BIGBANG

Bang the Table's premier peer learning event

The market value of Peer Academy's training is $1,100. We're offering this to our conference attendees for no extra cost.

Why become a Session Leader?

This is an opportunity to accelerate your professional development and become a key influencer in your organisation. As a Session Leader you'll undertake best practice training with Peer Academy to design and deliver an engaging 60 minute learning session to a small group of your peers at Big Bang 2017. Topics will be focused on growing community engagement which you can then deliver in your organisation to influence your peers.

- Design your session agenda with best practice online resources and one-on-one coaching with Peer Academy
- Connect with other Session Leaders to peer review each other's agendas
- Deliver a session to a small group of 15 or so participants at Big Bang 2017
- Influence better engagement in your organisation by applying your skills

Who's behind it?

Big Bang has partnered with Peer Academy to help you get the most out of the conference through peer learning.

Peer Academy works with organisations like Telstra, Victorian State Government, Foundation for Young Australians and more to build workforce capability through peer-to-peer learning.

Why peer learning?

The way we learn is changing. Staff are now looking for more collaborative ways of learning and peer-to-peer learning is emerging as new best practice. At Big Bang 2017 we aim to grow a peer-to-peer learning culture for our sector and organisations.

Remember, Session Leaders still need to buy tickets to Big Bang.
