed cost of the works was about £400. The internal works were not completed for another 13 years. The church was deconsecrated, presumably mid to late 20th century, and reconsecrated in 1995.

Physical Description:
Simple brick church building. The original shingle roof has been replaced with iron. There are no original internal furnishings.

Statement of Significance:
An aesthetically pleasing stone residence situated at the top of a slope.

Historical Notes or Provenance:
In 1872 this property was owned by Mr William Macauley and was called Brucedale Farm. The property was by the late 1880s owned by the Norman family and was named Hopevale. The homestead was built in the 1870s. A sale notice for the property, which was auctioned on 4 March 1886, described it as '... comprisillg an area of 614 acres of Splendid Agricultural Land, all the Jlllee Road, five miles from Wagga Wagga ... The improvements consist of fencing into several paddocks, good Stone House, good Orchard, two dams, well, and 100 acres cleared.' The house has been sympathetically extended to the rear within the last ten years.

Berry Jerry Homestead

189 Berry Jerry Road, Collingullie [Wagga Wagga]

Address: 189 Berry Jerry Road
Suburb / Nearest Town: Collingullie 2650
Local Govt Area: Wagga Wagga
State: NSW
Planning: Southern & Western
Historic Region: Murrumbidgee
Parish:
County:

Statement of Significance:
Berryjerry homestead is a 1950s station homestead, notable for its exceptionally large and somewhat odd proportions. The homestead is set in an attractive garden.

Historical Notes or Provenance:
Taken up 1830s by John Bray of Campbelltown. The 1840 floods washed away the first homestead, built in the area now known as Brays Swamp. New owners Osborne and Marshall in 1841 built a slab house on the present site [in 1848, it was 86,400 acres]. John Leitch, manager, bought out Marshall in 1865 and later bought out Osborne. Leitch remained there until he died in 1882. There were several owners before purchase in 1928 by East Windouran Pastoral Co. [Naughton family]. In 1950 it was purchased by the McLaughlins who burnt the slab house and furniture and engaged a Sydney builder to design the present homestead, in exchange for a block of land in St Ives.

Physical Description:
A red brick homestead of exceptionally large size. It is claimed that on a site visit Mr McLaughlin instructed the builders to double the size of all rooms, creating huge, oddly shaped internal spaces. There is a three car garage and manager's residence. Features include entrance portico and a low-walled terrace for entertaining. Large sycamore trees

Statement of Significance:
Social and aesthetic significance to the local community.

Historical Notes or Provenance:
The first Presbyterian Com.rrtilee of Management was elected in May 1909. Land was purchased at auction in August 1912. Attempts to raise the required funds to erect a church were hampered by the intervention of World War I, and it was not until 1926 that construction commenced. The church was designed by architects Pitt and Morrow, and built by Mr Rowlands. The total cost of the building was about £680 and the building was opened in August 1927. Prior to 1927 Presbyterian services were held in the Church of England.

Statement of Significance:
Yarragundry Woolshed is a functional yet aesthetically pleasing woolshed. The Yarragundry property is of historical significance to the local community.

Historical Notes or Provenance:
Ronald McCrae purchased Yarragundry from the Scott family in 1906. The property was overrun with rabbits and unsuitable for cropping so a Shorthorn herd was established. Ronald McCrae was a pioneer of Corriedale sheep in Australia and established a Corriedale flock at Yarragundry in 1909, mating Lincoln and merino first x ewes. This practice continued until a family partnership was dissolved in 1950.

Statement of Significance: Borambola was one of the earliest settled cattle stations on the Murrumbidgee River. The Homestead is a good example of rural colonial architecture and building methods. The whole homestead complex demonstrates very clearly the changes in rural life since the 1850s.

Historical Notes or Provenance: The Tarcullah [later Borambola] run was taken up in the 1830s by George Macleay, son of Colonial Secretary Alexander Macleay. Later owned by John Gordon [1851] and John Donnelly [1865]. In 1895 the property was taken over by Goldsborough Mort in a foreclosure and managed by J.A. Gunn, later sold to Simpson. It was subdivided in 1910. Simpson sold to Anthony Brunskill in 1913 and remained in Brunskill hands until 1985. This is the original homestead, probably built about 1855. The homestead complex is situated on the north bank of the Tarculla Creek and is accessed via a swing bridge.

Physical Description: Construction is probably of stone rubble faced with mud and stucco which is scored to resemble ashlar. The roof is corrugated iron over shingles. Two upper attic bedrooms have dormer windows. The building has an encircling verandah which has been enclosed althe sides and rear. The main door has two French window leaves. The complex includes a limber annexe [c1900] with scalloped barges; a separate limber staff wing; and a slab store.

Statement of Significance:

Still in Ryan family ownership, this representative early timber and brick farmhouse and associated outbuildings is of social and historic significance. Local significance.

Historical Notes or Provenance:

The first settlers at Alfredtown were Mrs Mary Ryan and her family of four sons and three daughters who had arrived in Australia from Ireland in 1865. Mrs Ryan was widowed at sea on the journey out. They built this residence and named it after Glandore in South Ireland from where they came. Mrs Ryan conducted a store in one of the front rooms of the house, supplying necessary food items. Glandore was later used as a polling booth at election times. The property was eventually 5,000 acres, situated on both sides of the Tumbarumba Road with a portion of it facing Tarcutta Road on both sides of the Tarcutta Creek.

These concrete silos, which are commonly found dotted along railway lines, are the first structures associated with large-scale grain handling in the region and have a landmark quality. Local significance.

Historical Notes or Provenance:

The turning of the first sod for the railway line from Uranquinty to Kywong took place on 5 March 1926 at Kywong. The building of the line followed years of agitation on the part of the Associated Railway League. A weekly service operated until the 1960s. Bulk handling of wheat in NSW began in 1918 with the opening of the first public silo at Peak Hill. In 1916 the Government passed the Grain Elevator Act which provided for the erection of many of these country silos as it was considered that bulk handling of the grain would be far more efficient for all concerned than the handling of bagged wheat.

Historic Region: Murrumbidgee

Historical significance as the graveyard of the Best family, including Robert Best, Wagga's first settler.

Robert Holt Best was Wagga's first European settler, arriving here in 1832 and taking up land which includes what is now the suburb of Ashmont, a run known as Wagga Wagga. Best died in 1853 aged 40 and is buried here.

A small graveyard containing about twenty graves including numerous headstones. They are surrounded by a brick and decorative cast iron fence, and are currently also surrounded by a high cyclone wire fence to keep the general public out.

Address: O'Brien's Creek Road
Suburb / Nearest Town: Big Springs 2650
Local Govt Area: Wagga Wagga
State: NSW

Statement of Significance:
Big Springs comprises a fascinating complex of station buildings showing an interesting progression of styles. The homestead complex is picturesquely sited and serves as a local landmark. Historical and aesthetic significance.

Historical Notes or Provenance:
The property was taken up in 1855 by John Peter of Tubbo, sold to John Donnelly in 1863 and sold again to Messrs George Wilson and George Palsen Wilson in 1865. The stone kitchen block may date from this time; there was a slab building behind it. The house was surrounded by a picket fence of which a remnant survives. New house built in 1887 in Victorian Italianate style. The stables were built in 1912 but never used for that purpose. Around the same time the octagonal bathhouse, gazebo and kennel were built. There is also a stone billiard room built 1888. The property remains in Wilson family ownership.

Physical Description:
- Kitchen: Built c1865 of stone with carved timber 'flat arches' over the windows.
- Homestead: Built in 1887 in the Victorian Italianate style.
- Stables: Built 1912 in Federation style with central clock and belltower and projecting wings.
- Bathhouse: Granite octagonal bathhouse built c1912.
- Gazebo and Dog Kennels: Built c1912, octagonal, highly decorative. Situated on the edge of a large [8 acre] dam and accessed via a mature plane tree driveway. There is extensive remnant post and rail fencing to the front boundary and leading to the house.

Statement of Significance:
The former school is a reminder of the once thriving community which developed at Brucedale. Historic and social value to the local community.

Historical Notes or Provenance:
The Brucedale School came into operation as a public school on 1 November 1872. Initially the school was conducted in the Wesleyan Church, a wooden structure which was burnt to the ground on 21 June 1875. It was at this school (and in the wooden church building) that Dame Mary Gilmore had her first formal education. A new stone school building was completed in 1879. In 1884 eight acres of land was granted as a reservation for School use. Two weatherboard rooms were added on in around 1915 and in 1929 a new porch was built to the south side of the school. A shelter shed was demolished in 1997. Was being used as an Aboriginal Cultural Centre in 2000 but no longer in use.

Physical Description:
The school building is constructed of granite blocks measuring 12 x 12 x 36 inches, quarried from Shepherds Hill, approximately 1 mile to the north of the school. The residence and school room were all incorporated under one shingle roof. The schoolroom measured 32 by 16 feet.

The tennis courts are of social significance to the Book Book community.

Historical Notes or Provenance:
This was previously the site of the Book Book hall [built 1925] which was dismantled in 1984 due to lack of use and insurance costs. It was replaced by the present tennis pavilion which is used as a venue for community meetings. An honour roll from the hall was placed within the new building. The tennis club was commenced in 1925 and after a period of inoperation from about the mid 1960s was re-formed in 1983.

Statement of Significance: Borambola is an imposing Victorian era residence and is something of a landmark in the district. Historical, social and aesthetic significance.

Historical Notes or Provenance: The Tarcuttah [later Borambola] run was taken up in the 1830s by George Macleay, son of Colonial Secretary Alexander Macleay. Later owned by John Gordon [1851] and John Donnelly [1865]. Donnelly commissioned Wagga builder Charles Hardy to build him this residence in 1878. In 1895 the property was taken over by Goldsborough Mort in a foreclosure and managed by J.A. Gunn, later sold to Simpson. It was subdivided in 1910 and and again in 1961 when the owner, W.P. Hughes, split it up into 13 blocks. Further subdivision has reduced the property to 109 acres [44 ha]. The original road runs between the present Sturt Highway and the homestead entrance gates.

Statement of Significance:

The Borambola Park outbuildings represent a coherent group of timber outbuildings, with links to the period during the early 20th century when the property was noted for its thoroughbred breeding program. Historical significance. Local significance.

Historical Notes or Provenance:

The Tarcutta [later Borambola] run was taken up in the 1830s by George Macleay, son of Colonial Secretary Alexander Madeay. Later owned by John Gordon [1851] and John Donnelly [1865]. In 1895 the property was taken over by Goldsborough Mort in a foreclosure and managed by J.A. Gunn, later sold to Simpson. It was subdivided in 1910. The residence was built in 1935 but the outbuildings appear to pre-date the house. The sire of Phar Lap [Night Raid] stood at Borambola Park during 1923 and 1924.

