At The Alternative Dairy Co., we care about where our ingredients come from and what goes into our products. Not only do we aim to ensure you are getting the very best plant-based alternative milks that perform consistently and exceptionally with your coffee, we also take responsibility in supporting our local industries and looking after this amazing earth that we all inhabit. Why? So your customers can enjoy their coffee knowing it is better for them and the planet.

This is why we choose to source our almonds exclusively from Select Harvests, a well-respected and fully-integrated grower from the Murray-Darling Basin. Not only do they provide the highest quality Aussie-grown almonds, they use robust sustainable growing practices and are introducing new initiatives all the time - from installing a 50,000-litre worm farm which converts almond waste into liquid fertiliser, to a biomass electricity co-generation plant which consumes almond by-products, like hulls and shells, to power their processing facility and pumps for the orchards. Select Harvests are also responsible with our most precious resources, such as water and our little friends, the bees.

All about the bees:

Select Harvests play an active role within the bee and pollination industries, including participation and support in apiaary associations, conferences, R&D projects, and other industry events. Over 35,000 hives are brought in during bloom season and Select Harvests' aim is to protect the bees as much as possible. No weedicides are used on the crops and, if any protective sprays are absolutely required, it is done so in consultation with the beekeepers. The bees are provided with alternative foraging sources, plenty of water and are, more often than not, returned in better health than when they arrived.
