

Pacific Adventist University

“God blessed them and said to them, ‘Be fruitful and increase in number; fill the earth and subdue it. Rule over the fish in the sea and the birds in the sky and over every living creature that moves on the ground’.” Genesis 1:28 (NIV)

After God created mankind He charged us with a directive to take care of the Earth and steward all that He had entrusted us with. Each time we have an opportunity to give an offering we are taking part in stewarding what has been entrusted to us.

Three important sections of the university that are currently serviced by dirt roads:

- Pacific Adventist University farm sheds and equipment base
- Pacific Adventist University farm market. Every Sunday hundreds of people visit the onsite farmers markets to buy produce directly from the PAU farm. The farmers markets attract people who live in Port Moresby
- Pacific Adventist University Farm Village

We wish to pave the roads connecting all these sections to facilitate the communication and flow of people, spruce up the appearance of the area and improve the quality of life of the staff living there.

One thing that is not changing as Pacific Adventist University grows is the commitment to its vision, mission, and core values. The university will continue to prepare graduates who are equipped and willing to serve their community, their country, their church and their God.