Historical Notes or Provenance: Tennis became a popular sport in the Wagga district in the late nineteenth century, the first dub in Wagga was formed in Marne Street in 1889. The Brucedale Tennis Club commenced in 1899. These six courts, the third for Brucedale, were constructed in 1981 by male members and helpers. In 1983 the tennis dub took over responsibility for the hall. The Brucedale Hall was constructed in 1935. Mr Cyril Caldwell was the main instigator and a Brucedale Hall Committee was established. The lowest tender was that of Lowe and Sullivan for £350. The final cost of the hall was £409.8.3.

Statement of Significance: Historical significance as the former Humula Police Station [1895-1943]. The house is simple in design but typical of rural township development of this era. It remains substantially intact and important streetscape element in Humula. Local significance.

Historical Notes or Provenance: From 1895 to 1943 this house was the Humula Police Station. There were stables and a forage room at the rear of the premises. Constable 1st Class John Martin Hansell was the last constable attached to Humula. In 1901 a temporary prisoner's cell was erected to the rear of the police station. The bars from the prisoner's cell now form part of the stormwater drain at the corner of Mate and Clark Streets near Simpson's General Store.

Statement of Significance: Community halls such as these formed the nucleus of many small communities and were important centres for socialising and recreation in rural areas.

Historical Notes or Provenance: Tenders were called for the erection of the hall in 1947, the successful tenderer being Mr R.A. King. Working bees were held to prepare the site. The hall was opened with a gala ball on 11 August 1948, the culmination of much effort from Committee members and volunteers since 1943. Electricity was connected in 1953.

Statement of Significance: An interesting example of railway technology during the first half of the 20th century. Local significance.

Historical Notes or Provenance: In 1884 the idea of a railway line connecting Wagga Wagga with Tumbarumba was first mooted. Railway planners were sceptical as to its profitability as carriage by bullock dray was cheaper than by rail. Interest in the proposed line was revived in 1910. The line was opened for traffic as far as Humula on 14 May 1917. With a break for the war and after three years of construction the line to Tumbarumba was completed by May 1921. Passenger and freight traffic was discontinued during 1974. The line closed in 1987.

State: NSW

Physical Description: The entire Recreation Ground oval is encircled by a white pole barrier. The meeting room has vertical corrugated iron walls and roof, with timber serving counter and flaps, aluminium windows, with the west windows being louvred.

Physical Condition: Only in fair condition now compared to the previous study in 2000 when the meeting room and ground was in good condition.

Statement of Significance: The Humula Recreation Reserve, meeting room and golf club are of historical and social significance to the community of Humula. Local significance.

Historical Notes or Provenance: A previous small recreation reserve existed between the two creeks but this was spoilt by the construction of the railway line in 1922. John Cheney JM of Belmore, Possum Plain, gave this land to be used as racecourse, showground and public reserve. In 1929 a new nine hole golf course was built on the reserve and in 1933 a new golf clubhouse was built, extended in 1961. The meeting room was previously the tennis club pavilion, before the tennis courts were moved to their present location in the village. Now used as a venue for dances, cricket and pony club meetings. The refreshment pavilion is to the rear of this building.

Physical Description: The whole house has been sensitively and extensively renovated. Older painted stone section [south-eastern elevation]. Timber 4-pane windows with stone sills, French doors. Rear eastern section has a cellar which was used for hanging meat and storage of vegetables.

Statement of Significance: Historical and significance as the homestead of a formerly extensive pastoral holding.

Historical Notes or Provenance: The Humula run, comprising 83,000 acres, was taken up c1852 by the Sydney company, William Walker & Co. The run, which was at an area known as 'American Yards', was managed by John Smith, manager of Kyeamba. The site for the village of Humula was announced in the Government Gazette of 23 February 1880 and the village was named for the Humula run. Now owned by Hazeldean Pastoral Company, Cooma, managed by Roger and Angela Scales. Occupies the supposed track of Hume and Hovell's southern expedition in 1824/25. The floods of 1974 washed away a mature eucalypt carved with the initials 'HUM' inscribed on the trunk.

Statement of Significance: Inglebrae [formerly Kurrajong] has historic and aesthetic significance as an essentially intact late 19th century homestead complex. The complex retains evidence of a range of pastoral activities and is particularly noteworthy for its intact blacksmith's shop, the only one noted within the study area.

Historical Notes or Provenance: This homestead was built in two stages; the timber front section in 1890 and the brick rear section in 1910. When Tony Dunn sold Kurrajong to the present owners in 1997, he retained the name and they renamed the property Inglebrae.

Physical Description: The homestead complex comprises the weatherboard and brick homestead, blacksmith's shop, tankstand, machinery shed, dilapidated stable. One of the Dunn sons was interested in engineering and there is a collection of early 20th century machinery, a petrol pump, auger and other objects. Early plantings include the privet hedge, cypress trees, silky oaks, almond orchard, belladonna lilies, sugar gums, peppercorn trees. While granite slopes outlining earlier garden beds remain extant, the garden is currently being restored.

Statement of Significance:

The school is of social and historic significance to the community of Currawarna.

Historical Notes or Provenance:

The first Currawarna School was actually located at Cottee, and opened in 1884. Following an application by the residents of Currawarna, a school was opened in 1900 [the name of the first school was changed to Cottee School in 1899]. The school building cost £89. The school has operated continuously ever since, although enrolments fell to only 6 in 1968.

Statement of Significance:
The Estella house and stables complex is significant as a remnant of the early pastoral settlement around what is now the City of Wagga Wagga. The stone stables are especially notable as they are the only ones of their type located within the study area.

Historical Notes or Provenance:

Originally part of Gobbagumbalin station, taken up by Abraham Booth. The homestead was supposedly built by Booth for his daughter Estella in 1864 [but is probably later than that]. In 1892 it was leased to the first superintendent of the Wagga Experiment Farm, John Coleman, and the land was sharefarmed. When Gobbagumbalin was subdivided [c1910?] a sharefarmer, E. Crouch, selected Estella. In 1921 he sold the property to Jack and Jim Dinnell who sold the land to the Council in 1978 for residential development. The homestead block was purchased recently by the Whyte family and they have established a restaurant in the original stone stables.

Physical Description:

A rendered brick house with encircling verandah with timber brackets and a cgi hip roof. There are some early brick outbuildings to the rear of the house. The stone stables are of coursed random rubble stone with brick door and window openings. They have been extended to the south to accommodate a new function.

Item Name: Timber and Slab Building on Riverslie
Location: 199 Boytons Road, Euberta [Wagga Wagga]

Address: 199 Boytons Road
Suburb / Nearest Town: Euberta 2650
Local Govt Area: Wagga Wagga
State: NSW

Planning: Southern & Western
Historic Region: Murrumbidgee
Parish:
County:

Statement of Significance:
This ruinous slab and timber collage, located on a rise above the Murrumbidgee River is a picturesque reminder of the earliest forms of accommodation constructed in the rural areas and is of aesthetic and historic significance.

Historical Notes or Provenance:
This property was originally part of Gobbagumbal Station. This building was reputedly dragged here by bullock dray.

Physical Description:
A hut of traditional slab construction but now with mostly weatherboard cladding. The main room has fibro lining and a coffered ceiling. There are external doors to the west [front] and north and a brick chimney and bread oven to the south wall. The skillion to the east evidences the original slab wall to the main room, with remnant layers of paint, newspaper and wallpaper. Otherwise the ski ilion section is weatherboard clad with tarpaper lining.

Statement of Significance:
Community halls, tennis courts and recreation grounds such as these formed the nucleus of many small communities and were for many years during the early to mid 20th century important centres for socialising and recreation in rural areas.

Historical Notes or Provenance:
Land was formally allocated for a hall site and recreation reserve in September 1923. The land was surveyed in August 1924, five months after completion of the Euberta Hall. The hall was built through subscription by local residents, with the plans and specifications for the Gap hall [now demolished] used as the basis, although the Euberta Hall at 60 feet long was 10 ft longer than the Gap hall. The hall was built by bush carpenters Jack Gowland and Ted Dunn and former ship's carpenter Larry O'Connor, along with volunteers, at a total cost of £435. New tennis courts to the east of the hall were established in 1953.

Statement of Significance:
Railway sites such as this have historical and social significance as important reminders of the role that the railway played in providing isolated rural areas with ready access to markets and services.

Historical Notes or Provenance:
The turning of the first sod for the railway line from Uranquinty to Kywong was undertaken by Mr M.M. Flannery, Minister for Works and Railways, on 5 March 1926 at Kywong. The building of the line followed years of agitation on the part of the Associated Railway League (combining individual railway leagues at Collingullie, Brucedale, Sandigo and Birrego). A weekly service operated until the 1960s. The line was then only used for wheat deliveries at the three silos at Belfrayden, Arajoel and Kywong sidings.

Statement of Significance: Historical significance as a remnant of one of the earliest pastoral runs to be established around the present site of Wagga Wagga.

Historical Notes or Provenance: The two buildings are a remnant portion of an early homestead complex of 1896. Eunonyhareenyha was taken up by the Tompson family and transferred to William Taylor, a former manager, in 1852 [then 103,751 acres]. The property had various owners over time. By 1867 3,000 acres were freehold. In 1888 the property was advertised as 40,000 acres for subdivision and resale. Further lots were sold in 1896 and it was again subdivided by the AML&F in 1910, the homestead block was then 1305 acres. Further subdivision have reduced the homestead block to less than 100 acres. Eunonyhareenyha is mentioned in Banjo Patterson’s poem Those Names’.

Year Started: Year Completed: Circa: No

Physical Description: Both buildings were the 1896 Eunonyhareenyha homestead. The cottage to the west was connected by a breezeway and housed the kitchen and maids quarters. Farmhands were also housed in this section. It is brick and has an encircling verandah under the main roof line. The former kitchen is a brick building with an encircling bullnose verandah of timber posts and low stuccoed brick wall. The window sills are stone. The homestead complex is surrounded by attractive cottage gardens with an imposing mature Pinus radiata driveway.

Location: 47 Shepherds Sidings Road, Eunoreenya [Wagga Wagga]

Address: 47 Shepherds Sidings Road
Suburb / Nearest Town: Eunoreenya
Local Govt Area: Wagga Wagga
State: NSW

Planning: Southern & Western
Historic Region: Murrumbidgee

County:

Statement of Significance:
An interesting example of a woolshed complex evidencing 19th century large-scale pastoralism, now becoming rare throughout the Wagga region.

Historical Notes or Provenance:
The woolshed, originally located about 2 miles south-west of its present site [now part of Yamba], was dismantled and moved to its present location in 1889, and was the outstation and woolshed for Eunonyhareenya Station. Robert Joseph Dunn, owner of Kurrajong, purchased this woolshed and surrounding land, approximately 300 acres, from Eunonyhareenya Station d910 [probably when the AML&F subdivided the property in 1910]. Bill Dunn changed the name of the house to ‘Hareenyha’ after WWII. Kurrajong was later subdivided and sold. R.I. Dunn used the [Starl Fairfield brand established by his father at Oura in 1865, from 1910 until 1958.

Physical Description:
Constructed of cypress pine bush poles and sawn timber with remnant slab cladding as well as corrugated iron. An unusual feature to facilitate access to sheep was a 8” by 4” running board around the perimeter of the pens. There are remnant early yards allached, and original features such as a wool press still. Currently proposed for demolition. There are shearers quarters nearby, in fair to poor condition, comprising accommodation blocks clad

Statement of Significance:
An interesting example of railway technology during the early part of the twentieth century.
Item Name: Timber Railway Bridge

Location: 396 Brunskills Road, Forest Hill [Wagga Wagga]

Historical Notes or Provenance:
In 1884 the idea of a railway line connecting Wagga Wagga with Tumbarumba was first mooted. Railway planners were sceptical as to its profitability as carriage by bullock dray was cheaper than by rail. Interest in the proposed line was revived in 1910. The line was opened for traffic as far as Humula on 14 May 1917. With a break for the war and after three years of construction the line to Tumbarumba was completed by May 1921. Passenger and freight traffic was discontinued during 1974. The line closed in 1987.

Historical Notes or Provenance: Johnathon and Annie Saxon married in England and arrived in Australia early-mid 1800s. Their first child was born on the voyage out. They first settled near where Warrnambool is now, then followed the gold rush to Ballarat and later to Lambing Flat [Young]. They moved to Wagga Wagga and began a stone-crushing business, then moved to ‘Kyeamba Meadows’ [now Forest Hill]. Annie died of cancer in early August 1882 and Johnathon died three weeks later; he is believed to have been bitten by a spider.

Historical and social significance as a fine example of a small burial site for a prominent family. Local significance.

Historical Notes or Provenance:

James Rudd [1808-1851] took up Wagingoberemby in 1832. It was superintended by Rudd's brother-in-law, John Ray, until about 1836 and by 1844 it was managed by John Jackson. It remained consistently occupied despite Aboriginal resistance; in 1839 many nearby stations had been abandoned. It appears that one of Rudd's sons, James Joseph Rudd [1835-1893], took over the property. J.J. Rudd married Clara Agnes Best, eldest daughter of Robert Holt Best of Wagga Wagga in 1858. The monument commemorates J.J. Rudd and four of his children.

Statement of Significance:

The school is of social and historic significance to the community of Collingullie.

Historical Notes or Provenance:

In March 1878 application was made for a Provisional School at Cross Roads [later Collingullie]. The school was established later that year. In 1879 the school site was dedicated and the school was converted to a Public School in 1881, following the Public Instruction Act of 1880. A new school building was constructed in 1883, replacing the initial pise building. The school closed for a number of years during the 1890s. In 1903 the school and the Collingullie South School (closed soon after) were classified as half-time schools. Later a new Collingullie School would operate from 1911 until 1938. The Collingullie School was again closed from 1921 until 1925.

Statement of Significance: The former Euberta School [now community centre] is of historic and local significance to the local community. The remnant elements of the former garden layout are noteworthy.

Historical Notes or Provenance: The Euberta School closed during the early 1970s and was subsequently acquired by the Euberta Hall Committee. During 1973 the Mitchell Shire Council had objected to the Lands Department selling the school site and paddock, so both were added to the recreation reserve under the council's trusteeship. The Land Board then called tenders for the removal of the school building, but received only one reply, from Stan Mulqueeny, 'who verbally stated that the tender was submitted so the local residents could use the school building for their community purposes'. The school building subsequently became the meeting place for the local branch of the CWA.

Physical Description: The original timber building with three double hung 12-pane windows to one elevation is a common design throughout the region. This building has been added to sympathetically. In the front yard are the remnants of a formal garden design which includes concrete garden edging. There are also some remnant plantings presumed to date from this era.

Item Name: Euberta Community Centre (former school)
Location: 1557 Old Narrandera Road, Euberta [Wagga Wagga]

Physical Condition: The building was considered to be in good condition during site inspections for the 2002 Heritage Study. However, the recent site inspection in January 2012 revealed the building to be in a poorer state and the fabric could only be described as fair. The garden appears to have not been maintained for some time.

Statement of Significance: The water trough is of historical significance as a remnant of the practice of using horse-drawn vehicles for deliveries, which persisted in Wagga until the 1960s. Local significance

Historical Notes or Provenance: This is possibly the only remnant horse trough in the city area, where once they were common. In 1959 there were still eight troughs in use by the 30 horses which still worked the city area. The last horses used within the city were on a bakery run [until 5 August 1964] and for milk delivery [until 31 December 1964].

Item Name: Brick Building
Location: 65 Fox Street, Wagga Wagga [Wagga Wagga]

Address: 65 Fox Street
Planning: Southern & Western
Suburb / Nearest Town: Wagga Wagga 2650
Historic Region: Murrumbidgee
Local Govt Area: Wagga Wagga
Parish:
State: NSW
County:

Statement of Significance:
Historical significance as a remnant of Wagga's early residential development, retaining original details and making a strong contribution to the historic character of the Wagga Wagga conservation area.

Historical Notes or Provenance:
A Mary Jane Blackett is said to have been born here in 1878. The cottage is at the rear of 65 Fox Street.

Physical Description:
A three room, face brick building with stone foundations and a ventilated floor. The steeply pitched gable roof features decorative bargeboards. A modern residence now occupies the rest of the block which previously had the remains of an orchard. The building is thought to have originally been larger, with a verandah and a detached kitchen.

Assessed Significance: Local

Physical Description:

A single storey residence in the Federation Queen Anne style. The walls are of face brick with decorative roughcast rendered panels to the gable ends, along the base of the verandah and at window sill height to the residence and verandah pillars. Windows have rendered sills. The hipped and gabled roof is clad with corrugated iron; rafter ends are exposed. Brick chimneys are roughcast rendered. The verandah features decorative timber fretwork. A canary Island palm tree [Phoenix canariensis] is an important element in the garden. A previous unsympathetic enclosing of the verandah has been reversed on the south elevation; and the wire fencing has been removed and replaced with a brick fence in the original style.
Residence “Moonbiana”

Location: 103 Fox Street, Wagga Wagga [Wagga Wagga]

Further Comments: Alterations in recent years such as the full opening of the south side of the verandah, the new brick fence and colour scheme are all not only sympathetic to the heritage significance, but enhance the significance of this item.

Statement of Significance: St Michael's Presbytery, dating from 1902, is architecturally significant for its Federation Filigree and Federation Queen Anne styling; the building reflects many of the characteristics of these design styles. The presbytery has aesthetic value, complementing the adjacent St Michael's Cathedral and forming part of a group of ecclesiastical buildings near the centre of the city of Wagga.

Historical Notes or Provenance: Built in 1871, originally single storey. An upper storey and new wing were added in 1902 to a design by W. J. Monks. The building works incorporated the original four rooms in the centre. In 1917 when the Diocese of Wagga was formed the presbytery became the residence of the new bishop. The building was extended in the 1930s when two extra bays were added on the northern end. The presbytery possesses many of the characteristics of Federation Filigree and Federation Queen Anne style.

Physical Description: It is a large, two storey building built of face brick laid in English bond. The gabled and hipped roof is clad with corrugated iron. A projecting gable roofed section has a bay window with ground floor pointed arch windows which have label moulds. There is some half timbering to the upper floor of the bay, and also to the projecting gable above. The other facade gable has half timbering as well. The building's tall chimneys are decorative and...

Moulded, and the roof's rafter ends are exposed at the eaves. Doors have sidelights and toplights. The presbytery's main feature is its fine, double storey verandah which is a good example of Federation Filigree design. The verandah features excellent timber filigree work to both floors, including brackets, balustrade, valances, lattice screens and posts. An attractive garden further enhances the building.

Former Uses:

Statement of Significance:
Historical and social significance as a corner store which continues to function in its original purpose. The building retains a high level of integrity, including tiled shopfront and display windows with early signwriting.

Historical Notes or Provenance:
Historical and social significance as a corner store which continues to function in its original purpose as a retail outlet, albeit of a different nature to the former food store.

Physical Description:
A corner store, still operating as per its original function. The shop occupies a narrow 'wedge' shaped block. It retained its original blue-tiled façade and early signwriting to the windows 'Mothers Choice Flour' and 'Billy Tea'. However, the site is now occupied by Wagga Inner Beauty and has had a change in colour scheme to brown/cream with the addition of a corrugated iron front roof and timber posts.

Physical Condition:

Modification Dates:

Item Name: Former Corner Store
Location: 130 Docker Street, Wagga Wagga [Wagga Wagga]

Further Comments: Although the appearance of the item has been changed in recent years, this has not affected the heritage significance of the building. The blue tiling at the front has been painted over, however some of the original signage on the front window and side brick wall has been retained.

Statement of Significance:
This site has been associated with the provision of health care in Wagga Wagga since 1910 and continues to fulfill that function. The c1960 hospital building is a representative and relatively intact example of the International style of architecture. Local significance.

Historical Notes or Provenance:
Wagga Wagga's first hospital opened in a small slab cottage with a bark roof on the sandhill in Kincaid Street on 1 July 1856. A new hospital was erected at the corner of Tarcutta Street and Little Gurwood Street in the early 1860s. The first building of the current hospital was officially opened on 7 September 1910. It had been erected by Charles Hardy and Company. It had a large ward on the bottom floor with accommodation for sixteen male patients and a similar ward on the top floor for sixteen female patients. A new wing, with a children's ward on the upper floor, was added in 1922. It became a Base Hospital to serve the town of Wagga Wagga and the shires of Coolamon, Kyeamba, Lockhart and Mitchell [with an estimated population of 35,000] in May 1937. New nurses quarters had been constructed on the Albury Road [later Bourke Street] and the old nurses' home was converted into private and intermediate wards. In 1938 a maternity ward was built with the assistance of funds raised by the CWA. Later additions included a new kitchen and domestic block [1942], a new administration block [1946], Lewis House nurses' quarters [1953], Gissing House Tuberculosis Unit [1955] and another new nurses' home in 1961. The multistorey block opened in 1963. When regional hospitals were developed in NSW in 1965 the Wagga Wagga Base Hospital became the major referral hospital in the Riverina Region with responsibility for forty-five hospitals. A new children's ward was constructed in 1967 and Robinson House converted into a Psychiatric Unit for the south west slopes and Riverina region in 1969. In another radical shake-up in the rural health system,

Location: Edward Street, Wagga Wagga [Wagga Wagga]

The Hume, Murrumbidgee, Murray and Riverina health services were amalgamated to form the Greater Murray Area Health Service. A new adult males and children’s wing was added to the Wagga Wagga District Hospital in 1922 and new nurses’ quarters in 1925. In 1936 there was another Nurses Home, with the old home remodelled to a general private section and named Rawson House. A ten bed maternity section was built in 1937 and added to 1945 [then offering 28 beds], The administration block was remodelled in 1947 and nurses’ quarters, Lewis House, was built in 1953. Despite these additions, a shortage of up to 250 beds had been identified by about 1943. About one third of patients [49] were housed on an open verandah with a gauze screen and a canvas blind, in all seasons, while other patients were placed on stretchers in the centre of wards. Tenders were called for a new, seven-storey hospital in January 1960. The hospital was to be built on the site of the old isolation block and would contain 250 beds. The foundation stone was laid on 25 March 1961 and the Wagga Wagga Base Hospital was opened by Mr Wal Fife on 2 February 1963.

A number of smaller private hospitals and maternity homes were also established, including St Elmo in Morrow Street [now The Manor Restaurant] in the 1890s; Welwyn established by Doctors Martin and Weedon in 1923 [later used as offices by Department of Main Roads but demolished in the 1980s]; Nurse Scott in Thome Street; Nurse Myra May [‘Wimpy’] Daley in Gurwood Street; Sisters Amy Rosina Richardson and Mary Theresa Hogan at The Hoberne Hospital at 46 The Esplanade; Nurses Longmore [Kincaid Street]; Nurse Jago [Peter Street]; Nurse Trotter [Morgan Street]; and Mabel Dickens [‘Rossmoyne’, Kincaid Street].

Physical Description:

The Wagga Wagga Base Hospital comprises two main sections. The 1910 section is two storey with a terracotta tiled hipped roof. Most of the original architectural detailing of the building has been obscured by enclosures and modifications, and the original entrance has been extended. The seven-storey 1960s hospital building is in the International style, of face brick with a flat roof; rendered and white painted balconies and stairwells provide a strong visual element.

Address: 2 The Esplanade
Suburb / Nearest Town: Wagga Wagga 2650
Local Govt Area: Wagga Wagga
State: NSW

Current Use: Former Uses:

Statement of Significance:
This building is of historical significance for its association with fire fighting in Wagga during the early part of the twentieth century. Since that time the building has continued to play a role in community and emergency services in Wagga, as well as contributing to the historic character of the conservation area.

Historical Notes or Provenance:
Built 1904 as a fire station after former wooden fire station building was burnt down in 1902. The existing fire station was built in 1926 and after the building was vacated it was purchased by the Wagga Wagga Municipal Council who in 1930 leased it to the Returned Sailors' and Soldiers' Imperial League of Australia. More recently used as the headquarters of the State Emergency Service in Wagga.

Statement of Significance: Architectural significance as an expression of the post-war confidence which saw the construction of a number of residences in 'modernist' styles in Wagga. Many of which these were designed or influenced by Wagga architect Stephen O'Halloran. The residence retains a significant proportion of its original architectural detailing and landscape elements.

Historical Notes or Provenance: Styles which appeared during the Inter-War era in Sydney and Melbourne, such as the Functionalist style, with its simple geometric shapes, large areas of glass and flat roofs concealed behind parapet walls, were slow to appear in Wagga and are not to be found until the 1940s and 1950s. In Wagga such buildings reflect a certain exuberance and confidence in the city, at the time of post-war expansion. Many examples are the work of Wagga Wagga architect Stephen O'Halloran who was born at Oura in 1902 and completed his training in 1937. This residence was presumably built in the post-war period.

Physical Description: Single storey residence in the Functionalist style. The building is constructed of rendered masonry, with a roofconcealing parapet. Notable features included the curved walls and the cantilevered awning at above window height. Retains its low rendered masonry fence.

Statement of Significance:

Historical Notes or Provenance:
Until the late 1850s, Wagga Wagga residents had to rely on itinerant ministers, travelling on horseback or buggy, for marriages, baptisms and occasional services, usually in the courthouse. Three denominations built churches on ‘Church Hill’ between 1859 and 1869 while a Wesleyan Church was built in Johnston Street. The Gothic-style St Michael's Roman Catholic Church was the first to be built, in 1859, although a resident priest was not appointed until 1871. By 1887, a new Catholic Church had been erected at the corner of Johnston and Tarcutta Streets. It was designed by architects Tuppin, Gilbert and Dennihey. It became a cathedral in 1917 and in the 1920s it was extended in the Victorian Academic Gothic style to its present size and configuration. St Michael's presbytery was built in 1871. Originally it was single storey; an upper storey and new wing were added in 1902. Designed by W. J. Monks, it incorporated the original four rooms in the centre. Priests travelled far

Physical Description: A large neo-Gothic sandstone cathedral built 1887 and extended in 1922 and probably one of the last such buildings completed in the country. The stonemason for the later work was a British immigrant, Mr Corben. The church consists of a large nave, side aisles, porch, chancel, sacristy, chapel, gallery and tower. Roof framings are exposed timber internally and sheeted with slates externally. Walls are rock faced ashlar generally with dressed window and door surrounds and mullions. Internally the plastered walls and well proportioned Gothic arches support clerestory lighting to the nave. The altars contain some finely crafted marble pieces and large stained glass windows in groups of three give a soft filtered light. The building is in excellent condition and is a fine example of a neo-Gothic Cathedral. The interior of St Michael's Cathedral was remodelled in 1971.

Statement of Significance: Railway sites such as this have historical and social significance as important reminders of the role that the railway played in providing isolated rural areas with ready access to markets and services.

Historical Notes or Provenance: The railway from The Rock to Westby, via Mangoplah and Burrandana, was completed in 1924. A tri-weekly railway service commenced in August 1925. In January 1952 a fire, starting by burning off along the railway, destroyed a large area of land, including the Burrandana Railway Station and the Westby Public School. Almost 4,000 railway line sleepers were destroyed between Mangoplah and Westby and the line past Mangoplah was closed. The rest of the line was closed in July 1956.

Statement of Significance: Historical and aesthetic significance as a fine example of a substantial Federation era station residence.

Historical Notes or Provenance: The first wheat crop in the district was grown on clear sandhill near Pomingalarna in 1846. It was sown by A. Marshall and B. Bennett with an old wooden plough, single furrow, drawn by four bullocks. The property was owned by the Wagga retail merchant David Copland from c1870s until the mid 20th century. Copland is believed to have built the existing house. Fire destroyed the earlier homestead in 1979.

Physical Description: A substantial Federation era white painted brick residence with a corrugated iron gable roof. The main entrance faces north and features a gabled entrance portico with paired tapered columns resting on a face brick dwarf wall which extends around the encircling verandah. The verandah features decorative timber fretwork brackets. Chimneys are well detailed. Detailed brick pillars support entrance gates and there are mature plantings throughout the untended garden and a stone outbuilding similar to those at nearby Moorong.

Statement of Significance:

St Michael's Presbytery, dating from 1902, is architecturally significant for its Federation Filigree and Federation Queen Anne styling; the building reflects many of the characteristics of these design styles. The presbytery has aesthetic value, complementing the adjacent St Michael's Cathedral and forming part of a group of ecclesiastical buildings near the centre of the city of Wagga.

Historical Notes or Provenance:

Built in 1871, originally single storey. An upper storey and new wing were added in 1902 to a design by W. J. Monks. The building works incorporated the original four rooms in the centre. In 1917 when the Diocese of Wagga was formed the presbytery became the residence of the new bishop. The building was extended in the 1930s when two extra bays were added on the northern end. The presbytery possesses many of the characteristics of Federation Filigree and Federation Queen Anne style.

Physical Description:

It is a large, two storey building built of face brick laid in English bond. The gabled and hipped roof is clad with corrugated iron. A projecting gable roofed section has a bay window with ground floor pointed arch windows which have label moulds. There is some half timbering to the upper floor of the bay, and also to the projecting gable above. The other facade gable has half timbering as well. The building's tall chimneys are decorative and moulded, and the roof's rafter ends are exposed at the eaves. Doors have sidelights and toplights. The presbytery's main feature is its fine, double storey verandah which is a good example of Federation Filigree design. The verandah features excellent timber filigree work to both floors, including brackets, balustrade, valances, lattice screens and posts. An attractive garden further enhances the building.

The Ambulance Station is a testament to the efforts of the Wagga Wagga community in establishing an ambulance service within the town during the 1920s. This building was able to be constructed within a few years of the establishing of the ambulance service and it has continued to fulfil its original function since that time. The two storey building in the Inter-War Free Classical style is a landmark in Johnston Street and remains substantially intact in form and detail.

An ambulance service was commenced by locals under the auspices of the NSW Ambulance Transport Service Board in 1926. A second ambulance was soon required and a third was purchased in 1928. The service initially operated from temporary premises, a former hospital in Simmons Street, until the new two-storey brick ambulance station in Johnston Street was officially opened in January 1929. It was extended in 1962.

Statement of Significance: The Calvary Hospital main building, chapel and former laundry buildings have been associated with the provision of health care in Wagga Wagga since the 1920s and continue to fulfill that function. The main hospital building retains many external decorative elements of the Inter-War Romanesque style. The Chapel is an intact element and an important element of the precinct. It most strongly evidences the hospital original establishment by the Roman Catholic 'Blue Sisters'. The brick tower to the former laundry is a landmark in Wagga.

Historical Notes or Provenance: The Roman Catholic 'Blue Sisters' purchased Foxborough Hall and 20 acres of land during the early 1920s and opened it as the private St Joseph's Hospital, a branch of the Lewisham Hospital of Sydney. With alterations and additions the hospital could accommodate twelve to fourteen patients. St Joseph's served until the opening and blessing of the new Lewisham [Calvary] Hospital on 30 March 1930. Calvary Hospital [so named in 1954] was controlled by the Order of the Little Company of Mary. The building incorporated many innovations not previously available for patients outside the capital cities, including Wagga's first electric lift, designed to accommodate at least one full-size bed. Various additions were made over the years, culminating in a major upgrading during the 1990s.

Item Name: Calvary Hospital and Chapel

Location: 22 Lewisham Avenue, Wagga Wagga [Wagga Wagga]

Physical Description: The three-storey 1930s section of the Calvary Hospital has been designed in the Inter-War Romanesque style, more usually found in church buildings of this era. It is of face brick with polychrome brick detailing, the prominent entrance section has corbelled brickwork and parapet. The main hospital building is three storeys and has been extended to the north reasonably sympathetically. There is a modern porte cochere [porch large enough for a car to drive through] to the main entrance.
The Chapel is of red brick with curved walls, projecting parapeted gables and stained glass windows. The brick and wrought iron cross is a notable feature.
The original red brick former laundry block retains its landmark brick tower. The Specialists Clinic is modern, with some reference to the original architectural detailing. The hospital grounds contain numerous mature trees.

Statement of Significance: Architectural significance as an expression of the post-war confidence which saw the construction of a number of residences in 'modernist' styles in Wagga. Many of which these were designed or influenced by Wagga architect Stephen O'Halloran. The residence retains a significant proportion of its original architectural detailing and landscape elements.

Historical Notes or Provenance: Styles which appeared during the Inter-War era in Sydney and Melbourne, such as the Functionalist style, with its simple geometric shapes, large areas of glass and flat roofs concealed behind parapet walls, were slow to appear in Wagga and are not to be found until the 1940s and 1950s. In Wagga such buildings reflect a certain exuberance and confidence in the city, at the time of post-war expansion. Many examples are the work of Wagga Wagga architect Stephen O'Halloran who was born at Oura in 1902 and completed his training in 1937. This residence was presumably built in the post-war period.

<td>The South Wagga Tennis Club occupies a central location in Wagga Wagga, and has been located on this site since the 1920s. The club has been a focus for recreational activities in Wagga for all that time and as such is valued by the local community.</td>
<td>In 1888 the Wagga Wagga Lawn Tennis Club was formed and courts established on prime piece of land bounded by Marne Street and Gurwood Street by 1889. By the early 1900s, the North Wagga Tennis Club had established courts in George Street, North Wagga, and the Early Closing Tennis Club [or Half-Holiday Club] had courts n Beckwith Street, Wagga Wagga. The Methodists, St Andrew's Presbyterian Church and St John's Church of England also had tennis clubs and were involved in inter-club contests. By the 1920s the Wagga Wagga Lawn Tennis Club had eight courts on its ground fronting Marne and Gurwood Streets and the Half-Holiday Club had four courts on land formerly part of the cricket ground. A new club, the South Wagga Tennis Club, was established on the Tennyson Park Estate to cater for the increasing population in South Wagga. By 1927, it had seven courts, two lighted by electricity for night tennis, and a 'resting shed and afternoon tea room'. North Wagga Tennis Club moved from its site at the corner of George and Marrah Streets to the viaduct area. By the late 1920s the Wagga Wagga Lawn Tennis Club had moved to Bolton Park.</td>

Statement of Significance:
The Canary Island palm trees are of aesthetic significance as they are a significant landscape element in Peter Street, and they contribute to the overall amenity and quality of the streetscape of Peter Street generally.

Historical Notes or Provenance:
Appear to have been planted early 20th century. This is based on an early 1900s photo that show the trees as recent plantings.

Physical Description:
A row of mature Canary Island palm trees [Phoenix canariensis] planted to the central median strip along the length of Peter Street.

Address: 17 Johnston Street

Suburb / Nearest Town: Wagga Wagga 2650

Local Govt Area: Wagga Wagga

State: NSW

Planning: Southern & Western

Historic Region: Murrumbidgee

Statement of Significance: This building group is of social and historical significance to the Uniting Church community of Wagga Wagga. The site has been associated with worship [originally Wesleyan/Methodist] since the 1860s. The red face brick buildings complement the surrounding development and the place is a focus for community activity in central Wagga. Local significance.

Historical Notes or Provenance: The Wesleyan Methodist Church was built in 1865 in Johnston Street on the Wesleyan reserve which extended from the rear of the courthouse, police station and gaol to Johnston Street, between Fitzmaurice and Tarcutta Streets. A parsonage was built in 1872 [on the 1999 site of the Youth Memorial Youth Centre]. By 1877 a bigger church had been built right in the corner of the Fitzmaurice and Johnston Streets block [the site of the Commonwealth Bank and adjoining businesses in 1999] and the old church was enlarged and used as a church hall. In 1885, a portion of the Wesleyan land was resumed by the New South Wales Government for a larger Post and Telegraph Office adjoining the Commercial Bank which had just been completed.

Wesley Uniting Church

Location: 17 Johnston Street, Wagga Wagga [Wagga Wagga]

An otherwise austere building. Built in 1948-49 by H C Buckman, the third Methodist church on the site. Memorial Youth Centre - Two storey face brick building with gabled and tiled roof. To the western portion there is a small tower and gable with a commemorative panel above the entrance. From this point the facade wall extends to form a brick parapet. Built 1950 on the site of the 1872 Methodist parsonage.

Planning: Southern & Western
Historic Region: Murrumbidgee
Parish:
County:

Assessed Significance: Local
Endorsed Significance: Local

Statement of Significance:
Historical, aesthetic and social significance as the earliest commercial building extant in Tarcutta and a fine example of an early inn in the vernacular building style.

Historical Notes or Provenance:
This property was part of Thomas Mate’s Umutbee run. The inn building was built for Mate by Mr John Srrtith [later of Kyeamba] in 1836 and a licence was granted in 1839. The complex consisted of a blacksrstith’s shop to the rear, a store and telegraph office. It was a Cobb & Co. staging post. Mate sold the inn in 1877 after the death of his wife and there were a succession of owners. The former inn is situated on the south bank of the Keajura Creek and is therefore vulnerable to flooding.

Themes:

Maker / Builder:

Year Started: 1836
Year Completed: 1836
Circa: No

Physical Description:
A Colonial Georgian brick building with a series of 12-pane sash windows and solid doors. There are brick chimneys at either ends. The corrugated iron clad roof is hipped and there is a timber post supported encircling verandah. The shingles are extant under the iron. There were originally three doors along the front and one at each end onto the verandah. Some are now changed to windows. There is a cellar underneath and the original flagstones to the front verandah. Internally converted to commercial catering capability.

Statement of Significance
Historical and aesthetic significance as a fine example of a substantial homestead complex constructed by a member of the Mate family. In near original condition and well maintained.

Historical Notes or Provenance
- Built 1895 for Alfred Mate, a son of T.H. Mate, by Charles Hardy. It was one of the last dwellings built by the Mate family. Alfred Mate let the property run down after the death of his son in World War I and in 1918 the house and 5,500 acres was purchased by William Browne and Frank Parramore. Frank Parramore died at Toonga on 3 August 1940. The property was later broken up for dairy farms and fat lamb properties. Jack Parramore owned the property until his death in 1980. Later owned by Frasers and currently McDonalds.

Statement of Significance:
Historical and aesthetic significance as one of a number of substantial residences constructed by members of the Mate family.

Historical Notes or Provenance:
Built 1880-1883 for Alfred Mate, a son of T.H. Mate, but believed to have been lived in by T.H. Mate's youngest son William. Alfred Mate had married a Miss Podmore, a publican's daughter, and there is said to have been some conflict over this within the Mate family. The house was possibly used as a rectory for a period prior to 1923 and as a temporary hospital prior to 1933. The property was purchased and occupied by Owen Lloyd Jones [who married a daughter of Alfred Mate] during the 1930s and sold in 1980. The orientation of this house has been changed due to the creek [and road] being redirected during the 1940s to prevent frequent flooding of the Hume Highway.

Statement of Significance:
The Wagga Wagga Showground is associated with the Murrumbidgee Pastoral Association [and its later forms] and its activities to promote agriculture, pastoralism and horticulture in the region since the mid nineteenth century. The Showground has occupied this site since the 1880s and the showground buildings have also provided a venue for numerous other activities for the entertainment and enrichment of the Wagga Wagga community. The principal buildings of the Showground celebrate the contribution made by some of the pioneers of the district to the successful staging of shows.

Historical Notes or Provenance:
The Murrumbidgee Pastoral Association was formed at a meeting held in the Australian Hotel on 29 May 1865. The first show was a small one-day event held in November that year. The first showground was at the rear of the racecourse against the back fence towards the Kincaid Street side. Shows were later held on the north side of Travers Street on the block nearest the river. The exhibits at the first shows were mainly cattle, sheep and horses. Yards had been constructed but no buildings. A temporary publican's booth was erected for the duration of the show.
In the late 1870s, a ten-acre site [near the later site of the municipal saleyards] was acquired. A caretaker’s cottage and yards were constructed. As the show continued to grow in popularity, the acreage proved insufficient. The site was also subject to flooding. In 1884, the Murrumbidgee Pastoral Association and the Agricultural and Horticultural Society amalgamated. Soon afterwards, the Society bought an area of forty-four acres fronting Bourke Street. A pavilion, agricultural shed, press and telegraph office and grandstand were erected and lawns laid. Every show thereafter was held on this site. From the early 1900s, the range of exhibits was widened to include such things as food and cookery, needlework, paintings and drawings, photographs and schoolwork. The first section of a brick grandstand was completed by 1914. By this time, 15,000 people attended the principal day of the show, which had been extended to three days. It was recognised as the largest show in the Riverina.

The most notable buildings include the Agricultural and Fine Arts Hall [later called the Hammond Hall after T.W. Hammond, president when it was opened], for which construction commenced in 1888 and was completed by 1892; and an entertainment and exhibition hall constructed by May 1927 and named the Kyeamba Smith Hall as a lasting memorial to Alick Smith of Kyeamba who was an indefatigable worker on behalf of the Wagga Wagga show from its earliest years.

Statement of Significance:
These two buildings are significant for their association with the provision of Catholic education in Wagga since the early twentieth century. The buildings are located within the 'church' precinct and their form and construction materials complement the nearby ecclesiastical buildings. The buildings retain much of their original external detailing.

Historical Notes or Provenance:
The Gothic-style St Michael's Roman Catholic Church was the first to church to be built in Church Street, in 1859, although a resident priest was not appointed until 1871. By 1887, a new Catholic Church had been erected at the corner of Johnston and Church Streets. St Michael's presbytery was built in 1871. The Christian Brothers arrived in Wagga Wagga in 1913 to teach at St Michael's Church. A two-storey monastery was constructed on the eastern corner of Church Street adjacent to the original Saint Michael's Church in a similar Gothic style of architecture. The Christian Brothers' School opened on 27 January 1914.

Themes:
- Designer:
- Maker / Builder:

Physical Description:
The former monastery is of red face brick with a hipped roof clad with flat, terracotta tiles. The building is two storey, encircled by a two storey verandah. The lower verandah features stone gothic arches, while the upper verandah has simple stone columns. There is a stepped parapeted narrow projection to the right of the building.
The school building is also of red face brick. It has a hipped roof clad with terracotta tiles. A gabled front projection with corbelled parapet forms the main decorative element to the building. This projection features a stone detailed formal entrance. There is a cross to the point of the parapet and three small vertical elements to the first floor of the projection. Windows generally are multi-paned timber sashes.

Statement of Significance:

This building was the first high school to be constructed in Wagga Wagga, being completed in 1917. The building has been associated with secondary education continuous since that time, all though other high schools have been built. The building is a good example of Federation era architecture and retains a high degree of integrity.

Historical Notes or Provenance:

Secondary education commenced at the Wagga Wagga District School in Gurwood Street. On 20 August 1913 the Education Department resumed two acres of the late Patrick Moran’s ‘Granville’ property fronting Macleay and Coleman Streets as a site for new high school buildings. Moran's Coleman Street home was to be used as the headmaster’s residence. The high school was officially opened on 11 July 1917 and attracted students from all over the region. Major extensions [including nine classrooms, two weathersheds and an assembly hall] were opened in September 1931. Another new building [including laboratories, administration offices and a tuckshop] was completed by 1961. By the end of the 1950s the post-war rise in population was causing greatly increased enrolments at Wagga Wagga's only high school. By 1960 a twenty-four acre site had been set aside for a high school on the Mangoplah Road in the Mount Austin area. While the school was being built from 1964, pupils of Mount Austin High School were accommodated at the showground and used the special facilities of the Wagga Wagga High School. The new high school was officially opened in October 1967. A third public high school, the Kooringal High School, was completed and officially opened in 1975 although it had been accepting students in Years 7 and 8 from 1973.

Statement of Significance: Historical and social significance as a remnant of the formerly substantial Pulletop Station complex. Local significance.

Historical Notes or Provenance: In 1847 the stations of Borambula and Pulletop were in the ownership of George Macleay. Later Pulletop passed into the hands of Thomas Westby, who built a large slab dwelling connected by a breezeway to a stone kitchen block. In 1870 Westby built the former station chapel, now a manager’s cottage. In 1910 the property comprised 10,000 acres but after WWI the property was subdivided into soldier settler blocks. The chapel was converted to a cottage during the 1950s when Edwards leased the property.

Statement of Significance:

Concrete silos such as these, which are commonly found dotted along railway lines, were the first structures associated with large-scale grain handling in the region and have a landmark quality.

Historical Notes or Provenance:

The rail line from Sydney to Bomen was opened on 3 September 1878. Although Bomen railway siding was the point where most bagged wheat was originally taken, it was at Shepherds Siding that the bulk storage silos were built. Originally named Shepherds Siding, it was officially recognised in 1893, rail records showing the following entry '... constructing siding for Mr Shepherd, £68.10.0' A weighbridge was installed in September 1913. On 31 October 1932 the name was officially changed from Shepherds Siding to Shepherds. The first concrete silo of 1600 tonne capacity was erected in 1932, taking bagged wheat until the late 1950s when the handling of bulk grain started.

Statement of Significance:
St Columba’s is of historical and social significance to the Tarcutta community.

Historical Notes or Provenance:
The building of the church was instigated by the Allision family, who arrived in Tarcutta in 1929, and by Mr S. Whitehead. In 1931 Mr Whitehead gave land for a church site and a contract for the building was given to Mr L. Beattie in February 1932. Mrs 5.5. Whitehead laid the foundation stone. The Tarcutta Presbyterian Church was opened and dedicated in November 1932. In 1950 the church was dedicated to the memory of St Columba who came from Ireland to settle on the Scottish island of Iona.

Address: 1615 Humula Road
Suburb / Nearest Town: Tarcutta 2652
Local Govt Area: Wagga Wagga
State: NSW

Planning: Southern & Western
Historic Region: Murrumbidgee

Statement of Significance:
Elizabeth Nugent died in 1864, aged 74 years. She allegedly migrated to Australia with her husband, children, and brother-in-law and family. On arrival her husband went missing so she settled here amongst her husband's family. The Nugent, Tresilian and Murraguldrie families settled the area at the same time, coming up from the coast in bullock drays. Elizabeth Nugent's cottage was approximately 50 meters east of the grave. It was slab and stone and burnt down in 1939 bushfires and all that remains is a pile of stone. Jim Schofield remembers irises flowering each Spring until the early 1950s at the cottage site.

Physical Description:
A broken stone headstone reads 'Died J 20 1864/Elizabeth Nugent aged 74 years'. Another square stone, set into cement, reads 'Elizabeth Nugent/Born 1790/Died 20.10.1864 aged 74 years RIP'. [Note the discrepancy in the dates.] The whole is surrounded by lumps of granite and other rocks. A cottonwood polar grows below the grave site on the side of the Umbango Creek.

Statement of Significance:
Railway sites such as this have historical and social significance as important reminders of the role that the railway played in providing isolated rural areas with ready access to markets and services.

Historical Notes or Provenance:
In 1884 the idea of a railway line connecting Wagga Wagga with Tumbarumba was first mooted. Railway planners were sceptical as to its profitability as carriage by bullock dray was cheaper than by rail. Interest in the proposed line was revived in 1910. The line was opened for traffic as far as Humula on 14 May 1917. With a break for the war and after three years of construction the line to Tumbarumba was completed by May 1921. Passenger and freight traffic was discontinued during 1974. The line closed in 1987.

Physical Description:
Disused Wagga Wagga-Tumbarumba Railway Line. The complex comprises: the Comatawa Railway Station, which is in a dilapidated state, weatherboard with a corrugated iron roof; an ablution block with wooden louvres, corrugated iron walls and roof; etc. The complex is situated on the Comatawa Creek-Humula road junction; to the east of the present Hume Highway. It is an intriguing and evocative complex. Located south of Tarcutta.

Assessed Significance: Local
Endorsed Significance: Local

Statement of Significance: Historical and aesthetic significance to the local community as a remnant of the railway era and a remnant of an early timber shopfront.

Historical Notes or Provenance: The railway line from Wagga Wagga to Tumbarumba via Tarcutta was opened for traffic as far as Humula on 14 May 1917. Passenger and freight traffic was discontinued during 1974. The line closed in 1987. This was he Comatawa Store in the early 1920s. When the railway went through there was a push to move the village nearer the railway station but Tarcutta residents preferred to stay on the creek. There was also a railway fettler's cottage nearby. The former shop has for many years been used for woolshed purposes.

Statement of Significance:
This residence is significant as a Victorian era rural residence whose construction pre-dates the suburban development of Turvey Park which now engulfs the place. The residence is a representative example of its type and remains intact in form and detail. The place is further significant for its association with the Halloran family, particularly with noted Wagga architect Stephen O'Halloran.

Historical Notes or Provenance:
During the early twentieth century this was the childhood home of architect Stephen Halloran [later O'Halloran] who was born at Oura in 1902 and moved to Fernleigh [then rural] when he was eight years old. The house appears to have been built towards the end of the nineteenth century. The property was owned by members of the Halloran family. Thomas Halloran was of Irish descent and his family had settled in the Tumut district prior to 1840. Halloran had an orchard of several acres east of Bourke Street where he grew cherries, peaches, apricots, pears, plums and prunes. In 1910 his prune crop was 5,000 pounds from 250 trees. James Halloran [1876-1955] subdivided the Halloran Street area in 1926.

Statement of Significance: Social significance to the Anglican community of Uranquinty and district. Local significance.

Historical Notes or Provenance:

This building replaced an earlier timber church built on land donated by Mr Rod Hoare of Wagga Wagga on the western side of the village in 1895. Other denominations used the church until their churches were built and the church was used as a house for many years. The Spaul family donated the land for this church, on the eastern side of the village. Volunteers helped gather material and lay foundations. The foundation stone was laid by the Bishop of the Riverina Diocese on 26 June 1954. The church was consecrated on 3 November 1974.

Statement of Significance: The Wagga Wagga Civic Precinct includes buildings from the late 19th century, the mid 20th century and the late 20th century, each of which fits comfortably within a precinct of historic significance and exceptionally high aesthetic significance, located as it is on the banks of Wollundry Lagoon. Views in and out of the precinct are also noteworthy.

Historical Notes or Provenance: Wagga Wagga was incorporated as a Municipality on 15 March 1870 when the population numbered about 1200. In 1880 it was decided to build Council Chambers on the site of Cobb and Company’s coaching depot [bounded by Wollundry Lagoon to the north and Morrow Street to the south]. Designed by William Salway of Melbourne, it was constructed by Charles Hardy and Company of Wagga Wagga to a design by Mr William Salway, Architect, of Melbourne. The building was completed on 20 July 1882 [thirty-three weeks and three days late]. It is now the site of the Riverina Regional Museum.

Physical Description: The Civic Precinct includes the Historic Council Chambers, the Civic Theatre and the recently completed Wagga Wagga City Council building which was designed by Melbourne architects Garner Davis. The complex overlooks the Wollundry Lagoon. The entrance portico expresses the prevailing Victorian Free Classical Revival style in the use of pro-style...
Doric columns supporting a triangular pediment below an elaborate entablature bearing the date 1881. The pediment displays the Victorian Royal Coat of Arms above the raised inscription ‘COUNCIL CHAMBERS’. The entrance projects from the corner, the cement rendered base with its modelled surfaces linking with the street elevations through common detailing. This includes the use of semi-circular headed openings, string courses and balustrades with parapet walls at roof level. Pilasters continue the classical motif onto the set-back side sections of the entrance which feature arched openings. The panelled cedar entrance doors are flanked by semi-circular arched alcoves. The ceiling of the portico is plastered with lath and plaster. The roof is hipped and contiguous with the adjacent sections of the building. The originally plain cement rendered surface of the brickwork has been painted as has the Coat of Arms. The building has been modified over time to accommodate Council functions, and has recently been upgraded to serve as the Museum of the Riverina. Access to the building is now via a new rear entrance. The Civic Theatre was opened and dedicated as a war memorial on 29 June 1963. The building was designed by Wagga Wagga architect S.J. O’Halloran and built at a cost of £165,000 by Siebels Brothers. It was designed to seat 497 patrons. A feature of the building is a mural of mosaic tiles in pastel shades with metallic figures in bronze, aluminium and copper in low relief, depicting the buildings function as a theatre. The mural was designed and constructed by Bim and Roma Hilde of Castlecrag, NSW. It was completed at the end of April 1963 and was considered to be quite controversial at the time. The artist Sali Herman described it as ‘an eyesore and a crime against good taste’. The building has recently undergone upgrading and alteration as part of the Wagga Wagga City Council redevelopment. Coloured panels and windows which were once located to the left of the mural have been removed and replaced with glass doors [in dark glass], leading out onto a newly constructed balcony.

Statement of Significance:

This site is historically significant for its association with policing in Wagga until the early twentieth century. Since the 1920s the Victory Memorial Gardens have been developed as a focus for commemorative activities in Wagga Wagga. The gardens feature a formal layout with many mature plantings and combine with the adjacent Wollundry Lagoon to form a precinct of high aesthetic value which is also a popular location for recreation and contemplation. Local significance.

Historical Notes or Provenance:

In the wake of World War I, a scheme for a memorial gardens was first suggested in 1920 by D.T. Byrnes. Following Byrnes' election as Mayor in 1923 he was hopeful of being able to realise this ambition, but it was not easily achieved, there being protracted and at times heated debate about whether to erect a memorial hall or to construct memorial gardens. The site formerly accommodated the Old Police Barracks and Police Paddock. The barracks was a brick structure facing Morrow Street. The Cenotaph was erected in 1922 with finance provided by public subscription and the Memorial Archway was erected in 1926. The siting of the archway was the subject of legal proceedings. The garden design was the result of a public competition held in 1927. The successful designer was Thomas Kerr, Chief Landscape Gardener, Sydney Botanical Gardens. Plants were supplied by the Botanic Gardens of Sydney, while others were transplanted from the Town Hall Gardens and the Rose Garden in Tarcutta Street. Water lilies, obtained from J.H. Maiden, Director of the Sydney Botanic Gardens, had been planted in the lagoon in 1900.

Item Name: Victory Memorial Gardens
Location: Corner Baylis and Morrow Streets, Wagga Wagga [Wagga

Physical Description: The Victory Memorial Gardens occupy an area of approximately 2.2 ha, along the south side of Wollundry lagoon to the west of Baylis Street. The names of those who died in WWI are carved into the stone panels erected on the eastern and western sides of the cenotaph. The names of the WWII dead are on bronze tablets erected on the southern and northern sides; these were unveiled in 1952. The Memorial Archway bears the name of the men and women of the Wagga district who served in WWI. The Chisholm fountain was moved from the grounds of the Wagga Wagga Hospital when it was situated on the corner of Johnston and Tarcutta Streets. It had been donated to the hospital in 1885. The flagpole was formerly a derrick from the HMAS Sydney. An avenue of Lombardy poplars was planted along Morrow Street; the avenue is now called Anzac Avenue and is part of a new Peace Park. The sunken garden was constructed to commemorate Australia's 150th anniversary in 1938. Many of the trees were planted by prominent visitors and citizens.

Statement of Significance: This early settler's burial site has a poignant quality and is of historical, aesthetic and social significance to the local community.

Historical Notes or Provenance: Frederick Wise was an early settler in this area. When he died his family considered that Wagga Wagga was too far away for him to be buried there. The inscription on this headstone reads 'In Affectionate Remembrance/ Frederick Marryat Wise/ who departed this life May 13 1846'. Mrs Wise later remarried a Taylor and went to live in the village of Uranquinty,

Statement of Significance:
Architectural significance as an expression of the post-war confidence in Wagga which saw the city's rapid expansion, particularly to the south. The residence is significant as one of a group of 'grand' residences which were constructed along the south side of Coleman Street during the post-war period, many of which were designed or influenced by Wagga architect Stephen O'Halloran. The residence retains a significant proportion of its original architectural detailing and landscape elements.

Historical Notes or Provenance: Styles which appeared during the Inter-War era in Sydney and Melbourne, such as the Mediterranean style; the Spanish Mission style with its textured stucco walls, triple arches and barley sugar columns; and the Functionalist style, with its simple geometric shapes, large areas of glass and flat roofs concealed behind parapet walls, were slow to appear in Wagga and are not to be found until the 1940s and 1950s. In Wagga such buildings reflect a certain exuberance and confidence in the city, at the time of post-war expansion. Many examples are the work of Wagga architect Stephen O'Halloran who was born at Oura in 1902 and completed his training in 1937. This residence was presumably built c1940s or 1950s.

Statement of Significance:
Architectural significance as an expression of the post-war confidence in Wagga which saw the city's rapid expansion, particularly to the south. The residence is significant as one of a group of 'grand' residences which were constructed along the south side of Coleman Street during the post-war period, many of which were designed or influenced by Wagga architect Stephen O'Halloran. The residence retains a significant proportion of its original architectural detailing and landscape elements.

Historical Notes or Provenance:
Styles which appeared during the Inter-War era in Sydney and Melbourne, such as the Mediterranean style; the Spanish Mission style with its textured stucco walls, triple arches and barley sugar columns; and the Functionalist style, with its simple geometric shapes, large areas of glass and flat roofs concealed behind parapet walls, were slow to appear in Wagga and are not to be found until the 1940s and 1950s. In Wagga such buildings reflect a certain exuberance and confidence in the city, at the time of post-war expansion. Many examples are the work of Wagga architect Stephen O'Halloran who was born at Oura in 1902 and completed his training in 1937. This residence was built for Mr John Darcy Ryan by Mr Chitts in 1942 to a design by architect S.J. O'Halloran.

Statement of Significance:

The Charles Sturt University South Campus precinct has been utilised for two distinct purposes in its sixty year history, those of army hospital and educational facility. The precinct retains many of its original Army buildings, and these have been supplemented by new buildings which date from the Teacher’s College era. The precinct is significant for its association with Wagga’s contribution to the war effort during World War II, and for its association with tertiary education in Wagga from the post-war years until the present.

Historical Notes or Provenance:

This site was previously owned by the Murrumbidgee Pastoral and Agricultural Association. In 1942 the No. 1 RAAF Hospital [originally established at Laverton in September 1940] was relocated to the Forest Hill RAAF Base. By October that year it was decided to build a new hospital of 150 beds at Turvey Park and the unit was transferred from Forest Hill to the new hospital in January 1944. The building complex included one 32-bed ward hut, one 38 bed ward hut and four prefabricated portable ward huts each accommodating 20 beds. A number of new teachers’ colleges were established in the post-war period to augment those already in existence at Sydney and Armidale. Teachers' colleges opened at Balmain, Wagga Wagga, Newcastle and Bathurst. The Wagga Wagga college opened in 1947 utilising the buildings of the former No. 1 RAAF Hospital at Turvey Park. More permanent brick structures, mostly residential blocks, were added from the late 1950s and the Blakemore Memorial Library was completed in 1961. The Dame Mary Gilmore Memorial Gates at the teachers college were officially opened October 1956. In 1971 the teachers' college became the Riverina College of Advanced Education [RCAE], later moving to a new site adjacent to the Wagga Agricultural College site. When the Charles Sturt University was established in 1989, this site became an adjunct to the main campus.

Statement of Significance:

The Kildare Catholic College includes an excellent grouping of historic structures that includes some impressive individual buildings of great local historic interest. The former Presentation Convent and Chapel were built for the Presentation Nuns who taught Catholic children in Wagga Wagga from 1889. The buildings including the convent, chapel, boarding school and the 1938 high school building have associations with Catholic education and worship in Wagga Wagga. It has direct associations the Presentation Sisters who were responsible for Catholic education for many years. The buildings have local historical, historical association, aesthetic and social significance, and representativeness. It has a high degree of integrity. The siting of the building and the integrity of its aesthetic qualities also makes it a notable and attractive landmark in its local area. The place contributes positively to the streetscape of the area and contributes to the local community’s sense of place. To the township and district as a place which has played an important role in the development of the Catholic community since early settlement. The place is representative of the development of educational facilities in the region, and its fabric reflects the development that occurred in the history of education in the region in the period.

Overall, the convent, chapel, boarding school and 1938 high school buildings are assessed to be of local heritage significance.

By 1860 the Roman Catholic community of Wagga had established its own day school. Great efforts were made by this community to establish a day and boarding school in Wagga Wagga to address the need for the education of girls drawn from a large rural area. As a result, in 1874, five sisters from the Presentation Order were brought out from Ireland to initially teach in a new day school built onto St Michael's Church in 1875 and in 1876 to establish the new Mount Erin boarding school that had just been built on a bushland site on a small hill overlooking the town. This school initially catered for 25 students and was called St Brigid's. A parish school, St Mary's was also constructed nearby on Mount Erin hill. In 1890 a two storey brick boarding school adjacent to the convent was built by the firm of Hardy & Co., St Brigid's was then renamed St Eugene's. Three storey additions were completed in 1908, a chapel in 1915, St Stanislaus wing by 1934 and Mount Erin High School facing Edmondson Street in 1938. In 1989 a centenary wing was built. A schoolroom for infants was erected in line with St Mary's Primary School in 1901. The 1970's were characterised by an influx of senior girls at the school. Boarding schools in other country areas were beginning to decrease their accommodation space as pressure for classrooms grew, and the financial burden of upgrading and staffing became too heavy to bear. Combined with this was the extraordinary success of the adjacent Trinity Senior High School, coeducational, established in 1968 to meet the local needs of Years 11 and 12 (Connell 1990). The year 1989 saw 71 senior girls in residence out of a total of 130. It was clear that the pattern from now on would balance in favour of older girls. The old days of the mid-century and before, would never return, when juniors, sometimes aged as young as five, frolicked around gardens and courtyards, and specially appointed Sisters and minders provided necessary maternal care (Connell 1990). By the 1980's there were fewer Sisters available for supervision, and lay staff stepped in as assistants with one Sister in Charge. At the same time, at the request of parents, the practice of weekly boarders was introduced, and weekend supervision became less onerous. There seemed little to add in the way of modern extras after the installing of several telephones in the decade, and a paging call system installed throughout the building (Connell 1990). Work at what is now Kildare Catholic College began in November 2002 while Mount Erin and Trinity Senior High Schools still had about one year and a month left to operate as individual schools. Significant changes were necessary to upgrade the existing buildings, to bring them up to standard for a coeducational Years 7 to 12 colleges and to provide a fresh, new look to mark the change in secondary schooling in Wagga Wagga (McCormack et al, 2004).

Item Name: Kildare Catholic College
Location: Edmonson Street, Turvey Park [Wagga Wagga]

Physical Description: A fine grouping of buildings take up the greater part of the frontage to Edmondson Street and part of the northern boundary of the college. The more recent additions are reasonably well integrated and attempt to complement the older buildings. Most of the modern buildings are located within what was the Trinity High School and located sufficiently away from the older buildings so as not to detract from their significance. The significant heritage buildings and structures within the grounds of the Kildare Catholic College are largely centred within the north-east area of the grounds that includes the Mount Erin Convent, Chapel, and Boarding School and High School buildings. All of the above buildings front a section along Edmondson Street that was historically the main entrance to the place. The oldest building is the two-storey convent that was constructed in 1876 for the Sisters on their relocation from Ireland. The lawns adjoining the convent include some significant objects such as the bell/tower and various religious statues. The Convent itself is a handsome, late Victorian building constructed of red brick with a tiled roof. All exterior detailing appears relatively intact. Just to the east of the convent is another two-storey residence, the first girl's boarding school. The Mount Erin Boarding School was built in 1889 and located to the east of the convent facing Edmondson Street. The school building was designed and constructed in a style that complimented the original convent building that is directly adjoining the boarding school. This includes the same brick type and colour, and very similar finishes of windows, entrances, and roof lines. This impressive chapel was constructed in 1915 and located behind (to the west) of the convent. The building is an attractive, early twentieth century, red brick chapel. Built close to the original convent and located on the northern boundary of the college grounds the chapel is a focal point of the historic area of the college. It appears in good condition with red brick, buttressed walls, and excellent examples of arched stained glass windows. The Mount Erin High School was later constructed in 1938. The building is on two levels, with hipped tiled roof, tall double hung double windows with 24 panes. The 1938 building has a central columned entrance portico that is no longer used as the main entrance to the school. There is symmetry to the facade of the building with five large arches on each side of the portico that run all the way along the front of the building. The building is an elegant structure, with classic elements of the Georgian Revival style. This is a fine example of an interwar period Georgian revival style building which has aesthetic, social and landmark value. The 1938 building contains physical evidence of an early core and subsequent development and planning has been carried out through various decades in a style so as to retain much of the prominence of the earlier design of the 1938 building. The exterior of the 1938 school building was found to be in a good state of repair, and it would appear that maintenance is carried out regularly. No significant defects of the building fabric were noted. The place has a high degree of integrity and little changes have been made to the building, at least from its external or public viewpoint from the front of the school. The intended function of the place, as a school, has been maintained over an 83 year period and is evidently sustainable. The building has retained its central role on the site, and its frontage onto the road remains the public face of the school complex.

Further Comments:

Criteria a) The Mount Erin Convent (1876) and chapel (1915) were built for the Presentation Nuns who taught Catholic children in Wagga Wagga from 1889. The convent building has ongoing associations with Catholic education in Wagga Wagga. The chapel is historically associated with the Presentation Nuns and as a place of worship for the Wagga Wagga community. Both of these buildings have local historical significance.

The Mount Erin Boarding School (1889) represents a major step in Catholic education in the region. Students have been boarding at the school for over 120 years and this continues today. The boarding school is a testament to the Presentation Nuns and religious leaders who instigated the planning for such a school. It is of local historical significance.

The 1938 Mount Erin High School building is representative of the development of educational facilities in the Wagga Wagga region. The building is significant as it was a model for a new and innovative school plan developed in the 1930s to operate the school for both boarders and day students. The establishment of the school and construction of the building has played a pivotal role in the development of education in the Wagga Wagga community. The 1938 high school building has local social and historic significance having served as the public school for the local community for 73 years.

Criteria b) The convent (1876), chapel (1915), boarding school (1889) and high school (1938 building) have direct associations with the Presentation Sisters who were responsible for Catholic education at the site for many years. The buildings have local historical association significance.

Criteria c) The convent, chapel, boarding school and high school buildings are all elegant structures that demonstrate a high level of technical and aesthetic character. The proportions of all the buildings are finely balanced and, with some impressive ornamentation, particularly the chapel and main entrances. Considerable attention has been given to the detailing of the school buildings. Classrooms have large windows that provide good natural lighting. The eastern and northern elevations of the buildings contribute to the aesthetic qualities of the streetscape when viewing the heritage buildings from the Edmondson Street side of the college.

Criteria d) The buildings have been associated with Catholic education in Wagga Wagga since 1889 when the boarding school was constructed and all four of these buildings have local social significance under this criterion.

The older buildings are valued by the community for its educational and social associations with the community since the completion of the boarding school in 1889 and then the opening of the high school in 1938, and for its association with the earlier phase of the convent at this location from the 1870s. The place has strong links with the local community through its continued educational use, including involvement of the community with its development, maintenance and management as an educational place. The school continues to be a cultural focus for the community. The building is considered to make a contribution to the community's sense of place due to many local residents having been educated at the place and the place's relatively prominent location within the local region.

Criteria e)

Criteria f) Only three other Presentation Sisters convents have been given statutory listing in New South Wales. The convent and chapel illustrate an example of an increasingly rare way of life. It has local significance in this regard.

The boarding school and high school buildings do not meet the requirements of this criterion. There are other intact similar examples that are listed within NSW.

Criteria g) The buildings are representative of the development of Catholic education in Wagga Wagga. The convent, chapel and older school buildings are considered to be an outstanding example of late 19th and early 20th century Georgian Revival architecture. The historic school buildings are fairly typical of schools that retain a main classroom block that dates to the establishment of the school on the site (such as Wagga), and a collection of secondary buildings of various ages, which were added to meet increased accommodation requirements and as education practices changed.

Integrity / Intactness: The historic buildings of what is now Kildare College display a high level of integrity.

Architectural significance as an expression of the post-war confidence in Wagga which saw the city's rapid expansion, particularly to the south. The residence is significant as one of a group of 'grand' residences which were constructed along the south side of Coleman Street during the post-war period, many of which were designed or influenced by Wagga architect Stephen O'Halloran. The residence retains a significant proportion of its original architectural detailing and landscape elements.

Historical Notes or Provenance:

Styles which appeared during the Inter-War era in Sydney and Melbourne, such as the Mediterranean style; the Spanish Mission style with its textured stucco walls, triple arches and barley sugar columns; and the Functionalist style, with its simple geometric shapes, large areas of glass and flat roofs concealed behind parapet walls, were slow to appear in Wagga and are not to be found until the 1940s and 1950s. In Wagga such buildings reflect a certain exuberance and confidence in the city, at the time of post-war expansion. Many examples are the work of Wagga architect Stephen O'Halloran who was born at Oura in 1902 and completed his training in 1937. This residence was built 1940s for Mr Mick Rava, a prominent local businessman, and was presumably designed by O'Halloran.

Item Name: Residence
Location: 48 Coleman Street, Turvey Park [Wagga Wagga]

Physical Description: Two storey brick residence with white-painted textured render finish. The pitched roof is clad with terracotta tiles. The residence features a gable ended central projection with a formal arched entrance. The 'jagged' brick detailing is a feature of the arch. Above the entrance is a Juliet balcony with timber shuttered windows. A single storey section to the left of the building composition features a colonnade with barley twist columns. The residence retains its original low fence and garden terracing.

Statement of Significance: Historical significance as an extensive example [several kilometres] of an early of fencing which remains in good condition.

Historical Notes or Provenance: The Nugent brothers erected fences extensively around the southern Umbango area. The fences are held in great respect for their durability. To the right background of the photograph below, is a pile of stones and collection of exotic trees. Which was once Ted Nugents home. A small gate post stands above the creek and the road that once ran beside it. Old Ford existing below site. Apparently it took the Nugent brothers a month to complete a mile of fencing.

Physical Description: Timber slip rail fence with four-strand wire and chicken wire infill below.

Statement of Significance: Historical and social significance to the community of Humula. Local significance.

Historical Notes or Provenance: Inscribed: William John Nugent 1842-1861, bullock wagon accident Gundagai. Nugent was apparently crushed between cart and side rail Gundagai bridge. The grave was recently relocated to the north-west bank of the Umbango Creek, with the disused Wagga Wagga Tumbarumba railway line to the east. The Nugent family were, and remain, prominent in this district. The grave overlooks a house ruin and a run of Nugent limber fencing [see next entry]. Between Humula and Tarcutta was designated as soldier settlement area for wounded WWI soldiers and their families.

Statement of Significance:
Historical and social significance as a remnant of the RAAF School from 1941-1947 and 1952-1958 and Migrant Camp [1948-1952] which were located here. Both the Flying School and Migrant Camp operated independently to the town but stimulated the community financially and socially.

Historical Notes or Provenance:
Built on what is now L & J Lewington's property 'Churchill Square', made famous by the production of prize-winning wheat crops. The RAAF School at Uranquinty commenced construction in September 1941. Pilots were trained in Wirraway aircraft. Most pilots were transferred to Point Cook in 1947 and from 1948 until 1952 it was used as a Migrant Camp as part of Australia's post-war immigration scheme. From 1952 until 1958 pilots were trained here for the Korean War. The base was closed down in 1958 and operations were transferred to Point Cook. Mr L. Lewington purchased the property at auction in 1964.

Uranquinty General Store

Address: 26 Morgan Street
Suburb / Nearest Town: Uranquinty
State: NSW

Location: 26 Morgan Street, Uranquinty [Wagga Wagga]

Statement of Significance:
This former general store was until recent times the focus of the Uranquinty community and is of historical and social significance.

Historical Notes:
This was originally a bakery; the bakehouse still stands at the rear of the store. The last bread was baked here during the 1960s by Sam Castle. The Post Office operated within this formerly bustling General Store. It closed in 1999 and the business and post office is now conducted in a combined store and petrol station next door.

Physical Description:
Brick construction with a corrugated iron roof and an awning verandah. There is a fixed timber bench on the footpath to the front of the building.

Physical Condition:
Item Name: Uranquinty General Store
Location: 26 Morgan Street, Uranquinty [Wagga Wagga]

Management:

Further Comments: Former advertising signs have now disappeared. The building appears to be now used as a residence.

Item Name: Book Book Station Gardeners Cottage

Location: Tumbarumba Road, Book Book [Wagga Wagga]
Book Book Station, its homestead and woolshed complex, is of historical significance as a fine example of a well maintained and intact large-scale pastoral property. In 1848 this property comprised 16,000 acres and was known as the Heifer Station. Edward and Elizabeth Ingram took up Book Book in portions from 1868, until they held 20,000 acres. In 1905 bushfires destroyed the house, garden and fences. The new homestead site was moved to the opposite side of the road. In 1911 it was purchased by Collier McCracken, in 1919 by Albert Tyson, in 1923 by a syndicate of five people and in 1924 by the redoubtable Misses Kirby. In 1949 it was purchased by James and Keith Dunn. The Dunn family are still in possession of the property [since 1976 comprising 4,000 acres], which is exceptionally well maintained.

A substantial 1908 homestead with many features of the Federation style. The walls are of stuccoed brick and the hip and gable roof is clad with red-painted corrugated iron. The form of the house is asymmetric, with a gable ended projections and well detailed chimneys. Casement windows have stained glass above. The brick formal entrance features metal lettering and there is an elm avenue driveway.

Assessed Significance:
This small cemetery is a poignant reminder of a formerly large pastoral family and of the hardships of rural life during the nineteenth century.

Historical Notes or Provenance:
The Davidsons settled at Bullenbong as early as February 1844. They lived first in a tent and later built and leased a hotel, stables and blacksmith shop which all served as a changing station on the Deniliquin to Wagga mail route. They became the largest landholders in the district and were among the first in the district to erect rabbit proof fencing. The first burial in the cemetery took place in 1854. Predominantly Davidson family members. Bullenbong was divided up in 1910. The present owner Mr Ray Bergmeier purchased the property from the Davidson family in 1949. The Bullenbong Private Cemetery was refenced with a piping and mesh fence in 1963 by Mr Bergmeier.

Physical Description: A small cemetery containing 12 headstones commemorating 19 people. The earliest burial would appear to be that of Margaret Davidson who died on 14 June 1854 aged 14 years and 2 months. The surrounding fence of wire mesh and galvanised iron pipe. There are eucalypt, peppercorn and boree trees in the vicinity.

Assessed Significance: Historical and aesthetic significance as a remnant of the Wagga Experiment Farm and a building which was considered innovative in its time.

Endorsed Significance:

Historical Notes or Provenance: From 1897 to 1920 the Wagga Experiment Farm was under the management of G. Maurice McKeown. It was decided to build a new manager's residence. McKeown made the decision to site it on the northern side of the hill. The new building was constructed in 1913 under the supervision of Me Brooks, Architect Designer in the Department of Agriculture, and incorporated some innovative building ideas. It was built of ash concrete blocks, the mixture being lighter than the usual concrete mixture, as an example to farmers of a low cost building material. The plan of the house, built in sections, was also innovative.

Assessed Significance:

Statement of Significance: The Gregadoo station complex is of historical significance as the property retains evidence of intensive and diversified agriculture practices from the mid 19th century on. The property is of social significance for its association with Robert Nixon, a leading citizen of Wagga Wagga.

Historical Notes or Provenance: The Nixon family reached Sydney in 1830, occupying the Gregadoo run in 1844. Nixon grew wheat in this first year there, gristing wheat with his own mill at Gregadoo. He established a mill in the present centre of Wagga Wagga in 1857. In the early days both Gregadoo and Kyeamba had flourishing vineyards. The varied farm activities were divided between the members of the Nixon family. Robert the miller grew and gristed wheat, his sisters made buller and cheese and another brother tended the vineyard, made wine and carted products to markets in Sydney each year.

Physical Description: The Gregadoo Station complex retains evidence of the site of Nixon's Mill, vineyard site which appears to evidence ridge and furrow ploughing, the remains of the stone wine press building [now converted to machinery shed, pictured below], the door sill to the Nixon's original house and the stone foolings of the west elevation, the...
Chinese gardener's house and market garden site [up to approx. 1960s], cemetery and Gregadoo homestead [1937]. There is also a dam, thought to be hand dug or dug by horse and scoop to an unknown depth.
